WHAT WOULD YOU LAKE FOR CHRISTMASS

"And what would you like for Christmas?" is about the most worn out question circulating the world at this time. Students have at Jeff have their own ideas about Christmas presents.

Surely, some would like acid-proof lab coats for Chamistry. Or an invisible dust guard so those book shelves and hurcous are forever spotless. How about an unending supply of stamps so you don't have to wait until next week to mail that important letter? One girl would like some sort of sign to tell her that the netal part of the stethescope is the wrong side to use when taking a blood pressure. Or an automatic-push-button classifier for those overwhelming Anatomy definitions. One freshman would like a tape measurer so she'll remember that a rectal tube is inserted 3 or 4 inches not 7. Her poor lab partners What about a foolproof spot remover for those potassium permanganate stains that just happened to land up on the light. A health conscious girl dreams of a years supply of bread and tomatoe soup, her "Staff of Life" while another wants nothing but Life Savers. A stopwatch is in order for anyone who takes nightly jaunts around the hall for exercise.

Though these requests are varied and different only one thing can be added - What would you like for Christmas?

Hancy Brugger - I'm going to eat, drink, and be merry and then come back here.

Jerryanne Hindman - Because my Care Package didn't arrive, I won't get to go to Florida this Christmas, so as a true nightingale - I'll work.

Cheryl Knauer - Unwrapping a big surprise package from my boy friend.

Nancy Moyer - Sleep!!!

Dee De Luce - Have a quiet and restful Christmas at home, I hope.

Helen Reilly - I'm gonna have a merry Christmas with lots of merry making and recuperate from my first semester at Joff.

Judie Moyer - Rip it up!

- Connie Vlantes Going to high school alumni tea, date all my old hears. listen to hi fi and play with my dog.
- Pam Johnson I'm working Christmas so I can be with a friend New Years Eve.
- Dottie Hamilton, Anits Harbison, and Nancy Green We're gorna trim the tree with T.U.R. bottles and cautchfield-tongues, and light Hamukah candles at 7:30.

Marion Carey - I'm going homelil I live in Detroit.

Barb Nase - Working.

- Judy Kennett I'm going to try out the new skies I'm getting for Christmas.
- Nancy Ayres I'm getting away from my "angelie" roommate for two weeks.

On Monday, November 11, the Jeff girls played their first game of the season with Chestnut Hill Hospital, Jefferson played a fast noving game, out-running Chestnut Hill in the first half. But by the fourth quarter the well-trained Chestnut Hill nurses had tied the score. With excitement at its peak, Barb Lenker led her team to a close 27-23 victory. High scorer of the evening, Captain Barb Lenker landed six baskets.

JNCH-Lenkenau Game

The game with Lankenau Hospital Fursing School was played on Thursday, November 21, at the Bala-Cynwyd Jr. High School. Getting a bad start, the Jeff players fell behind Lankenau's speeding team and were unable to gain a foothold throughout the game. Although Jeff's team gathered added strength at half time, it was too late. The team lost with a disheartening score of 26-36.

The next two games to be played will be on Monday, December 9 with Cooper Hospital and Monday, January 6 with Bryn Mawr.

Get in the Jefferson Spirit and support your team by attending the games. Your cheering will lead the JMCH Murses to victory.
