A LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Greetings to our Alumni,

Four years have passed very quickly! This will be the last time I will be writing in our Bulletin as your President. And as I leave the office of President, our School of Nursing will be coming to a close. It is with considerable dismay that we received this news but as time has passed we have recognized the finality in the decision. In the acceptance of this fact, all officers and committees have been hard at work in making the transition necessary to preserve the integrity and independence of our alumni.

Pride in your School of Nursing Alumni has been made manifest by you, the members, in many ways, but the clearest example was the generosity with which you contributed to the General Fund this year. Through the years your contributions have benefited many members and we hope it will continue by an active and aggressive alumni program.

Then, too, the attendance at our annual alumni luncheon reassured your elected officers of your genuine interest in your alumni organization.

A great deal of time has been spent to assure that our accumulated assets will be spent for our graduates either through the Scholarship or the Relief Fund.

Now we face the challenge of preserving our organization in the reality of no longer adding "new blood" to our group each year. With the support you have as freely given I'm sure this will also be solved as so many others have been.

If we are to maintain a high level of interest in the ongoing routine as well as more important activities we will be calling on interested alumni. This will include all active members as well as past officers who have contributed expert advice and much time. As of this writing not all members have been contacted, but I feel as your President you should be informed of this plan to keep your alumni alive and healthy.

Thanks so very much to all of you for your continued support that helped me in so many ways. Wishing you all the best.

Most sincerely,

Perma E. Davis '41

SCHOOL OF NURSING ANNUAL REPORT 1980 - 1981

Having watched the launch, re-entry and landing of the space-shuttle Columbia, I could not help but think that no other flight, no matter how successful, will be like this first one. So it is with us, no other nursing program at Jefferson, no matter how successful, innovative or prestigious will be like ours — the first!

Our count down is on schedule — we have been through NLN and Middle States accreditation and have come through just fine.

Dolores Heckenberger '55, Eloise Hippensteel '52, Patricia Marquette '64, Beverly Rupp '56 and five other faculty members will be terminated in June, leaving eight of us to complete the phase out year. Nancy Thompson Powell '51 and I will be the only "Jeff grads" among the remaining eight.

Patricia Zarella '51, former instructor in Fundamentals of Nursing, was selected by the class of '81 to be their commencement speaker, Saturday, June 6, 1981. Commencement, by the way, was moved back to the Sheraton due to closing of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel.

Currently, we are purging graduate records in preparation for microfiching. Seeing your pictures tempts me to reminisce but, I don't want to dwell on the past, I would rather look to the future. But what of our profession: how will it fare the widening schisms and chronic problems? Depending upon your own outlook — pessimism or optimism, the picture is gloomy or challenging.

Kate Felix, '73, in a recent letter to me addressed current issues so well that I asked her if I might share some of her thoughts with you.

... The problems causing the nursing shortage have been well documented and solutions are not difficult to find but the stumbling block is implementation. It takes self assured capable leadership. Implementation is difficult if not impossible when we fail to act as a cohesive group and I believe it is due in part to our disbelief in ourselves as true professionals. If we fail to recognize that we are on a separate but equal level with physicians; if we fail to assert our professional rights and responsibilities, if we fail to believe and help others to realize our very significant, unique input into our patients' plans of care, then I honestly don't see any resolution of the problems we have encountered.

... The nurses of today lack confidence in themselves as professionals yet how can they believe in themselves? Diploma graduates are not "professional" nurses and baccalaureate grads, in spite of their "professional" status, are not able to confidently perform on a beginning practitioner's level in the clinical area.

... I cannot tell you enough how much I value my diploma background. Because of the solid nursing education I was offered at Jefferson, I have not suffered an identity crisis. Jefferson's program is far superior to most programs both diploma and degree alike. We not only learned nursing as the science, but also the art.

At a time when our school is reaching later maturity, our profession as a whole is in the adolescent stage, struggling for autonomy. Therefore, I challenge you to seize the opportunity to build upon the foundation laid for you in this program; step into the leadership positions waiting for you — the future is yours, only you can bring our profession to a cohesive, confident, productive adult stage.

