A Message From The President
The past twelve months have produced many changes in our Alumni Association, both physically and historically. As you read the Committee reports on the following pages you will see the landmark decisions which were made during the year, with the approval of those present at the annual Luncheon meeting in May. The foundation has been laid. It is up to all of you to help those of us who are still here to build and secure our Alumni Association as we know it today. My fondest wishes to all of you in the coming year.

NURSES' RELIEF FUND

The Nurses' Relief Fund is available to all Diploma and White Haven graduates. The purpose of the Relief Fund is to provide a sum of money annually toward hospital bills and/or bills incurred at home due to an extended illness and requiring the services of a physician. The fund is also available for use in cases of adversity.

If you know of any Jefferson or White Haven graduate in need of assistance, please let us know as soon as possible.

An application for Relief Fund benefits can be found in the back of this bulletin.

NURSES' SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The Clara McVitty-Adams Scholarship Fund continues to provide four scholarships a year to Diploma and White Haven graduates. Two for the Fall semester and two for the Spring semester.

April 1 is the closing date for application for the fall semester, and September 1 for the spring semester. Each application received will be reviewed by the Scholarship Committee. Preference will be given to the applicant who has been a member, who is most active in the Alumni Association, and who has most nearly completed requirements for a degree.

A Scholarship application can be found in the back of this bulletin.

ARCHIVAL MATERIALS

Miss Sarah Zimmerman of Havertown, Pennsylvania (sister of Ada Zimmerman, class of 1913) recently presented to the library Archives the Jefferson Medical College diploma of her father, Pius Zimmerman, M.D., JMC 1853, his prescription book, and his senior thesis on scarlet fever. She also gave the textbooks used by Ada when she was a student at Jefferson. She also contributed to the Library.

A professional photograph of Ada Zimmerman and a diary of a trip to Europe by her companion, Miss F. A. F. Ray, were also presented to the Archives.

These materials are being added to the Jefferson Medical College Archives and Library.

3. To foster collegial, collaborative interactions with medicine and other health professions.
4. To encourage innovation in nursing practice and education systems.
5. To expand and develop resources to support nursing education and services.

These priorities have defined the direction for the next decade. The faculty in the Department of Baccalaureate Nursing look forward to working with all interested in nursing education at Jefferson to meet these challenges.

Mary Naylor, R.N., Ph.D.

FROM RN TO BSN

Fifteen years ago I thought I had it made. I was a graduate of a hospital school of nursing that was part of a large teaching hospital. The school had an excellent reputation; its graduates were said to be skilled, moral, and obedient. According to the admission bulletin, students would "become proficient in those skills necessary to care for the patient in a general hospital setting." What was promised was delivered, and I could take my rightful place in nursing.

No reality shock for me! I easily made the transition from student in pink to graduate in white. As a student I had responsibilities on the unit; I felt amazement at being paid for doing much the same work I had done before receiving my diploma.

After graduation, I practiced both as a civilian and a military nurse. I made four lateral moves, each time hoping to find a place where I felt satisfied with the care I was giving. But there were problems everywhere I went. I felt taken advantage of by the hospital system, and I felt I was cheating myself and my patients. There was rarely enough time for inservice programs, and a feeling of stagnation developed. My practice had become too ritualistic, with tasks being dictated by an inflexible system. I hated being "task-oriented," but I also disliked the books I received from the oncoming shift staff when a task was not completed, even if the reason was valid.

After years of avoiding the truth, the solution became quite clear to me. I needed more formal education. I would pursue a BSN.

What was not clear, however, was how I would do this. Internal conflicts were the first I had to resolve. I recall conjuring up all the reasons why full-time study was impossible. I might have a stroke, my children might run dry, my car might fail apart.

I finally decided that I really was afraid — afraid to give up some security and try a new role. Recognizing, accepting, and dealing with these fears left me free to face the external conflicts. I am a divorced mother of two young children. Continuing to take one course at a time in night school made sense. To plunge into full time day school, resign my job, and seriously apply myself — that was risky. But that was what I decided to do. My decision prompted looks of disbelief from friends and words of caution from family. "How can you?" "That's crazy!" "How will you pay the bills?" Friends pointed out that having a BSN would not increase my salary nor change my hospital job description. "That's probably true," I said. But somehow I was confident that it would make a difference to nursing and to me.

I registered for full-time study. I knew finances would be tight, but I applied for and received four scholarships over a three-year period. I was eligible for GI benefits for one year, and I received child support. My savings were there for unexpected expenses, and I continued to work at the hospital on call.

My first real step toward a BSN was taking and passing all six NLN Achievement Exams. I had been out of school for 12 years and facing two days of testing to validate lower division nursing knowledge was intimidating. Like many other nurses, I had not been associated with pediatrics, obstetrics, or psychiatry since my school days. I spent one weekend with a review text and did far better in the exams than I had anticipated.

I thought diploma nurses had an edge on associate degree nurses (based on state boards test results and hospital administration statements) until I went back to school. I was shocked to realize I was being given so little college credit for three years of diploma schooling, while AD nurses received so many! There seemed to be an endless number of prerequisites — courses I felt I already had. At first, I felt some bitterness, as most diploma nurses do; toward the educators who set the requirements. It did not take long, however, to discover that they were right. The information was new to me and the instruction was on a higher level than my basic program had been.

