High risk women without a history of preeclampsia were less likely to be recommended aspirin for preeclampsia prevention. A simple screening tool at 1st trimester ultrasound can significantly improve aspirin utilization for preeclampsia prevention.