ANNOUNCEMENT.

In issuing the ANNOUNCEMENT of the FORTY-EIGHTH COURSE OF LECTURES, the Faculty of the JEFFERSON MEDICAL COLLEGE congratulate its Alumni and friends upon the continued prosperity of the school.

The number of Matriculates for the Session of 1871-72 was 395, representing forty-three different States and Countries; the Graduating Class of March, 1872, numbered 114. The total number of Graduates to date is 6,052.

No stronger proof is needed of the appreciation by the profession of the advantages offered to the student by the Faculty of this COLLEGE.

The course of instruction includes a carefully considered combination of didactic and clinical teaching, the result of many years' experience.

The clinical facilities of Philadelphia are unsurpassed. The Clinic of the JEFFERSON MEDICAL COLLEGE is held in high esteem throughout the country; and cases of every variety, from the rarest form of disease and accident, to those met with in daily practice, are presented during the session. During the past year over three thousand cases, including more than eight hundred surgical operations, were treated at the COLLEGE.

Besides the COLLEGE CLINIC, there are in the city, nineteen hospitals, nine dispensaries, and thirty-eight other charitable institutions, affording every facility for the practical study of disease and injury. The opportunities offered to the student, indeed, are only limited by the time at his disposal. There is no charge for Hospital Instruction.

Believing that clinical studies, pursued too exclusively, can only lead to empiricism in practice, the didactic lectures are so arranged as to give the student a thorough knowledge of the principles of his profession. The most ample means of illustration are employed, and every care is taken to treat the subject clearly and with a direct reference to practical results.

While it has not been found practicable to extend the regular course beyond the usual period, from October to March, yet the Faculty, wishing to afford the fullest opportunity to the student, have arranged a course of supplementary lectures, which extends through the months of April, May, June, and September, without additional charge, except the registration fee of five dollars.

These Lectureships are at present constituted as follows:—

Clinical Surgery . . . . .	By Professor GROSS.
“ Obstetrics and Diseases of Women . . . . .	“ Professor WALLACE and Dr. F. H. GETCHELL.
Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology . . . . .	“ Professor RAND.
Materia Medica and Therapeutics . . . . .	“ Professor BIDDLE.
Clinical Study of Nervous Diseases . . . . .	“ Professor MEIGS.
Clinical Medicine . . . . .	“ Professor DA COSTA.
Visceral and Surgical Anatomy . . . . .	“ Dr. W. H. PANCOAST.
Operative and Minor Surgery . . . . .	“ Dr. J. H. BRINTON.
Ophthalmic and Aural Surgery . . . . .	“ Dr. R. J. LEVIS.
Venereal and Cutaneous Diseases . . . . .	“ Dr. F. F. MAURY.
Pathological Anatomy . . . . .	“ Dr. W. W. KEEN.
Surgical Diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs . . . . .	“ Dr. S. W. GROSS.
Laryngoscopy and Diseases of the Throat and Chest . . . . .	“ Dr. J. SOLIS COHEN.
Insanity . . . . .	“ Dr. ISAAC RAY.
Chemistry and Pathology of the Urine . . . . .	“ Dr. J. ENEU LOUGHLIN.

Clinical instruction is given at the various Hospitals throughout the year. Professors MEIGS and DA COSTA, and Dr. LEVIS, lecture at the Pennsylvania Hospital; Drs. PANCOAST, BRINTON and MAURY, at the Philadelphia Hospital; Dr. W. W. KEEN is attached to St. Mary's Hospital; and Dr. F. H. GETCHELL to the Southern Dispensary. About one hundred and fifty cases of midwifery are at present supplied annually to the advanced students of the COLLEGE, assistance being always rendered when desired. Arrangements are being made to largely increase their number.

Students who may desire instruction in special branches will find every facility. Private courses include the following among other subjects:—

- Clinical Midwifery, with Cases.
- Diseases of Women and Children, with Cases.
- Ophthalmic and Aural Surgery.
- Minor and Operative Surgery.
- Laryngoscopy and Diseases of the Throat and Chest.
- Diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs.
- Microscopy and Chemical Analysis.
- Practical Pharmacy.
- Electro-Therapeutics.

It should be borne in mind that there are openings for graduates in the hospitals and charitable institutions of the city, where they may spend a year or more, without expense for board, as "Internes." The Assistants to the Clinical Professors at the COLLEGE are appointed from among the graduates of the school annually in April.

