A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Alumna,

Now, that my first year as president is completed, I can look back and realize how rewarding and challenging it has been. I would be less than truthful if I said it has all been a bed of roses; however, with your support and the help and advice of our Board of Directors, the problems have been successfully resolved.

We now look forward to another year with hope and anticipation of better tings to come. The film, recently released and titled, "Of Light and Learning" — is all about Jefferson, and is excellent. It is, truly Jefferson, as it was, as it is, and hopefully with our cooperation and help, what it will be.

My personal thanks to each of you for your loyal support. Let us continue to work together for greater achievements in the years ahead.

Sincerely yours,

Margaret Summers

ANNUAL REPORTS
JEFFERSON NURSING PROGRAMS
SCHOOL OF NURSING
Dynamic equilibrium — this is our challenge: to respond to the challenge of change without losing vital functions, traditions or identity.

Our vital function for many years has been to provide a nurse capable of performing as a generalist in beginning positions in hospitals, extended care facilities and health maintenance facilities.

Major curriculum changes have not been made in the past year. While some diploma schools are considering eliminating credit courses our unique position in a medical university allows us to continue to offer college credit courses for freshmen courses in psychology (3), sociology (3) and microbiology (5). Students desiring to take additional credit courses may enroll in the College of Allied Health Sciences elective program at their own expense.

Academic excellence is a personal goal of many students; as alumni you help to motivate them toward that goal through the Alumni prize. The 1973 recipient was Virginia Orotto.

One of our most beautiful traditions, the rose arch, was realized this year to eighty young women who had been challenged by Jefferson alumni, Dr. Peter L. Echman, to take their places working for change in health care delivery systems — change that is necessary for continued growth and upgrading of the profession.

As you know, one of the challenges Jefferson has responded to is that of making allowances for married students. Four of the graduates were married prior to the senior year of these; one was the mother of a two year old son. Forty of the graduates plan to remain at Jefferson. As always, the others will scatter, one going as far as Central Alaska to a mission hospital.

Championship basketball teams are becoming an undergraduate tradition for the second consecutive year. The team won dual titles — The Southeastern Pennsylvania Student Nurses' Basketball League and the 4th Annual Pennsylvania Student Nurses' Basketball Championship. Gold basketball charms and gold megaphone charms were given to the respective team members by the League.

The trophy case is literally filled to overflowing, but there's always room for one more!

Cheryl Steimer, '73 was recipient of the Thomas Jefferson Award for Outstanding Athletic Achievement presented at the annual basketball banquet at the Three Trees Restaurant, April 25, 1973. Both the banquet and the award are traditionally provided by the School of Nursing Department of the Women's Board.

The School of Nursing Department of the Women's Board plays a major role in supporting traditional activities of the School such as the tea for freshmen and seniors. Being Alumni, you are aware of their contributions and know that they are so numerous the entire report could be devoted to them. Suffice it to say, we are indebted to them.

Identity crisis and youth seem to be synonymous. There are those of you who might feel that the advent of a new nursing program at Jefferson, a baccalaureate program, has created an identity crisis for our school after eighty-two years. Be assured that no such crisis exists. Each school has its own faculty, philosophy, objectives and, of course, students. The faculties have, on occasion, held joint meetings and enjoyed rapport that allows for exchange of ideas for mutual benefit.

In September 1973, the School of Nursing will be co-ed with the admission of two male students! Although male applicants have been accepted since 1971, until now none has accepted the appointment.

As Jefferson Medical College was putting finishing touches on sesquicentennial plans the American Hospital Association was celebrating their centennial. As part of the centennial celebration a Centennial Bowl was formed. This group, composed of one student from each member diploma school selected because of clinical excellence, probably will never meet again but each will carry with pride a special pin symbolic of their unique honor. Jefferson's recipient was Bonnie Zaiss, '73.

Sesquicentennial activities have involved the school in that students and graduates are seen in the film, "Of Light and Learning," produced here on campus for the kick-off of the fund raising campaign.

Looking back, the past year has been a good year, a year of challenge and change; a year of mutual dynamic equilibrium.

Looking ahead, one sees the challenge of inevitable change coming with the admission of male students, the writing of a voluminous report so necessary for the anticipated NLN accreditation visit next year, the advisement of the Edison Building (former home of Philadelphia Electric) at 9th and Sansom becomes the home of the College of Allied Health Sciences and the continued preparation of capable nurses like yourselves.

