Mission of the University

Thomas Jefferson University is dedicated to the health sciences. We are committed to

- Educating professionals in a variety of disciplines who will form and lead the integrated healthcare delivery and research teams of tomorrow
- Discovering new knowledge that will define the future of clinical care through investigation from the laboratory to the bedside, and into the community
- Setting the standard for quality, compassionate and efficient patient care for our community and for the nation.

We accomplish our mission in partnership with Thomas Jefferson University Hospital, our education and clinical care affiliate.

As final action cannot be taken before the program goes to press, Thomas Jefferson University reserves the right to add or withdraw names from the list of candidates for degrees and certificates.

In curricula such as the degree program in Occupational Therapy, candidates complete formal course work prior to Commencement and fulfill additional clinical requirements during the summer. Students in these programs participate in these Commencement Exercises but receive their diplomas only after all requirements have been satisfied.

Doctor of Science – Alan M. Jette, PT, PhD

Alan M. Jette, PT, PhD, is the director of Boston University's Health and Disability Research Institute, a campus-wide, interdisciplinary resource and research center that seeks to advance the field of health and disability research. From 1996–2004 Dr. Jette served as Professor and Dean of BU's Sargent College of Health & Rehabilitation Sciences.

Dr. Jette's research interests include late-life exercise, evaluation of rehabilitation treatment outcomes and the measurement, epidemiology and prevention of disability. He is an international expert in the development and dissemination of contemporary outcome measurement instruments to evaluate health care quality and outcomes and has published more than 180 peer-reviewed articles.

Throughout his more than 30 years in research, Dr. Jette has received consistent research funding from numerous national institutes, foundations and private corporations. Currently, he directs the Boston Rehabilitation Outcome Measurement Center, serves on the Executive Committee of the Boston Claude Pepper Older Americans Independence Center and is Director of the New England Regional Spinal Cord Injury Center. He also directs the BU Post Doctoral Fellowship Program in Outcomes Research.

Dr. Jette is a member of the Advisory Board of Physical Therapy Journal and previously served the Journal as Editorial Board Member, Deputy Editor and Acting Editor-in-Chief. He is a member of the Advisory Council of the Foundation for Physical Therapy. A former chair of the American Physical Therapy Association's (APTA) Committee on Practice, Dr. Jette currently serves on the APTA Task Force on Standards for Measurement in Physical Therapy.

Dr. Jette was instrumental in founding the National Center for Medical Rehabilitation Research and later served as a member of the Center's National Advisory Board. From 2005–2007 he chaired the Institute of Medicine's study and co-edited the report, The Future of Disability in America.

He received a BS in Physical Therapy from the State University of New York at Buffalo in 1973 and a Master's in Public Health (1975) and PhD in Public Health (1979) from the University of Michigan.

Doctor of Science – John P. Howe, III, MD

John P. Howe, III, MD, is the President and Chief Executive Officer of Project HOPE (Health Opportunities for People Everywhere), an international health education and humanitarian assistance foundation which operates more than 70 programs in 35 countries on 5 continents. Project HOPE works to make long-term sustainable health care available through such work as educating health professionals and community health workers, strengthening health facilities, fighting disease and providing humanitarian assistance through donated medicines, medical supplies and volunteer medical help.

Before joining Project HOPE in 2001, Dr. Howe served as the president of The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio. During his 15 years there he also held the Distinguished Chair in Health Policy and was a tenured professor in the Department of Medicine. In his presidency, research funding grew from $32 million to $124 million, and the institution's operating budget grew from $134 million to $330 million. The University of Texas System Board of Regents named Dr. Howe president emeritus of the Center in 2009.

Dr. Howe is board certified in both internal medicine and cardiovascular disease. He received his Doctor of Medicine degree from the Boston University School of Medicine in 1969. After serving two years in the Army Medical Corps, he completed the Health Systems Management Program at the Harvard Business School. He served as vice chancellor of the University of Massachusetts Medical School at Worcester before moving to Texas.

