

RESEARCH SUPPORT NEWSLETTER

Volume 2

Welcome to the second edition of the Academic Commons (AC) research support newsletter! This report introduces you to tools to assist with your research, highlights support available at every stage of the process, and invites you to events related to research and publishing. The resources outlined in this newsletter are available to all Center City and East Falls faculty, clinicians, students, and staff through a site-wide license paid for by the Jefferson Libraries. Visit the Scott Memorial Library website and the Academic Commons website to access these tools and support.

New Resources

Prism8 -

Prism8 is a statistical analysis tool. More on Prism8 later (in the Statistical Tools section)!

NEJM Catalyst Innovations in Care Delivery -

This digital journal focuses on the latest innovations, big ideas, and solutions for health care delivery transformation.

iThenticate -

iThenticate helps ensure the originality of your written work before you submit your manuscript. With an easy-to-use submission process, iThenticate checks for similarity against published works.

Rebase-

Used worldwide, this database is known as the reference standard for annotating the presence of repetitive DNA in genomic data.

Grants & Funding

Let us cover your Article Processing Charges (APC) with the Jefferson Open Access Publishing Fund! This fund offers financial support to Jefferson faculty, students, and staff who wish to publish in Open Access journals. Jefferson will contribute up to $2,500 per article. Apply here.

"Upfront costs associated with quality open-access journals can be significant. The [Jefferson Open Access Publishing Fund] was tremendously helpful in seeking out an opportunity to publish. The application was very simple. We heard back the same day and the invoice was paid within 48 hours."

- Dr. Benjamin Greenberger, Resident, Thomas Jefferson University & Fund Recipient

Did you know that the National Institutes of Health started requiring ORCID iDs for grant applications? An iD is required for both individual fellowships and career development grant applications. Register for an ORCID iD here.

Pivot helps you find global and local funding opportunities and identifies research expertise from within and outside of Jefferson, connecting you to funding and people quickly and easily. Currently, there are over $76B in funding opportunities listed on the Pivot website.

LabArchives, Jefferson's Electronic Research Notebook, is mandated for all of Jefferson's Research Intensive Scientists with active, sponsored research projects. (No PHI/ePHI may be stored or uploaded at this time.) Questions? Contact LASupport@jefferson.edu.

Citation Tools

Utilize citation management tools like EndNote, F1000, and RefWorks to save time formatting bibliographies, finding full text, and searching for references. Learn about these tools, and discover which is right for you on the library's website.

Statistical Tools

Prism8, an analysis and graphing tool, can help you graph and present your scientific research, make appropriate analysis choices, and even integrate your work with LabArchives. Learn more and get started with Prism8.

Use SPSS for statistical analysis, data management, and data documentation. Download SPSS.

NVivo stores, organizes, and helps visualize qualitative data. Find themes, auto code, and build reports. Download NVivo.

Contact the Division of Biostatistics for assistance with study design and data analysis. Learn more.

Support

The Academic Commons offers support to faculty, staff, and students conducting research and writing for publication:

Librarians can assist with your research questions. From free consultations on using library resources and lit or funding searches to fee-based systematic reviews, visit our page or contact AskALibrarian@jefferson.edu to get started.

The Office for Professional Writing, Publishing, and Communication (OPWPC) provides free feedback on writing and helps you present and share your research in the best way possible. Visit the OPWPC to learn more.

Our expert photographers, graphic designers, and videographers can translate your research into visually engaging presentations. Visit the Academic Commons website for a complete list of services.

The Jefferson Digital Commons (JDC) serves as Jefferson's open access institutional repository. It's a great resource to share your scholarly work and find that of other faculty, staff, and students. Visit the JDC to check it out.

Events

The Academic Commons hosts events and workshops on a range of topics including academic research & library tools, instructional design, writing for publication, presentation skills, and teaching & learning. Browse all upcoming events.