SCHOOL OF PRACTICAL NURSING

The School of Practical Nursing continues to recruit a very varied group of students for its twelve month program and to attempt to meet the many challenges graduates will be faced with in the future. In an effort to obtain more experience in direct patient care the school has established its first affiliation with a smaller community based hospital (Jeanes) in Northeast Philadelphia. The Faculty hopes to cultivate this affiliation further in the future and perhaps create others to enhance the program.

In the past year the Nursing Service Department of Thomas Jefferson University Hospital has inaugurated a new in-service education program designed to upgrade licensed practical nurses employed a minimum of one year to an advanced status with greater remuneration. These licensed practical nurses will be permitted to take medications on a limited basis and generally take more responsibility for patient care on the evening and night tours of duty when registered nurses are often in short supply. It is hoped that this program will be successful in retaining more licensed practical nurses who enjoy giving responsible bedside nursing care rather than being formally prepared through educational programs to become registered nurses.

Commencement Exercises are held each year during the second week of September in McClellan Hall and a new class registers the following day to begin the program during the third week. With the graduation scheduled for September 12, 1973 the number of graduates of this school will number 277.

DEPARTMENT OF BACCALAUREATE NURSING

Forty-six students were admitted as transfers from other colleges and universities into our upper division baccalaureate nursing program in September, 1972. This is the first class to enter this new nursing program at Jefferson. The students will complete requirements for the Bachelor's Degree in June, 1974.

In September, 1973 we plan to admit 60 students into the junior class.

The faculty is engaged in planning curriculum and arranging for student clinical experiences in hospitals and community health agencies.

NAMED TO ACADEMY OF NURSING

We are proud to announce that two Jefferson graduates have been elected to the newly established Academy of Nursing.

The Board of Directors of the American Nurses' Association at its January 1973 meeting elected 36 nationally prominent nurses to be charter fellows of the academy. "The establishment of the Academy of Nursing is an historic step for the nursing profession."

The 36 charter fellows were chosen from more than 100 nominees and symbolize the high degree of commitment of today's nurses to provide a high quality of care.

Barbara G. Schutt, R.N., M.S., Norwich, Conn., class of 1939; is a contributing editor of the American Journal of Nursing. Before being named contributing editor Barbara was executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania Nurses' Association and editor of the Pennsylvania Nurse. She also served in Okinawa as 1st Lt. U.S. Army Nurse Corps.

Harriet H. Werley, R.N., Ph.D., class of 1941; is academy recording secretary and the director of the Center for Health Research, Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich. Dr. Werley conceived, established and developed the Department of Nursing at the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research. Harriet has provided the leadership for the promotion of research in nursing that was patient-care oriented. Within four years, she, along with staff, developed and initiated a postmaster's educational program to prepare Army Nurse Corps officers for research positions within the military.

Congratulations to you, Barbara and Harriet on your achievements!

A Sesquicentennial — A CELEBRATION AND A CHALLENGE

A Sesquicentennial in 1974

Anniversaries are a time for reflection. They are a time for looking back at progress, and even more a time to look forward and assess the way ahead. As Thomas Jefferson University celebrates in 1974 the 150th anniversary of its founding, Nursing Education at Jefferson celebrates its 83rd annivarsery. Nursing education has been a vital part of Jefferson for more than half of its existence.

Jefferson graduates can and should take pride in the fact that their university stands in a unique position among American medical centers. It is unique as a university that is wholly medically oriented, and health related. It is unique in its commitment to education in the classroom and laboratory instruction with clinical experience in professional settings and relationships.

An obligation of leadership — preparing for change

No matter how long it has been since you graduated from Jefferson, everyone has seen changes affect the nursing profession. Furthermore, you could forecast other changes that seem necessary and desirable.

Forecasting change accurately, and preparing to meet it, are obligations of leadership. It is in fulfillment of these obligations that Thomas Jefferson University has embarked upon its Sesquicentennial Campaign; a commitment to Century 21.

No matter what affection one feels for Old Main or Thompson — no matter how warmly one recalls the hours spent on duty within their halls and laboratories — neither building can compete with the modern medical center. What is more important is that the educational programs in nursing and other disciplines must change as curricula are updated to incorporate new knowledge and understanding into health care.

