Jefferson Digital Commons Quarterly Report April-June 2016

This quarterly report includes:

- TJU Archives & Special Collections Adds Content to the DPLA
- New Dashboard with amazing metrics
- JDC features in The Bulletin and the JCIPE newsletter
- Assorted highlights added to the JDC this quarter, including:
 - 8th Annual Faculty Day presentations
 - Surgery Residents Research Day presentations
 - Commencements videos
 - CREATE Day Occupational therapy presentations
 - Quality and Safety posters and much more
- What People are saying about the JDC

This quarter had 7,861 institutions from 194 countries locate materials in the JDC!

TJU Archives and Special Collections Adds Content to the DPLA:

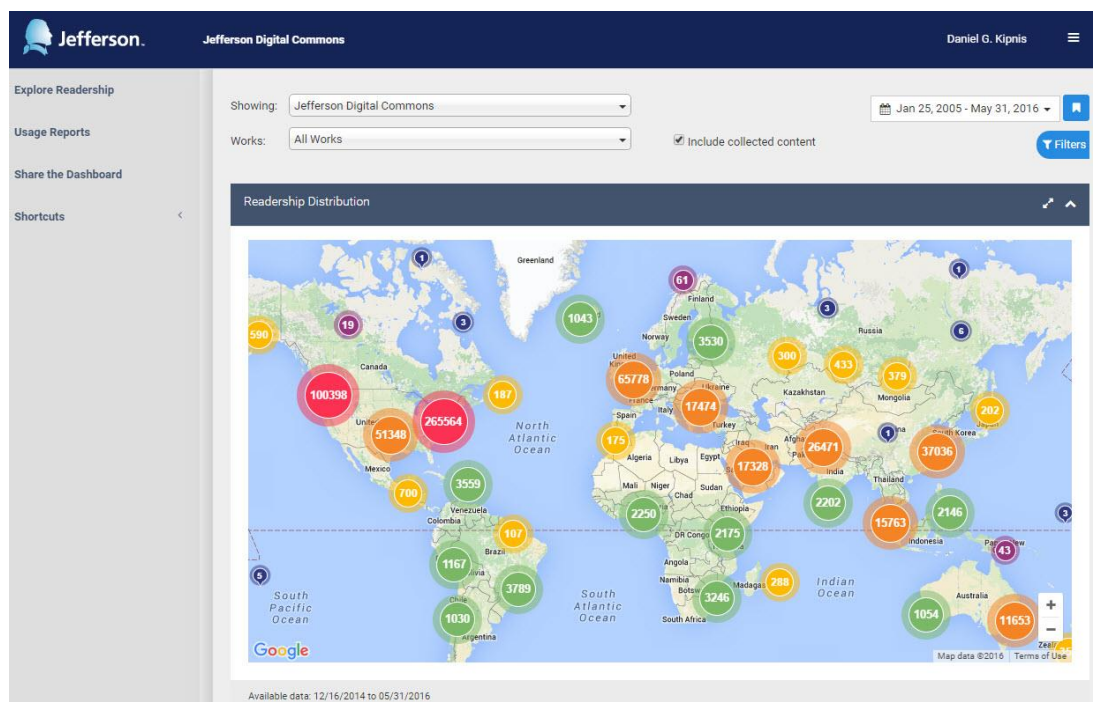

As of April 13, 2016 the first batch of material from the Jefferson Digital Commons can now also be found in the Digital Public Library of America, allowing for increased access and discoverability. You can find it here. This is just the first wave of our content in the DPLA and more will be added in July 2016. For now though, you can find Jacob Solis-Cohen's The Throat and the Voice, an 1850 Oregon Trail journal, Jefferson Medical College lectures and lecture notes, and the course syllabus of Thomas Mutter's Principles and Practices of Surgery.

New Dashboard for even better metrics

In May the new dashboard was released and it provides a new way of interacting with who is reading content in the Jefferson Digital Commons.

The new release includes:

- Custom date ranges
- Filtering options
- Sharing capabilities
- New visualization

Map of all time downloads for the JDC