With best wishes to all of you!

FRONTIER NURSING

The following article was written by Debbie Jones, a 1978 graduate from the Diploma Program.

Greetings from the Appalachian Mountains! In December of 1980 I graduated from The Frontier School of Midwifery and Family Nursing — after 16 months of intensive on the job training.

FNS (Frontier Nursing Service) was founded in 1925 by a native Kentucky woman, Mary Breckinridge. The purpose, to care for mothers in childbirth, the sick of all ages and to provide hospital and clinic services to all of those who needed it. The key was and still is preventive medicine.

Nurses were (and still are) the main health care providers, traveling by horseback, carrying medicines and supplies in their saddlebags to give care where needed. It was only in 1970's that jeeps took the place of horses.

Even with all the changes here in the past 56 years, Eastern Kentucky is still very rural. The countryside is quite rugged — people live in the hollows of the mountains along creeks and rivers. Spring and fall bring such beautiful displays of color, so many trees, wild flowers and natural waterfalls. I am always inspired by the beauty of these hills.

Poverty is still widespread, but the people are very kind and proud. They work hard on their land which has been passed on from generation to generation. The main (and practically only) industry is coal mining. It is an extremely dangerous occupation to be sure. A miner friend took me into a deep mine — that's not for me! It is interesting how many women have begun working in the mines. Recently we had a prenatal who worked down there until she was 7 months along. "Black Lung", Pneumoconiosis (the respiratory disease which comes from coal dust) is quite common here.

Anemia and poor nutrition are large problems. There is much education to be done — Mountain Dew or Pepsi are all too often the contents in baby bottles! Sanitation efforts have begun to provide changes. There was no trash collection until 3 years ago. Outside the small towns there is no water system or sewage drainage. Intestinal parasites are commonplace.

Well, let me tell you more about the FNS Program. There were 8 other nurses in my class from many different states. We had 1 to 2 class days a week and were taught by Nurse Practitioners, midwives and physicians. The school is located in the 40 bed hospital and primary care center. The remaining days we spent in the various clinics — (family planning, learning to insert IUD's fit diaphragms, gyne, doing Pap tests and other screening exams. Pediatrics, doing well child and acute care. Emergency Room, learning to think and act quickly until the doctors arrived — as well as suture and develop assessment skills, prenatal and post partum) as well as the outpost district centers located in 3 counties outside the hospital. These centers are staffed by 1 to 2 practitioners/midwives. We received our labor and delivery experience in the hospital maternity unit/birthing room and at home deliveries. To graduate we had to have a minimum of 20 deliveries.

FNS is the only school in the country where you can take the combined course (Midwifery/Family Nursing). It is affiliated with the University of Kentucky and offers a masters program through the University. As a Diploma Graduate I received a certificate in both areas. My midwifery boards were in February. I am now a C.N.M. (Certified Nurse Midwife) through the American College of Nurse Midwives, and plan to take my F.N.P. boards in September 1981.

After graduation I chose to stay in Kentucky another year and further develop my skills — working as a district nurse at one of the Outpost Centers. I work with another FNP — together we see 20-35 patients each day. The majority of my care now involves family nursing, a continuous challenge to sharpen assessment skills! We are able to consult M.D.'s by phone and can refer and admit patients to the hospital whenever necessary. Much of the lab work we do ourselves at the clinic.

More and more prenatals are coming to the clinic. I consider it a privilege to be able to register and follow them all the way through to their 6 week post-partum check. I especially enjoy the neonates! The obstetrician sees my clients with me once or twice during the pregnancy — more often if problems arise. When a woman goes into labor I am called to the home or hospital to be with her and manage the labor and delivery. This is often exhausting, but always rewarding!!

