A Word from the Writing Team: October 2022

Fall is here and so are your friendly editors!

Upcoming Workshop:

Find the Time: Time Management

Instructor: Pamela Walter, MFA

Date: 10/6/2022

Time: 1:00pm – 2:00pm

Location: 200A Scott Library

\(Register for this workshop\)

Do you struggle to find time for what matters to you? Maybe you want to write more or balance your work and home life. The purpose of this hour of time is to give you tools and strategies to begin finding the time to do things that you value. Practicing well-tested methods used by some of the most productive people in history, you can enhance how you prioritize commitments and interruptions. For example, finding helpful collaborators may help you find time. We'll look at the big picture of your pie and how to slice it into its most productive pieces.

At the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Evaluate what they spend their time doing
- Prioritize their activities using the Eisenhower matrix
- Identify where collaboration and delegation would help
- Determine ways to protect time

PLEASE NOTE: Fall 2022 workshops will be hybrid. You may attend in person in Scott 200A or via Zoom. A link to the Zoom session will be provided approximately 24-48 hours before workshop begins.

Writing Retreats

Would your department or campus organization like to hold an all-day or mini writing retreat to work on manuscript drafts or current scholarly projects? Please reach out to Pamela.Walter@jefferson.edu or Liz.Declan@jefferson.edu to schedule, and we will organize and host the retreat.

Consultations

As a reminder, in addition to our free manuscript editing services, we offer consultations and feedback for scholarly posters and presentations. Do you have an upcoming presentation and would like to practice for a live audience and receive feedback on the content and design? Reach us at the emails above to schedule a virtual or in-person meeting.