During the summer months the student has the opportunity of going through the wards of the hospitals, and of gaining much additional information which want of time during the winter renders difficult of attainment.

Attendance upon the summer course is allowed as office instruction, but does not count as a "Session" of lectures.

The course of PRELIMINARY LECTURES will open on Monday, 2d September, five weeks before the beginning of the regular course.

During this course, lectures, clinical and didactic, will be given in the mornings, leaving the afternoons for dissecting, thus lightening considerably the winter labors of the student.

The REGULAR WINTER SESSION will begin on Monday, 7th October, and continue until the close of February.

The personal expenses of the student are at least as low in Philadelphia as in any other large city. Students can board comfortably for from four and a half to six dollars per week, fire and light included; and those who are willing to live at some distance from the COLLEGE, or to club together in lodging-rooms, at even less rates. Board during the summer is lower than in the winter.

Students will save time and expense by going directly to the College, Tenth Street above Walnut, on their arrival in the city. The Janitor will at once see them provided with board. The Dean will attend to the collection of the draughts and cheques of the student, and the safe deposit of his money.

Those who wish can reach the COLLEGE by the street cars. From the West Philadelphia depot take the Market or Chestnut Street lines to Tenth Street. From the Baltimore depot take the Union line to Ninth and Walnut. Baggage may be left at the depot until board is secured, and then sent for by local express. The COLLEGE is about one square west of the Continental and Girard hotels.

A list of all the Graduates to 1871, inclusive, will be sent to any Alumnus on the receipt of return stamp; to others on receipt of twelve cents in stamps. It is believed to be absolutely accurate. There are many pretenders to the Diploma of the School, whose imposture may be exposed by the aid of this list.

A list of the residences of the Alumni (as far as ascertained) is kept at the College. Any information on this subject will be gratefully received. The Corresponding Secretary of the Alumni Association is Dr. R. J. DUNGLISON, Box 2386, Philadelphia post-office.

The Student is earnestly advised to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the Faculty of attending three courses, no charge being made after the second. Many avail themselves of this privilege in order to make their course of study progressive, attending only Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry and Materia Medica during the first course. In order to favour this plan, the Faculty has decided to admit the student to examination in July, after the second course, on any three of the above-named branches. Should this examination prove satisfactory, the candidate for the Degree will be required to undergo examination at the next succeeding March on the remaining four branches only. This gives the student the opportunity of devoting his last (3d) course to the didactic lectures in the remaining branches, and to Clinical study in the Hospitals and Dispensaries.

On Easter Sunday morning 1872, Professor SAMUEL HENRY DICKSON, M.D., LL.D., died. The following is an extract from the minutes of a special meeting of the Faculty on 1st April, 1872:—

“Resolved, That the members of the Faculty have heard with deep-felt sorrow of the demise of their late distinguished colleague SAMUEL HENRY DICKSON, M.D., LL.D., Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, whose name and fame for the last fourteen years have been connected with this Institution and for a half a century with medical teaching. Ripe in years, and rich in all the honours that could be gathered from the broad fields of science and literature, he has closed a long and active life, made by his genius and vast experience most eminently useful in ministering to the relief of the sick, and in the education of a very large portion of the medical profession of this country. A courteous gentleman, a genial and refined associate, always amiable and instructive in his intercourse with his fellows, wise, learned, and accomplished as a teacher, the Faculty of this College, and the profession at large, may well sorrow over the extinction of a life so rich in usefulness and renown.”

The vacancy caused by the death of Professor DICKSON has been filled by the appointment of Dr. J. M. DA COSTA.

Dr. DA COSTA's reputation as an author and teacher, both at home and abroad, is such as to need no further comment.

The following resolution has recently been adopted by the Board of Trustees.

“Resolved, That every specimen of anatomy, morbid or healthy, presented to the COLLEGE, shall be labelled with the name of the donor, placed in the Museum, and a publication of the donor's name made at the succeeding Annual Commencement.”

The Curator reports the receipt of the following: A specimen of cancer of the pancreas from Dr. W. H. Webb.—A remarkable specimen of ovarian tumor from Dr. A. C. W. Beecher.

At a Public Commencement, held at the American Academy of Music on the 9th of March, 1872, the Degree of DOCTOR OF MEDICINE was conferred on the following gentlemen by the Hon. J. R. BURDEN, M. D., Acting President of the Institution, after which a Valedictory Address to the Graduates was delivered by Prof. PANCOAST.