Almost four years ago, Jefferson addressed itself to the changes we must undertake if we are to meet successfully the medical challenges of the 21st century. A Master Planning Committee, comprising representatives from each school and college within the University, has met regularly ever since January, 1970. It has examined specific questions intensively through task forces and sub-committees, and has agreed upon a Master Plan that Jefferson seeks to implement with support provided in its Sesquicentennial Campaign.
Jefferson's Master Plan

Jefferson's Master Plan represents an $84,000,000 program. Of that amount, $53,000,000 will be allocated to the Clinical Teaching Facility to be built north of the present campus, between 11th and 10th streets. The Clinical Teaching Facility will be financed entirely through bonds.

Between Walnut and Locust streets, east of 10th, new student housing units will be constructed at a cost of $6,000,000. Money for this construction has been authorized and provided through the Pennsylvania Higher Education Facilities Authority.

The remaining $25,000,000 will be money required for an Educational Improvement Fund. That fund will assist in reorganizing ambulatory services, establishing community health centers, making improvements in teaching, under-graduate programs, and in scholarships and fellowships. These improvements and innovations represent the most important part of the Master Plan—they are the substance that turns bricks and mortar into a medical university. The Educational Improvement Fund is that part of the Master Plan that requires private support from alumnae, alumni, faculty, friends, corporations, and foundations.

The Sesquicentennial Campaign

Trustees of Thomas Jefferson University have volunteered to direct the provisions of the Campaign that are seeking support from outside the Jefferson family. Dr. Peter A. Herbst, as President, is serving as chairman of the Sesquicentennial Campaign among present members of the Jefferson family, including the alumni, faculty, staff, and students. At the time this is written, more than $1,345,000 has been pledged or paid by the Jefferson family, and $25,000,000 has already been pledged or paid to the Campaign from foundations and corporations close to Jefferson.

In the final tally, however, Jefferson alumnae and alumni will determine how rapidly Thomas Jefferson University reaches its Sesquicentennial Campaign goals. Jefferson graduates are those who chose it for their education, and who know how much that education has contributed to their own unique careers. They are the ones who can provide in this campaign for those to whom an R.N. is only a cherished goal for tomorrow.

Jefferson's Master Plan

Mrs. O'Connor has impressed it well. We ask that you along with every other graduate of Jefferson, in joining help to shape the outline of Thomas Jefferson University in the years ahead. In doing so, you will have a direct impact upon the Nursing Education that Jefferson can offer to those who will follow in your footsteps.

In the planning, the needs of the community have not been overlooked. Participation in the Philadelphia Department of Health, Childhood Lead Poisoning Project, Community Mental Health Services, and the Children and Youth Program provide support of community health programs under Jefferson's direction. The Volunteer Service through patient care, offers health career opportunities to young people searching for their field of interest. These youngsters are assigned to the areas of their choice such as Radiology, Respiratory Therapy, Clinical Laboratories, School of Nursing and Practical Nursing, and many other departments interested in promoting the progress of young people and their own areas of responsibility.

Other changes which have taken place over the past year include some major administrative assignments, Mr. Edwin L. Taylor was appointed to the position of Hospital Director, and Francis J. Sweeney, Jr., M.D., was promoted to the position of Vice-President for Health Services in July 1973.

The Jefferson campus is a busy place. It is the place where the Jefferson family is the most united. It is the place where the Jefferson family is the most united. The Jefferson family . Dr. Elizabeth Stone Miller '36 has accepted the leadership of the Alumnae Division in the Sesquicentennial Campaign. In doing so, she said: "The Sesquicentennial Campaign is not just another annual appeal for funds. It is a once-in-a-decade chance that alumnae have to participate significantly in shaping the health and healing care that will affect thousands of Americans in the next generation."

For the comfort of the patient there has been a Host-Hostess Program started during the past year. Young men and women were hired to meet and take new admissions to their assigned rooms. They introduce the patient to the Head Nurse and make it lucrative for the Patient Service Department is located if he has any questions. This group also takes as many patients as possible to the first floor lobby for discharge. Their friendly, courteous response to these persons gives them assurance and comfort. The Information Desk and Patient Escort continue to add warmth and cheeriness to the patient whose day is spent in a strange place.

As reported last year, the Society of Patient Representatives was launched and advanced rapidly since early January 1973. There are now more than two hundred members from over the entire United States. Canada and Hawaii are represented.