I live in an old log house with two other practitioners. We have a big garden this year (peas, cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, spearmint, dill, parsley, tomatoes, peppers, beans, radishes, carrots, lettuce, onions, basil, garlic, corn, spinach, swisschard, zucchini, yellow squash, melons, cucumbers, etc.). I've gotten into some small scale farming. A project to get some ideas and experience to help increase protein intake of rural populations such as in Mexico where I hope to return. So far, we have a rooster, 10 hens, (lots of fresh eggs!) and 17 new baby chicks, as well as a rabbit family. Soon plan on accruing a goat or two for milking. We also have a cat and a golden retriever pup — so life is never dull!

Mayhaps I've given you an idea of what my life and work are like. There is so much more I could tell — why don't you come and visit?!? I do want to say how valuable my training at Jefferson has been, an excellent preparation for the F.N.S. Program and my current work. I will always be grateful to those who made it possible.

To my classmates — 1978 — I often wonder where you are and what you are doing. It is my prayer that each one of you are healthy and happy in whatever you do. I would love to hear from you!

THE INFECTION CONTROL PRACTITIONER

When I was a student nurse at Jefferson, no one had ever heard of an Infection Control Practitioner. Infection Control was EVERYBODY's responsibility.

The practice of infection control is not new. From early recorded history of man, we find that certain sanitary measures were established. We learn from the books of Leviticus and Deuteronomy that the ancient Hebrews developed rigid laws regarding waste disposal, camp sanitation, touching and eating unclean objects and foods, and the prohibition of tattooing with its risk of needle transmitted diseases. From these laws stem the basis of sanitary codes which have been practiced through succeeding years.

Modern concepts of infection control began many years later in 1683 when Van Leeuwenhoek perfected lenses which enabled him to see some of the larger forms of bacteria.

Ignaz Semmelweis, a Hungarian obstetrician, without knowledge of the causative organisms of disease was responsible for the development of the aseptic barrier. In 1847, he instituted strict regulations that all students wash their hands in a chlorinated lime solution and scrub their fingernails with a brush before entering the wards or performing examinations on women. This practice alone was responsible for a 16% reduction in puerperal mortality at the maternity hospital in Vienna.

During the Crimean War in the 1850's, Florence Nightingale introduced and enforced strict sanitary practices into the hospital environment.

Nearly two centuries after the discovery of the microscope, in 1862, Louis Pasteur presented scientific evidence that certain diseases were caused by bacteria.

To Lord Joseph Lister lies the credit for introducing chemical disinfection into the practice of surgery in 1864. Sterilization by steam came into use in the 1880's.

The 1900's brought advances in medical practice and health care which have undoubtedly saved many lives; but, at the same time, have increased the risk of developing infection. We have known for years that persons become colonized with bacteria in their everyday environment. These bacteria do not cause illness in the host, but, introduced into the hospital environment, may quickly spread to other persons and cause disease. The rapid development of antibiotics has brought about resistant strains of bacteria. Modern diagnostic, monitoring, and invasive techniques have provided new and different reservoirs for the growth of bacteria.

In the past two decades, we have become increasingly concerned with the epidemiology of nosocomial, or hospital-acquired infections. Isolation units, laminar air flows, disposable equipment, new laboratory techniques have all been introduced in an attempt to prevent nosocomial infections. Still, the problem persists.

The late sixties and early seventies saw the emergence of a new person on the health care scene. Initially called the "Infection Control Nurse" — in most instances it was a nurse — her undivided attention was available to help in providing a solution to the problem.

In 1972, the Association for Practitioners in Infection Control was established. Since that time, members of a variety of professional backgrounds have entered the field — nurses, medical technologists, environmentalists, and physicians. Today we are known as Infection Control Practitioners or Infection Control Coordinators. I personally prefer the latter, since it more accurately describes the responsibilities of the worker.

We are coordinators. The goal of infection control is improved patient care by providing a safe environment, free from the risk of infection. We work with every department in the hospital to coordinate activities, policies and procedures which ultimately affect the safety and welfare of the patient. We have learned, over the years, that infections are spread, not alone by those who provide direct care to the patient, but by environmental factors as well.

