

2024

Editors' Note

Ari Clements

Thomas Jefferson University, ari.clements@students.jefferson.edu

Amit Syal

Thomas Jefferson University, amit.syal@students.jefferson.edu

Follow this and additional works at: https://jdc.jefferson.edu/bone_bulletin

Part of the Orthopedics Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you

Recommended Citation

Clements, Ari and Syal, Amit (2024) "Editors' Note," Bone Bulletin: Vol. 2: Iss. 1, Article 1.

Available at: https://jdc.jefferson.edu/bone_bulletin/vol2/iss1/1

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Jefferson Digital Commons. The Jefferson Digital Commons is a service of Thomas Jefferson University's Center for Teaching and Learning \(CTL\). The Commons is a showcase for Jefferson books and journals, peer-reviewed scholarly publications, unique historical collections from the University archives, and teaching tools. The Jefferson Digital Commons allows researchers and interested readers anywhere in the world to learn about and keep up to date with Jefferson scholarship. This article has been accepted for inclusion in Bone Bulletin by an authorized administrator of the Jefferson Digital Commons. For more information, please contact: JeffersonDigitalCommons@jefferson.edu.

Editors' Note

This year, we are very excited to announce the second issue of the Bone Bulletin, DePalma Orthopaedic Society's student-run, non-peer reviewed journal for Sidney Kimmel Medical College (SKMC) students. The journal was initially started to provide another way to become involved with orthopaedics in medical school as well as providing a unique platform to report on diverse aspects of the field through editorial and opinion pieces.

By providing close 1-on-1 mentorship with a Rothman physician, the Bone Bulletin gives students a hands-on opportunity to engage with orthopaedic research and developments. Throughout this journal, you will find a variety of research articles, clinical insights, and thought-provoking reviews related to the field of orthopaedics. We believe that this journal provides students the ability to express their ideas in a creative fashion with the goal of advancing the field of orthopaedic surgery.

We extend our gratitude to the writers and editorial team, who have formed the contributions featured in this issue. We would also like to express our gratitude to the mentors and physicians from the Rothman Orthopaedic Institute, who have supported us throughout this journey. Your guidance, encouragement, and expertise have been invaluable in shaping this endeavor and inspiring us to pursue excellence in the field of orthopaedics.

Thank you for joining us again this year. We are beyond excited to present the invaluable contributions that everyone has made for the Bone Bulletin to come to fruition for another year.

Sincerely,
Ari Clements & Amit Syal
Editors-in-Chief, The Bone Bulletin