Mead Johnson Award

The Mead Johnson Award has been established to honor the best paper submitted during each calendar year to The Jefferson Journal of Psychiatry: A Resident Publication. An award of one thousand dollars is given to the chosen author, with an additional one thousand dollars to be given to the residency program or fellowship in which the author is enrolled. The winning submission will be selected by the Journal's editorial board from manuscripts submitted on any subject related to psychiatric practice and/or research. We invite authors to review the Information for Contributors section of this issue. The board will announce the 1991 recipient in Vol. 10, No. 1, Spring of 1992.

The editorial board of the Journal is proud to announce the recipient of the 1990 Mead Johnson Award: J. Wesley Burgess, Ph.D., M.D. for his article entitled “Cognitive Information Processing In Borderline Personality Disorder: A Neuropsychiatric Hypothesis.” Dr. Burgess completed his psychiatric residency at Stanford University in Stanford, California.