The Infection Control Practitioner fulfills many roles; investigator, teacher, consultant, environmentalist, statistician, and epidemiologist. Her scope of knowledge includes an understanding of patient care practices, disinfection and sterilization, sanitation, microbiology, infectious diseases, epidemiology, employee health, principles of teaching and management skills.

The practitioner is involved in surveillance activities to determine sources and routes of transmission of infections, to identify nosocomial infections and to provide informal teaching on the unit for involved personnel. She regularly analyzes microbiological data to identify trends in infections and possible sources of cross-infection. This data may also be used in predicting and identifying problems of epidemic nature. In many hospitals, it is the Infection Control Practitioner who collects the data for the antibiotic audits. She prepares statistical reports based on this data and presents them to the Infection Control Committee for whatever action is deemed necessary.

The practitioner reviews policies and procedures relating to infection control and makes recommendations as necessary. Special attention is required for practices and techniques which tend to compromise the patient's resistance to infection. She reviews types of equipment in use from an infection control standpoint and provides consultation as needed.

The Infection Control Practitioner participates in the orientation of new employees in all hospital departments. The purpose of the orientation is to provide a basic understanding of their respective roles in infection control. In addition, she develops inservice for all employees.

In addition to serving as infection control liaison between hospital departments and the Infection Control Committee, she may act as infection control liaison between institution and community. It is often the Infection Control Practitioner who, at the direction of the physician, reports communicable diseases to the appropriate community agency.

In many health care institutions, the practitioner is involved in patient teaching. We feel that it is important for the patient to develop a better understanding of the infection process as it relates to his particular condition. Emphasis is placed on prevention of reinfection and spread of infection.

The practitioner may be involved in special research studies or surveys, depending upon the particular needs of the program and health care facility. Here at Magee Rehabilitation Hospital, we have infection control problems that are uniquely our own, because of the specialized types of patients requiring our services. It has long been recognized that patients with spinal cord injuries are especially prone to certain types of infections. The problem is compounded by certain invasive procedures which are practiced on the patients, either by personnel or the patients themselves. It is further compounded by the fact that most of the patients come to us from acute care institutions where they have already been exposed to drug-resistant bacteria, and many times become colonized. So, you see, we have a real melting-pot of disease producing organisms introduced into the environment here. These conditions provide opportunities for the pursuit of studies in infection control relevant to this type of patient.

Although, as previously indicated, persons of various health disciplines are employed as Infection Control Practitioners, the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta feels that the professional nurse is best prepared to fulfill this role. The educational background of the nurse includes management and communication skills, principles of teaching, principles of sterilization, microbiology, knowledge of communicable disease, in addition to a thorough understanding of patient care practices. Since 1977, there has been some concern that infection control practitioners; with their varied educational preparations; and professionals as such, lack unification of certain basic standards. Therefore, the Association for Practitioners in Infection Control have appointed a Certification Committee to explore needs of practitioners and to make recommendations for standards of practice. This year, 1981, the committee published its first report. So, certification is coming for Infection Control Practitioners. As in other health professions, there will be certain eligibility requirements to meet before the practitioner takes the examination for certification. I believe that certification is very necessary if we are to continue to serve the public by encouraging high standards of performance.

However, regardless of the educational background of the Infection Control Practitioner; regardless of the multiplicity of her roles and functions; infection control has been, and continues to be EVERYBODY's responsibility.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS 1981

Clinical Area. Also, we have shared many classroom experiences.

Secondly, it is an honor to speak to you as this day commemorates the anniversary of my graduation from this school 30 years ago and I am experiencing the excitement again with each one of you.

Nursing is our career choice. My first love and yours — yours because you are here today. If you had not loved nursing, you would not be among the recipients of the coveted Jefferson Pin and Diploma. However, I must warn all of you that nursing is a challenge! Every day it will challenge your ability to think clearly; it will challenge your resourcefulness; your tolerance and your stamina. There will be many times when it would be easier to stay home rather than face a day without sufficient help on the clinical area; rather than cope with a dying patient or one who is demanding and difficult. However, the challenge will be met and joy derived, if, in spite of the hardships, you will take on the assignment and give your all. The efforts of each individual will effect the team.

