

January 1985

Editor's Column

John Matt Dorn, MD, Chief Editor
Thomas Jefferson University Hospital

Follow this and additional works at: <http://jdc.jefferson.edu/jeffjpsychiatry>

 Part of the Psychiatry Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you

Recommended Citation

Dorn, MD, Chief Editor, John Matt (1985) "Editor's Column," Jefferson Journal of Psychiatry: Vol. 3 : Iss. 1 , Article 2.
Available at: <http://jdc.jefferson.edu/jeffjpsychiatry/vol3/iss1/2>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Jefferson Digital Commons. The Jefferson Digital Commons is a service of Thomas Jefferson University's Center for Teaching and Learning \(CTL\). The Commons is a showcase for Jefferson books and journals, peer-reviewed scholarly publications, unique historical collections from the University archives, and teaching tools. The Jefferson Digital Commons allows researchers and interested readers anywhere in the world to learn about and keep up to date with Jefferson scholarship. This article has been accepted for inclusion in Jefferson Journal of Psychiatry by an authorized administrator of the Jefferson Digital Commons. For more information, please contact: JeffersonDigitalCommons@jefferson.edu.

EDITOR'S COLUMN

Recently, an editor of The Jefferson Journal of Psychiatry remarked to me his regret that we don't publish more original material. By this, I think he meant that the articles we publish do not break new ground, but tend to be compilations of existing ideas and beliefs. I think that he is right about this, and for a while I was disillusioned. On reflection, however, I think there may be some value in our project.

In his novel, A Quiet American, Graham Greene's protagonist professes that he is a reporter, not a correspondent. Monsieur Fowler explains:

The job of a reporter is to expose and record. I have never in my career discovered the inexplicable. . . . In any vision somewhere you could find the planchette. I had no visions or miracles in my repertoire of memory.

The job of being a resident may be somewhat similar. At our level of training, it is probably more important to synthesize than create. In the larger grasp, too, humility is often the victim of one's own vision.

Finally, I think that each of the articles in our journal is something new. Each offers the author's perspective on a known subject. These perspectives may not be revolutionary, but they add a unique understanding to our body of knowledge that otherwise would not exist. As an old professor of mine said, "There are no uninteresting patients, just disinterested doctors."

John Matt Dorn, M.D.
Chief Editor