Dr. Howe's numerous honors and awards include the U.S. Army's Commander's Award for Public Service, the People of Vision Award from the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness, the Award of Excellence from the International Association of Business Communicators, the National Humanitarian Award from the National Jewish Center for Immunology and Respiratory Medicine, and the Surgeon General's Exemplary Service Award. In 1994, Dr. Howe received the distinguished Alumnus Award from the Boston University School of Medicine. In 1998, he received the "Mr. South Texas" award, an honor given by South Texans to leaders who have made significant contributions to the rapidly expanding region.

As final action cannot be taken before the program goes to press, Thomas Jefferson University reserves the right to add or withdraw names from the list of candidates for degrees and certificates.

In curricula such as the degree program in Occupational Therapy, candidates complete formal course work prior to Commencement and fulfill additional clinical requirements during the summer. Students in these programs participate in these Commencement Exercises but receive their diplomas only after all requirements have been satisfied.

Honor Societies

Alpha Eta Society

Awarded at the Thomas Jefferson University Chapter of the Alpha Eta Society Induction Ceremony on May 23, 2013

The Alpha Eta Society is a nationally recognized scholastic honor society for allied health professionals established in 1975 under the auspices of the Association of Schools of Allied Health Professions. The purpose of the Alpha Eta Society is to recognize significant academic achievement, leadership, and service contributions to the health professions. Since its inception, the Society has inducted more than 24,000 members in 79 chapters in colleges and universities nationally. Thomas Jefferson University's Chapter of the Alpha Eta Society, which was established in 1982, was the twenty-second chapter to be formed in the country.

Lambda Nu

Awarded at the Pennsylvania Gamma Chapter of the Lambda Nu National Honor Society for the Radiologic and Imaging Sciences Induction Ceremony at Thomas Jefferson University on May 28, 2013.

Lambda Nu, the National Honor Society for Radiologic and Imaging Sciences, was founded in 2001 at Arkansas State University. Currently, there are 136 chapters of Lambda Nu in 42 states. Thomas Jefferson University received a charter to form the Pennsylvania Gamma Chapter of Lambda Nu in 2002. Individuals are selected for membership in Lambda Nu on the basis of promoting the Society's objectives: fostering scholarship at the highest academic levels, promoting research and investigation in the radiologic and imaging sciences, and recognizing exemplary scholarship.

The University Mace

Originally a medieval weapon, the mace evolved from a short staff weighted with metal (used for breaking armor) into a bejeweled and sculptural relic. It fell into disuse by the 16th century as firearms made protective armor and some hand-to-hand combat weapons obsolete. In one of the earliest ceremonial uses of the mace, it was carried by the royal bodyguard before the French king in the 1200s. Examples of the mace as a symbol of authority in modern government include its use in the British House of Commons where the ceremonial mace has a presence on the Treasury table, and in the U.S. House of Representatives, where it is placed on a pedestal to the right of the Speaker's podium when the House is convened. Universities also used the ceremonial mace, borne by the chief marshal, during academic processions.

The Thomas Jefferson University Mace, carried for the first time in the 1986 commencement ceremonies by Grand Marshal Robert Mandle, PhD, was designed and cast by Howard Serlick, member of the Guild of Mastercraftsmen, Winterthur Scholar and Chief Conservator (Gilding) of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. It was crafted by silversmith Eugene Zweigle and woodturner Michael Copeland.

The four-foot-long, 14-pound mace is made of ebony highlighted with lapis lazuli to reflect Jefferson's colors (black and blue). It features a miniature of Henry Mitchell's sculpture, the "Winged Ox of Saint Luke," symbol of Saint Luke the Physician, the original of which stands on campus beside the Scott Building on Walnut Street. The miniature was cast in silver by Zweigle.

Mitchell's original statue of the "Winged Ox," adopted by the University in 1976 as its symbol of clinical excellence, is mounted on a column containing the names of 50 medical scientists who have most advanced the art of healing. It also reflects the historical evolution of Thomas Jefferson University from its beginnings as Jefferson Medical College in 1824 to its current status as an academic institution comprising the Jefferson Medical College, the Jefferson Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences and the Jefferson Schools of Health Professions, Nursing, Pharmacy and Population Health.