You can meet the challenge primarily, because each of you is now prepared to deal with most nursing situations, crises and basic Medical/Surgical problems. You have received a sound education which has introduced the many facets of Nursing.

Think about it . . . Giving medications, dosage calculation, communicating with a patient, responding to emergencies . . . CPR, Shock, Hemorrhage!

I know that you can meet the challenge because I was there. I saw you preparing to meet the real world of nursing . . . Patients, Illness, Doctors, Hospitals. Your Faculty knows that you can do it. Your Faculty knows that the challenge will be met and that you will become more firmly grounded in Nursing and the love of the care of others. Of course, there will be times of frustration, but stop and take a minute to reflect . . . remember Miss Gamble and her words of encouragement; Miss McClean's advice; Miss Heckenberger's guidance. Reflect on what you have been taught, avoid shortcuts, practice the Golden Rule . . . "Do to others as you want others to do to you."

No, we will not be there anymore to pick up the pieces — but each of us has left a little part of ourselves with you which will serve as a reminder to prevent your "falling to pieces". We have picked up the pieces and compactly put them together and there you are . . . Nurse, from Jefferson, class of 1981.

Nursing is a challenge in other ways, too. Has the question — "What is a nurse?" — been answered? We are still struggling with what should be the educational level of entry into Nursing Practice — Diploma, Baccalaureate or Associate Degree. You are right in the middle of the dilemma. You are entering nursing at a time when there is a severe nursing shortage created partially by this struggle. You can be instrumental in proving that the Diploma Nurse has the capabilities sought after.

You will be challenged by the use of Agency Nurses. Nurses who supplement the staff nurse during shortages. This type of nursing has become extremely popular . . . you can work the shift you want, the days you prefer, in the hospital of your choice. You may select the unit in most cases, too.

However, according to the PNA's survey by the Commission on Nursing Practice in August of 1980, the greatest weakness of this type of supplemental staffing is a lack of continuity of patient care. And, continuity is something that we have been striving for.

The second greatest weakness is the inability of supplemental staff nurses to assume responsibility for total patient care including assessments, health teaching, and nursing care. All of which are essential to the care of the patient. If you allow this to continue, you, as staff nurse will be left behind doing all the activities that the agency nurse is unable to fulfill. Remember, the patient is the central figure and is entitled to continuity of care.

You, the nurse must strive to force improvements in working conditions, salary and benefits. Not through unionization, however, but by joining the ANA, your Alumni association and your staff nurses' organization or encouraging formation of a staff nurses' organization. Avoid griping among yourselves. I feel this leads to burn-out as much as over-work and lack of help. Instead, be an active voice in your nursing organizations; make your needs known to administrators and nursing leaders. Keep active in the profession . . . Take advantage of continuing education programs.

No . . . your days of learning are not over . . . and they never will be. Every day something new occurs . . . new medical advancements; new drugs; innovative nursing practices. You must read the latest literature, discuss what you have read and explore new methods and ideas to remain effective and to keep nursing alive. Diploma Nurses do have a specific role to fulfill. I trust that you will help to define that role as you enter the nursing arena.

Of course, you should be concerned about yourself as an individual. But, remember that the patient is the nucleus of the team . . . whether it is the health team or the nursing team, and what you do or fail to do, does not just affect you as an individual or your co-worker or your unit . . . ultimately, it affects the patient.

In a few minutes you will be awarded the coveted Diploma and the beautiful Pin that will clearly identify you as Jefferson Diploma Nurses. While I realize that most of the young ladies will not wear their cap, it seems to have fallen out of fashion today — PLEASE — ladies and gentlemen — wear the Pin and wear it proudly. And may God Bless you all.