Area representatives by state have been appointed by the American Hospital Association upon recommendation of the Professional Staff of the Society. They communicate with all those in their area who show interest in an ombudsman program.

The Director of Patient Services was elected to the Board of Directors, to remain until January 1, 1975. The Director is also a member of the Education Committee and assisted in the preparation, organization and presentation of two major workshops one in Chicago, October 1973; the other in Miami Beach, May 1973. "Communication is Representation" was the subject for the Miami Beach two day affair.

On October 11th and 12th, the third workshop entitled "Enabling the Patient Representative to Develop Skills Needed in the Representation Field," was held in Denver, Colorado. A Board meeting will take place on October 10th to make plans for an active 1974.

The Patient Representative will meet the challenges as they come into their own in the Patient Representative Program. The patient representative programs have been expanded significantly. A large group of representatives reported to Mr. De Vore and Mr. Franke. Mrs. Harriet O'Connor accepted the leadership of the Alumnae Division in the Sesquicentennial Campaign. In doing so, she said: "The Sesquicentennial Campaign is not just another annual appeal for funds. It is a once-in-a-decade chance that alumnae have to participate significantly in shaping the health and healing care that will affect thousands of Americans in the next generation."
NEW DIALYSIS FACILITY AND TRANSPLANTATION PROGRAM

Thomas Jefferson University Hospital has made a major dedication to patients with renal disease by constructing a new dialysis facility and initiating a new transplantation program. The new dialysis unit is primarily intended for home dialysis training and to support the transplantation program. Nurses and technicians will be trained in the unit as well. The head nurse is, Margaret Mary Bryan, R.N. and associate head nurse is, Anita Bobrowsky, R.N.

It is a 9 bed unit which in combination with the old unit gives us a total of 8 dialysis beds. This is the largest hospital dialysis facility in Philadelphia. It has a Pediatric wing and a room constructed for home peritoneal dialysis training. The new unit was made possible by the generosity of the Women's Board of the Hospital, and is dedicated to the memory of Dr. Theodore Tsaltas. Dr. Tsaltas was a Professor of Pathology at Jefferson and was one of the first chronic dialysis patients in the United States. He excelled in teaching and research and frequently utilized himself as a subject for experimentation with new dialytic techniques. He was an engaging human being who, despite his own medical problems was able to give love and comfort to his friends, patients, and family.

The construction of the new unit coincides with the reactivation of the renal transplantation program at Jefferson. The transplantation team is headed by Dr. James Colberg and includes: Drs. Herbert Cohn, Jules Bogev, Stephan Bulova, Ruth Gottlieb, Michael Simenoff, James Burke and Norman Lasker. Eight renal transplants have been performed within the last 9 months, 6 of which have been successful. The 2 patients who rejected their kidneys are back on chronic hemodialysis and are awaiting a repeat transplant.

The transplantation program at Jefferson is fortunate in having the support of an excellent Immunology Laboratory, which is run by the hospital blood bank and the Cardesa Foundation. This has contributed to the excellent results of the transplantation program to date and to our plans for expansion in the future. One of the chief roles of the dialysis unit will be to provide a large number of potential transplant recipients and furnish better matchings for cadaver kidneys. The remarkable re-habilitation of the successful transplant patient has generated much enthusiasm at Jefferson for this procedure.

Norman Lasker, M.D.
Director
Dialysis Unit

NEW HEMODIALYSIS UNIT

The transplantation program at Jefferson is one of the largest in the United States. This versatile machine, with its high-energy capabilities, can be used to treat the most deeply seated tumors, yet it can also be used for low-energy radiation in the treatment of problems such as skin cancer.

The new equipment, though much more sophisticated than the old, will require little new training for the technologists operating it. The therapy equipment will be monitored by a central computer which will measure and record the exact radiation dosage required for each patient.

We are proud that our department will now be able to provide the most up-to-date radiation treatment facilities for our patients care, in addition to the devoted service of our staff which has always been a key factor in the care we provide.

CHANGES IN THE DEPARTMENT OF RADIATION THERAPY

The facilities of the Department of Radiation Therapy and Nuclear Medicine have been undergoing a dramatic face-lifting, and we are now almost ready to show our "new look" to the world. The waiting rooms and examination rooms on the first floor of the Main Building have already assumed a bright modern air, and our two staff nurses find that they offer our patients greater comfort and privacy.

