Jefferson Digital Commons Quarterly Report October - December 2015

This quarterly report includes:

- What People are Saying Link & Bepress Blog post
- JDC Inventory by Year Link
- New Podcast from Radiation Oncology
- Most downloaded assets added in 2015
- Assorted assets added this quarter

This quarter the JDC created a permanent page for 'What People are Saying about the Jefferson Digital Commons' feature from previous quarterly reports. This page will include all the feedback that is received from researchers around the globe who discover content authored by Jeffersonians and archived in the Jefferson Digital Commons.

In addition, feedback buttons have been added to all capstone recordings in the Jefferson College of Population Health and the Department of Occupational Therapy.

The screenshot shows the Jefferson Digital Commons interface. The header includes the Jefferson logo and navigation links: HOME, ABOUT, HELP, MY ACCOUNT. Below the header is a banner for the SCOTT MEMORIAL LIBRARY and Jefferson Digital Commons at Thomas Jefferson University. The left sidebar contains a search bar, advanced search options, and links to recent additions and what people are saying about the JDC. The main content area displays a presentation titled "Paws with a Purpose: Evidence Supporting the Use of Animal Assisted Therapy to Improve Quality of Life in Adults with Psychiatric Diagnoses". A red arrow points to the "Submit feedback on presentation" button, which is highlighted with a red box. Other buttons include "Link to Presentation", "Follow", and "Share".

Bepress published a blog post: “Thomas Jefferson University’s Reader Survey Captures IR’s Value” on this feature to share with other institutional repository administrators.

Inventory by year link

In addition, a new link has been added to the left-hand navigation: JDC inventory by year. This link chronicles all the additions to the JDC by year back to the first year of the JDC 2005.

New Podcast from Radiation Oncology

Department of Radiation Oncology has recorded their first two podcasts with a special focus on the Radiation Oncology Residency Program at Thomas Jefferson University. The first podcast details what separates Jefferson from other residency programs and answers commonly asked questions. The second podcast addresses Entrepreneurship in Radiation Oncology and Medical Physics.

- FAQ: Special focus on the Radiation Oncology Residency Program at Thomas Jefferson University
- Entrepreneurship in Radiation Oncology and Medical Physics

Podcasts continue to be popular and can be listened to while at the gym, commuting to work and washing dishes. This is the second podcast added to the JDC and if your department would like to add a podcast reach out the JDC Editor, dan.kipnis@jefferson.edu

Comments: I have been researching information about my great-uncle, Dr. Edgar W. Kemner, and have appreciated very much the opportunity to view the 1917 yearbook which was the year in which he graduated from Jefferson Medical School. I also was pleased to see his fellow classmate,

Dr. Harry Bailey, who was my family doctor in Tamaqua since my birth and years of growing up.
Thank you so much! BBK

Comments: I have a website of my historic hometown, Yorkship Village (Fairview), Camden, NJ (www.yorkshipvillage.com), which town is on the National Registry of Historic Places. Dr. Irvin Kaigh (Jefferson 1954) had a practice in Fairview and was my family doctor during the 1950s, 1960s, and up until 1972 when I left. In my research website of this historic town I would like to include in the future info on the medical doctors that practiced there. Your Yearbook has information and a nice photo of him.

I am inspired by Jefferson's commitment to history by making yearbooks available online in digital form. Jefferson's fine website encourages me to continue with my own website on the history of Yorkship Village, Camden, NJ and the associated Shipyard for which the town was built c. 1918. On a personal note, Dr. Kaigh (also M.S. in Math from Temple before going to med school) taught me tensor analysis c. 1970. I would like to honor my former teachers such as Dr. Kaigh in my teaching both in class at my university and through making theoretical physics material available online in the spirit of educational and non-commercial "Creative Commons" dissemination of knowledge.

Thanks.