STUDENT AFFAIRS COUNCIL

The school year of 1980-81 began for the Student Affairs Council with a senior party for the soon-to-be graduates. Pizza and soda were served, as joke awards were presented to class members for "personal" traits which became unforgettable in the past 3 years of school.

During the month of October, students of the Diploma program were recruited to donate blood at Curtis Clinic. A very large percentage of students responded, leading to a successful collection for that month.

At Christmas, a party for a local day care center was the season's highlight. Ten excited tots were greeted by students, treated with cookies and juice, made decorations for their own trees at home and were surprised by an early visit from Santa Claus.

Also this year, we were visited by representatives from the National League for Nursing for one last accreditation review of our program. The NLN representatives visited classroom and clinical areas and also toured Martin Residence Hall. Later, a group of selected students met with the women to answer questions.

The School of Nursing is again proud of its basketball team. Although not one of their winningest seasons, the girls pulled together well with only a few returning players, a new advisor and new coach.

The students would like to express their appreciation to the Women's Board for the tickets provided for the theater, ballet and orchestra. We enjoyed many excellent shows again this year.

To the graduating seniors, we wish them the best of luck and much, success. To the remaining students, we wish them continuing success in their studies.

Respectfully submitted,

SCHOLARSHIP REPORT 1980-81

Eleven applications for scholarship assistance were sent; seven were returned and reviewed by the committee.

LuAnn Kopenhaver (1978) was granted a scholarship for the Spring Semester of 1981 and Judith Ann Jones (1971), Deborah A. Waters (1972), Judith Lynn Kunkle (1976), and Donna Lynn Callahan (1979) were granted a scholarship for the Fall Semester of 1981.

The scholarship award for 1981, granted to the junior student who had demonstrated the highest level of achievement at the end of the second quarter, was granted to Barbara Ann Kominsky.

Committee members wish to take this opportunity to encourage graduates enrolled full time in a program leading to a degree in nursing to apply for scholarship assistance, especially if financial problems interfere with the completion of the program.

REPORT OF SICK AND WELFARE COMMITTEE

This committee sends cards to all members of our Alumni Association when we know you are ill, either at home or in the hospital. If you make it known to us, we are happy to do this. If you are a patient at Jefferson, make your presence known to the Nursing Staff and ask them to notify the Nursing Office. Someone from the Committee will stop in to see you and have a chat about current events at our Alma Mater.

ALUMNI

OFFICE

NEWS

Are you seeking former classmates? Whether for professional or social reasons, or reunion celebrations, we can provide current addresses of nursing alumni. We ask only that you have patience. In addition to our cross file system, we now have computerized lists which provide the latest data on all our alumni. In return for this service, we ask you to keep us informed of your correct mailing address; or, if you should know the new address of an alum, please let us know.

Our student nurses were guests of the Nurses Alumni Association on April 22, 1981 for an afternoon cheese party held in the Faculty Club. They also visited the Alumni Office to leaf through yearbooks and historic photographs. The graduating class of 1981 has presented their yearbook, Nosokomos, to those of us who experienced the diploma tradition in the past, present, and future.

Because of the kindness of some of our members, we have recently added to our memorabilia, which, as you know, is displayed in the Nurses Alumni Office, Room M-2, Jefferson Alumni Hall. Lois Longacre Kelly, '42, has given us the diploma of her aunt, Mary Longacre Grimm, '17. The diploma is on parchment with outstanding calligraphy, and we are pleased to add it to our collection. Margaret Pound Ransom, '36, has sent a large photograph of members of the 38th General Hospital Division, who were stationed in Camp Bowie, Texas during World War II. The photo was taken on July 3, 1942.

We are still trying to complete our collection of programs from graduation exercises. Missing are programs for the years 1944, 1946, 1948, 1949, 1952, 1953, 1955, 1956. If you have one of these programs, please send it to us! We will copy it and return the original to you.

At Christmas time, we remember our graduates who are living in nursing homes by sending them a check. Please notify us if you know of any graduates who are ill or in need of financial assistance.