But it is the new Radiation Treatment Center in the basement of the same building that will make the major new contribution to our patients' welfare. Installed there will be new, modern and powerful radiation treatment equipment, the most impressive both in size and in usefulness, being the 45-million-volt, 14-ton betatron, one of only five in the United States. This versatile machine, with its high-energy capabilities, can be used to treat the most deeply seated tumors, yet it can also be used for low-energy radiation in the treatment of problems such as skin cancer.

The new equipment, though much more sophisticated than the old, will require little new training for the technologists operating it. The therapy equipment will be monitored by a central computer which will measure and record the exact radiation dosage required for each patient.

RESUME OF MINUTES OF ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION MEETINGS

September 12, 1972

21 members were present.

Since we have received several school pins Miss Summers has offered to get the Association a small shower of pins so that we can display these pins with the owner’s name and year of graduation.

Representatives to the P.N.A. Convention to be held in Philadelphia in October were nominated.

Presently hospitalized are Violet Orland, Doris Giordano, and Anne Roane.

Thank you notes were received from:

Miss Bowman—for the Thomas Shallow and Alumnae prizes granted at graduation
Sarah Berg—for life membership

The family of Blanche Keiter String—for the memorial card
The Donahue family—for expressions of sympathy

Mary Godfrey—for all get well remembrances and for the roses from the luncheon

It was moved and seconded that we send the TB and Respiratory Disease Association the same contributions as the Association and the University. Because of the decision to do this it was decided to refund the payments of $3.00 to each of the 118 graduates who had paid for copies of the Bulletin for 1972.

The following list of recipients of the Reader’s Digest for Christmas was compiled:

Elizabeth Heaton
Elena Knos
Ethel Faust
Mabel Miller
Sarah Berg

The 50-50 was won by Lenora Schwartz.

October 10, 1972

The scholarship committee reported that in light of the absence of scholarship grants in 1971 and 1972 both applicants for the 1973 scholarship were considered. It was moved, seconded and carried that the committee make recommendations and grant scholarships to Betty Lou Simson Woods, ’61, and to Gail McKenzie, ’64, for the Spring 1973 semester.
January 9, 1973
Miss Hindson reported that 42 persons attended the Annual Christmas party. The Auction will be held March 27.

Communications were read from:
Janice Osterhaus — returning money not used at the convention
Elizabeth Heaton — thanking the Association for the subscription to Reader's Digest
Betty Lou Simonson Woods — thanking the Association for the scholarship
Judy and John Tracy — a Christmas card and letter
Mary Godfrey — a Christmas card.

Rosa Diserode had called to thank the Association for the poinsettia.

Flood damage to the Harrisburg office of the P.N.A. was very extensive and donations for restoration would be appreciated. Miss Stautfer suggested sending part of the profit from our Auction in March.

A fascinating presentation of slides by Mrs. Matthews was then given. The collection was made for the Army and Navy Nurses Museum and concentrated on the experiences of nurses during World War I. The collection included many pictures taken by Mrs. Mary Godfrey of her wartime experience.

Results of the election:
First Vice-President-Miss Mary Anne Stautfer
Recording Secretary-Mrs. Lenora Schwartz
Board of Directors-Miss Eloise Hippenstein
Miss Betty Piersol

The 50-50 was won by Mrs. Frazier, however, the proceeds were given to the students who counted the ballots.

February 13, 1973
The new By-Laws have been approved by legal counsel, Mr. Sprecker, as written by the committee.

Thank you notes were read from:
Edyth Cypher — for the Reader's Digest subscription.
The family of Elsie D. Tomlin — for the memorial card.
Miss Hindson reported that Barbara Piersol won the 50-50.

The scholarship committee reported that Barbara Davis Shrader was nominated for the Fall 1973 scholarship. The recommendation was approved.

Thank you notes were read from:
The family of Elsie D. Tomlin — for the memorial card
P.N.A. — for the restoration contribution

Miss Summers announced that the Alumnae association will not be taxed a specific amount for the University building fund as has happened in the past. The Association will be part of the general alumni goal of $4 million.

A motion was made and approved that the President and the Board of Directors conduct any emergency business which may arise between May and September.

All of the regular meetings of the Alumnae Association were held in room M23 of the Jefferson Alumni Hall.

Respectfully submitted,
Lenora W. Schwartz
