

RESEARCH SUPPORT NEWSLETTER

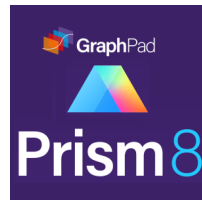

Volume 1

Welcome to the first edition of the Academic Commons (AC) research support newsletter in East Falls! This report introduces you to tools to assist with your research, highlights support available at every stage of the process, and invites you to events related to research and publishing. The resources outlined in this newsletter are available to all East Falls faculty, students, and staff through a site-wide license paid for by the Jefferson Libraries. Visit the Paul J. Gutman Library website and the Academic Commons website to access these tools and support.

New Resources

Prism8 -

Prism8 is a statistical analysis tool. More on Prism8 later (in the Statistical Tools section)!

iThenticate - iThenticate helps ensure the originality of your written work before you submit your manuscript. With an easy-to-use submission process, iThenticate checks for similarity against other published works.

NEJM Catalyst Innovations in Care Delivery -

This digital journal focuses on the latest innovations, big ideas, and solutions for health care delivery transformation.

Grammarly-

This proofing tool checks your work for grammar, spelling, and punctuation errors. Grammarly's plagiarism feature checks if your content reads too much like another source found in its database.

grammarly

Grants & Funding

Let us cover your Article Processing Charges (APC) with the Jefferson Open Access Publishing Fund! This fund offers financial support to Jefferson faculty, students, and staff who wish to publish in Open Access journals. Jefferson will contribute up to $2,500 per article. Visit the library's website to apply.

"Publishing in open access journals is expensive, but the [Jefferson Open Access Fund] allowed for us to consider quality peer-reviewed journals that would have been otherwise out of reach."

- Marie-Christine Potvin, PhD, OTR/L, Associate Professor of Occupational Therapy, College of Rehabilitation Sciences

Did you know that the National Institutes of Health started requiring ORCID iDs for grant applications? An iD is required for both individual fellowships and career development grant applications. Register for an ORCID iD here.

Pivot helps you find global and local funding opportunities and identifies research expertise from within and outside of Jefferson, connecting you to funding and people quickly and easily. Currently, there are over $76B in funding opportunities listed on the Pivot website. Learn more about Pivot.

LabArchives, Jefferson's Electronic Research Notebook, is mandated for all Jefferson's Research Intensive Scientists with active, sponsored research projects. (No PHI/ePHI may be stored or uploaded at this time.) Questions? Contact LASupport@jefferson.edu.

Citation Tools

Utilize citation management tools like EndNote, F1000, and RefWorks to save time formatting bibliographies, finding full text, and searching for references. Learn about these tools, and discover which is right for you, on the library website.

Statistical Tools

Prism8, an analysis and graphing tool, can help you graph and present your scientific research, make appropriate analysis choices and even integrate your work with LabArchives. Get started with Prism8.

NVivo stores, organizes, analyzes, and helps visualize qualitative data. Find themes, auto code, and build reports. Download NVivo.

Use SPSS for statistical analysis, data management, and data documentation. Download SPSS.

Contact the Division of Biostatistics for statistical assistance with study design and data analysis. Learn more.

Support

The Academic Commons offers support to faculty, staff, and students conducting research and writing for publication:

Librarians can assist with your research questions. For free consultations on using library resources and literature or funding searches visit our help page or contact AskGutman@jefferson.edu.

The Office for Professional Writing, Publishing, and Communication provides free feedback on writing and helps you present and share your research in the best way possible. Visit the OPWPC website to learn more.

The AC's expert photographers, graphic designers, and videographers can translate your research into visually engaging presentations. Visit the Academic Commons website for a complete list of services.

The Jefferson Digital Commons (JDC) serves as Jefferson's open access institutional repository. It's a great resource to share your scholarly work and find that of other faculty, staff, and students. Visit the JDC website to check it out.

Events

Get information about these events (and more) and sign up here.

High Impact Publishing

March 3, 1:15 – 2:15 pm

Turn Your Thesis into a Publishable Manuscript

May 5, 1:15 – 2:15 pm

Peer Editing for Content and Clarity

April 7, 1:15 – 2:15 pm

Published by the Academic Commons (AC)

Gutman
Library

Library.Jefferson.Edu/Gutman Website

Library.Jefferson.edu/LibraryNews

@GutmanLibrary

AskGutman@Jefferson.edu Email

AC

Jefferson.Edu/Commons Website

@JeffAcCommons 