If you wish to contact the Nurses Alumni Office in person or by telephone, we are located in Room M-2, Jefferson Alumni Hall, 1020 Locust Street, Philadelphia, PA 19107. Telephone (215) 928-8981. I may be reached there every Tuesday from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Jefferson Cap charms are available in sterling silver at a cost of $12 (plus a $1.50 charge for mailing). Calls or inquiries made other than on Tuesday should be directed to the College of Allied Health Sciences Alumni Office, Room M-34, (215) 928-7709.

CLASS NOTES

Mary Robinson Godfrey, 122 McColly St., Ligonier, PA 15658. My daughter and granddaughter purchased a two story house, address as above and made two apartments; I occupy the first floor. In good weather I can sit on a nice rear porch, or walk on large lovely grounds.

Class of 1915

Minerva Peters Bilger, 259 N. Union St., Middletown, PA 17057. A letter received from Minerva's niece, Dorothy Peters, was gladly received telling us Minerva celebrated her one hundredth birthday Nov. 23, 1980. Minerva was home for her birthday and enjoyed cards, pictures and the day. Minerva was with the Jefferson Unit in World War I. She is a resident at the Polyclinic Medical Center, Heckton Hall, Middleton, PA 17057.

Elizabeth T. Heaton, 2150 Route 38, Cherry Hill, NJ 08002. Living at Cadbury Retirement Home at the above address. Celebrated her 90th birthday May 16, 1981.

Florence Jane (Bonnie) Browning, P.O. Box 174, Oakland, MD 21550. I am 89 yrs. old as of Feb. 10, 1981. Left Pittsburgh for Portland, Oregon, on Feb. 18th, had a good flight except for air pockets — they were interesting. Spring here is about six weeks earlier than in Maryland. I will return in time for the second spring but not in time for the luncheon. I always enjoyed the alumni luncheons when I did get there.

Class of 1919

Esther Mae Bishop McConnell, Box 114, Cresson, PA 16630. Esther Bishop McConnell died January 21, 1980 at the age of 90. She was married to William H. McConnell, Sr., for 59 years. Mr. McConnell is still living and is 98 years old. They had six children, all who are living. The McConnell's ran a large dairy farm at Cresson, PA and it is now being operated by their three sons.

Alice Worthington — resident at the Meno Nursing Home, Chambersburg, PA 17201.

Henrietta Fitzgerald Spruance — resident at Cadbury Retirement Home, Room No. 409, 2150 Route 38, Cherry Hill, NJ 08002.

Helene Weber, P.O. Box 107, Howard, PA 16841. I wish I could be with you for the luncheon. It was during my office of President, that we held the first luncheon. Various classes had been meeting for lunch and we decided why not get together. This was during the time that we were working for an 8 hour day. We invited the President of the college, seated him between two of the officers, then proceeded to be rude by talking across him — giving our views of an 8 hour day. But it worked and we accomplished our mission! Two years ago I fractured my hip. I was taught that 1/10 of nursing was physical, 9/10 mental. So 9/10 of me won. I can walk without using a cane or walker. Won't brag about the distance, but can go grocery shopping pushing a cart. Since I can't attend the luncheon in person, will be there in spirit. My sight is very bad.

Class of 1925

Lillian Dilliard Hartman, 108 E. 21st St., Northampton, PA 18067. Niece, Nancy Berosik, Chief Operating Room Nurse at Allentown Osteopathic Hospital.

Class of 1926

Last June 11, 1980, Bob and I celebrated our 50th Wedding Anniversary — given by our children, Bob, Caroline, Edward, Sally Ann and three grandsons. I have retired, but do part time nursing on O.B. We will be moving into a new hospital the last of March. Bob works part time.

Ernestine Grundkovski Rowe (James), 118 A Kenville Rd., Buffalo, NY 14215. Nothing at present. Had a cold winter. Wish every one well. Always glad to hear from my classmates.

