10 year birthday for the Jefferson Digital Commons

This quarter is historic as the JDC celebrated a decade! Started on January 13, 2005 the JDC has seen steady growth and has become internationally known with visitors from all over the world accessing Jefferson produced work. In January we announced the 10 year birthday of January 13, 2005. The announcement included events that happened on January 13, 2005 to add historical perspective.

Parenting and Emotional Growth content from Henri Parens, MD

The JDC has archived Parenting and Emotional Growth, a multi-disciplinary research project conducted between 1970-2007, authored by Henri Parens, MD, from the Department of Psychiatry, at Thomas Jefferson University. This intensive study of a group of mothers and their children over thirty-seven years led to the development of the materials here. Designed for parents, caregivers, educators, and mental health professionals, these documents are constructed to spell out in substantial detail how to optimize a child's emotional development and health.

Jefferson Faculty Books

Another new addition to the JDC is the Jefferson Faculty books series. This collection includes recent books published by Thomas Jefferson University faculty. Each record has a link to Amazon for those interested in purchasing a copy, as well as a WorldCat link to help researchers locate the closest library that owns a copy. Women at Jefferson: New Oral Histories Posted to the Jefferson Digital Commons

The Archives and Special Collections is posting oral history interviews with some of the first women to attend Jefferson. The interviews explore how each woman became interested in the sciences or medicine, their time at Jefferson Medical College, and where their careers took them after graduate school. Each oral history includes an audio file and written transcript of the interview. The interviews posted so far include one with Sonia Schorr, who was the first woman to receive any degree from Jefferson in 1950; three women from the first graduating class to include women; and two women who graduated in 1969 and were roommates while at Jefferson. You can find the oral histories in the Jefferson Digital Commons.

What people are saying about the JDC:

My name is Theresa, I'm a PT from Oklahoma. I ran across your website when searching for patient/family education materials. There are some excellent articles on your site, I am quite impressed that your manuals have so much detail. I would like to use some of your materials for my rehab unit and I just wanted to check with you to make sure this is okay.

Thanks for your time!

Comments: Thank you for the alumni listing which enabled me to learn that my great grand uncle James R. Pepper (1831-1860) graduated in 1857 from Jefferson Medical College. He practiced for only about three years when, at the age of 28, he passed away from either typhoid or yellow fever. Without this website I doubt if I could have ever discovered which medical school he was graduated from.

Comments: Access to quality information was helpful in highlighting nurse-sensitive indicators in ambulatory care -- an area in which I have little formal exposure. Quick and affordable access was appreciated; so much change is happening so quickly these days. We need to move fast to stay in touch with trends and policy changes.