The mace, a grand emblem of the University's heritage, is carried at the head of all formal academic processions.

The Presidential Medallion of Thomas Jefferson University

The President's Medallion was created in 2009 during the tenure of Robert L. Barchi, MD, PhD, the fourth President of Thomas Jefferson University. It replaced the previous, well-worn President's Medallion made in 1977, which had depicted four old corporate seals used in various eras of the institution's history.

The current medallion was designed and crafted by Tiffany & Company, New York. It consists of a sterling silver medallion suspended from a heavy, silver double-link chain. The medallion's obverse depicts the University seal; a bas-relief profile of Thomas Jefferson and the surround reads, "THOMAS JEFFERSON UNIVERSITY - 1824," the year the institution was founded. The reverse is engraved with the names of the four University Presidents.

Silver is a metal long-associated with medicine and is recognized to have anti-bacterial properties. Hippocrates (ca. 300 BCE) acknowledged the healing powers of silver and the ancients used silver bottles to keep water or wine from spoiling. The expression "born with a silver spoon in your mouth" comes from the Middle Ages; when the wealthy gave their children silver spoons to suck on to prevent disease.

Like many academic traditions, the display of a heavy "chain of office" comes down to us from medieval regalia and represents the weight of responsibility for the wearer. The chain itself connotes strength in unity, as well as strong communication.

The Presidential Medallion is worn by the President at all convocations of the University.

The Jefferson Processional

The Jefferson Processional was commissioned by the Alumni Association of Jefferson Medical College and played for the first time on November 15, 1974, at the Sesquicentennial Celebration of the Jefferson Medical College of Thomas Jefferson University. This piece was presented to Thomas Jefferson University by the President of the Alumni Association of the Jefferson Medical College, Doctor John J. Gartland. It was composed by Burle Marx.

Academic Regalia

The attire worn at academic ceremonies evolved from the dress worn by clergy in the 12th and 13th centuries. In 1222, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Stephen Langston, decreed that a closed, flowing gown known as the cappa clausa be worn by all clerics within his jurisdiction. Because Oxford and Cambridge were within the provinces of Canterbury, the clerks at both institutions adopted this style of attire. Hoods seem to have served to cover the tonsured head until superseded for that purpose by the skull cap.

Throughout the years European universities have continued to show great diversity in their academic dress. American universities, on the other hand, when they decided to adopt academic dress in 1895, immediately established a code of regulations which today is followed by practically all American institutions. The establishment of this code has made it possible to distinguish the associate's, bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees and, at the same time, recognize the university which has conferred the degree.

The associate in arts and bachelor's gowns have pointed sleeves and are worn closed. The master's gown has oblong sleeves, open at the wrist. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut and the front part has an arc cut away, and is worn open or closed. The doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves.

It is worn open or closed. The majority of gowns are black, but a number of institutions have adopted other colors to identify special programs or groups within that institution.

The hoods vary in length: 48 inches for the doctoral degree, 42 inches for the master's and 36 inches for the bachelor's and associate's. All hoods are lined in silk in the academic color or colors of the institution conferring the degree. If the institution has more than one color, the colors are shown in divisions using chevrons. The binding or edge of the doctoral, master's and bachelor's hoods are usually made of velvet in the color designating the subject in which the degree was granted. The associate's hood does not have a velvet border. The outside is black.

Black mortarboards are most commonly worn; four-sided and six-sided tams of various colors are also used.

Some of the colors in the bindings of the hoods are:

White	Arts and Letters	Apricot	Nursing
Tan	Business	Olive Drab	Pharmacy
Lilac	Dentistry	Dark Blue	Philosophy
Light Blue	Education	Salmon Pink	Public Health
Purple	Law	Golden Yellow	Science
Green	Medicine