Ruth Smith Davis (Charles R. — deceased), Box 705, Cokesbury Village, Hockessin, DE 19707. Just happy to be here at Cokesbury Village where I know I have Lifetime Total Medical Care. Enjoyed a visit from Martha Riland and Margaret Carey last year.

Lorraine Knoll Mayers, 620 Centre Ave., Reading, PA 19601. Moved to the above address last September and love the slower pace of a smaller town. Am not active in any nursing affairs, but find plenty to do in church and social functions. The best to former classmates and friends.

Class of 1936

Elizabeth Stephan Miller (John), Box 14, Sadsburyville, PA 19369. Retirement remains a very busy time. For me it is especially interesting because I am continuing to learn a new way of life after 40 years in the Philadelphia area. It is country life — gardening, freezing fruits and vegetables, helping to cut wood, going fishing. Best of all — this past August I was presented a new family member called Lawrence. He was named for my deceased son, Lawrence — a tribute to his memory. Our home is always open to visitors and is easy to find.

Mildred Woodhead Hawkesworth (Norman O.), P.O. Box 533, Derry, NH 03038. I am involved in building a new church in a new parish, but otherwise life is happy and uneventfully pleasant. Six years ago I negotiated all the details in building a community center in Pigeon Cove section of Rockport, Mass. The above project is similar. I am not currently President of the Club financing center, nor chairman of building committee as I was then — as yet there are no elected officers! We actually live in Londonderry, but get our mail in Derry.

Edith Gendebien Reeves, 1739 E. San Miguel Ave., Phoenix, AZ 85016. I have just retired from the department of Anesthesia at Maricopa County General Hospital, after 25½ years of service. Shall now pursue increased activity in hiking and backpacking with the Sierra Club and friends.

Thoroughly enjoyed a six months vacation in Canada and down the west coast, travelling in a 5th wheeler recreational vehicle with cousin, 2 dogs and 1 cat! Returned with hundreds of photos, boxes of souvenirs, and a beautiful denim sombrero, complete with feather band! Lovely way to go —.

Lida Pardee Goodell (Amos J.), Peartree Point Rd., Route 1, Chestertown, MD 21620. My husband and I had a beautiful tour of the United States during August and September 1980. We drove over 12,000 miles. One highlight of our trip was to have lunch with Madeline Ullom (Class of 1938) at her home in Tucson, Arizona.

Virginia Kinter Hatton (Robert W. Hatton, Sr.), 3499 East Ave., Colonial Heights, VA 23834. My husband and I are retired from USCS, I as a nurse from Ft. Our son, Robert Jr., is a graduate of Univ. of Florida and is now Ad. Mgr. of the Cleveland Press in Ohio. Son, Richard, is an Electrician with B & W Tobacco Co. in Petersburg, and our daughter, Karen, is a Teaching Aide with the Colonial Heights school system. We have eight grandchildren ages 4 to 18. A very Beautiful family!

Marie Shearer Roche (L.), 13562 Dream Highway, Newburg, PA 17240. Retired from school nurse position in Shippensburg, PA, schools in January, 1979, in order to spend more time with my husband who was terminally ill and who did die in June 1979. We have five children, who are now living in various parts of the United States, and I have been active in nursing for many years. I was chosen to be Senior Citizen Coordinator at the Shippensburg Community Center and supervise Senior Citizen activities, the noon-time congregate meal program, plan trips for the group of over 150 seniors and generally keep very busy. Its enjoyable and a bit different. The only trouble is that I don't have enough free time to visit in Washington state, California or Michigan with my children.

Alice Freed Moore (James), No. 1, Box 112, Horseshoe Bend, ID 83629. My husband and I are writing our autobiographies. They will be bound with a hard cover and given to our children so that they will have their roots. I have met a few British R.N.'s and have enjoyed comparing notes — things are pretty similar. Communication occasionally is difficult. Life here is exactly as we had it in the 1940's and early 50's. But England is beautiful. Everything here is excessively expensive; lunch in a nice restaurant will cost about $75.00 for 2 and dinner for 2 at a lovely restaurant is easily $150.00 — but oh such food!
