🔊 ANNOUNCEMENTS

Latest issue of Evanescent is out

Hot off the press—the 2023 issue of Jefferson's journal of literary medicine is in print. Contributors responded to a question: Where is our empathy? This issue also includes essays from the 2022 Theresa and Charles Yeo Prize and artwork contributions from the SoulsShot Project, among others. Stay tuned for more information on where to find issues and how to submit to Evanescent or the Yeo Prize.

First Friday Writing Retreats return in October

The OPWPC will once again be hosting virtual First Friday Writing Retreats. Starting in October, these retreats will run from 9 AM to 4 PM and give you the chance to focus on your writing projects at any stage of the process. Work independently, get feedback from a member of the OPWPC team, or consult a Scott librarian. Sometimes all you need is dedicated time, so take advantage of this opportunity! Drop in at any time or stay for the full day, and be sure to register in advance here.

Academic Commons Website Update

In case you missed it... The Academic Commons website has had a full revamp! Take a look at the OPWPC's new pages and other AC offerings by following the new link: https://academiccommons.jefferson.edu

💡 PUBLICATION SPOTLIGHT

Congratulations to Clara Granda-Cameron, Jeannette Kates, and Kuang-Yi Wen for publishing their paper, "mHealth Interventions to Improve the Breast Cancer Continuum of Care from Prevention to Survivorship of Hispanic Women: A Scoping Review" in the Journal of Racial and Ethnic Health Disparities.

REMINDERS

Scott Memorial Library renovations

The fourth floor of Scott Memorial Library remains closed for the foreseeable future while the Archives are undergoing an exciting renovation. Stay tuned for more news on that closer to the new year!

MS4 Residency Personal Statement Workshop

The OPWPC's Scholarly Writing Specialist, Liz Declan, will be hosting a final residency personal statement workshop on August 24 from 4-5 PM in Scott 200A. To register, RSVP to liz.declan@jefferson.edu. If you are unable to attend but would like assistance with your personal statement, you can email Liz or Pam Walter (pamela.walter@jefferson.edu) to schedule a consultation.