After a year of such prerequisites as microbiology, chemistry, statistics, psychology, and sociology, I began upper division nursing courses. I heard that the content of these courses repeated lower division nursing knowledge. I found the opposite to be true. The ideas and theories were brand new to me and initially I was lost in new terminology.

In time, I felt totally comfortable in the student role. The work was demanding and the midnight shift few times, but I, like most other RN students, had no difficulty maintaining a high grade point average. We all brought different experiences to the classroom, and faculty members respected our uniqueness and showed a genuine concern for our futures.

Perhaps the most important discovery I made was that nursing can be anywhere. For me, the expansion of nursing beyond the hospital setting was exciting. Nursing, I found, can be more than a collection of technical skills. Nursing needs all types — researchers, administrators, educators, lawyers, primary care practitioners. It is a large, multi-faceted profession. These were my thoughts as my degree was being conferred.

There are many nurses who also have known the thrill of obtaining a BSN. With them I feel a kinship. There must be many nurses who are contemplating taking the step, but who need encouragement. This I freely offer.

The People's Republic of China

In the spring of 1981, I was invited to participate in a trip to China with the People-to-People Mission. This organization was instituted by Eisenhowel and the purpose was to exchange knowledge and ideas with countries which were developing or introducing new ways of doing things. Our delegation met in New York to be briefed and to become acquainted. We would be together for three weeks. The group consisted of thirty-five nurses, one husband, and two sisters. All were from the East Coast with the exception of one from Arizona and another from Oregon. The areas of practice included education and service. The three types of educational programs were represented, and nursing administrators were from three to five hundred bed hospitals. Our mission was to study the health care delivery system and nursing education.

The flight was long; we had a two hour lay-over in San Francisco and flew over Japan on our way to Hong Kong. We left our hotel in New York at 8 AM and arrived in Kowloon at 15 PM.

At 6 AM the next morning we were introduced to a Chinese breakfast, and the Chinese version of an American breakfast. Then we left by train for mainland China. Our first stop was Guangzhou (Canton). There we took a train to a fair place before a fairly nice dorm at the airport. It was the worst meal we had in China. We boarded a plane and arrived in Beijing (Peking) at 10 AM after a very long and exhausting day.

Our first day in China was spent visiting the Great Wall and the Ming Tombs. Both were exciting and almost beyond belief. The Wall was photographed frequently, but the Ming Tombs were a new idea to me. To date, only one tomb has been excavated. The buildings on the grounds are filled with treasures taken from this tomb. Gold, jewels and jade are in abundance. The crowns are jeweled filigreed gold. The light was not adequate for pictures, and the crowds of people would have made it impossible to get a picture.

Our guides told us that it is only recently that people have been able to visit these treasures of their land. The people work six days a week, and there were many buses in the parking area in front of the entrance to the Tombs and at the Great Wall.

The next day we went to the Tumor Research Institute. The Physiognomy and the excellent English of the teachers. He told us of the national study recently completed and about the hospital which we would tour. The study has identified the particular cause of cancer in a region of the country. During the tour it was demonstrated that by knowing the location of the cancer, the staff can identify the area of the country the patient is from. The patients looked clean and comfortable. The beds were close together and the patients had white gowns over their own clothes. This pattern we saw in each hospital we visited throughout China.

In the afternoon, we met with the leaders of the China Nurses' Association to discuss nursing education. Our three type system rather confused them. Their main interest was in baccalaureate education only. Their rationale was that doctor and nurses do almost the same thing, so the education should be equal.

They do have a system which could be described as a central school diploma program. Although we asked, repeatedly to visit a school of nursing, we did not get to see one until the end of our trip.

Many of the venerable nurses (those over 50, the age of retirement) had advanced education here in the States. Although they spoke excellent English, our guides translated. This did take additional time. The younger nurses did not appear to speak English.

The China Nurses Council gave us a banquet in the oldest restaurant in Beijing and that was our introduction to Peking Duck. We did not understand why our hosts were not present, nor were our guides. We learned later that the Council could not afford more guests. The food was abundant and delicious. The beds were photographed every day, and the newborns were a picture of the Liberty Bell. We had been told to bring pictures of our home towns with us as token gifts. I have often wondered what she thought of that card. I was relieved to meet our group, but I was the only one who had gotten to the top of Longevity Hill. And, I was so upset I never took a picture.

We went back to the Beijing Hotel for a rest before continuing to Tianjin. Some of us took a taxi to the Friendship Store for shopping. The cab waited for us and returned us to the hotel. From there we were taken to the train station for the trip to Tianjin. When we arrived there we were met by a delegation of the nursing organization and escorted to the Tianjin Guest house.

The next day we visited a Children's Hospital and a Home for Retired Workers. The residents receive a pension from which they buy their food, clothing and incidents. Some times they do have savings. The family structure of the Chinese is very strong; therefore the residents of the home are those who have no children or children live far away from the parents they cannot get to them. Families are most important to the Chinese. Small children were usually in the company of the older sister who shares the home.

On our next train trip, overnight, to Nanjing (Nanking) we passed through many small villages and farm lands. We were four to a compartment with a upper and two lower bunks. The ride was comfortable and pleasant.

In Nanjing, we visited a maternity hospital. It was clean and clean, and the newborns were delight to behold. However, the dictum of one child to a family was made very clear when we spoke with the children about abortions. In 1980 the hospital had 5000 deliveries and 10,000 abortions. We also learned that women marry at 22 years and men are 24 years old when they marry. So the one child per couple is doubly precious. And, boys are the preferred child. Planning is carried out by the hospital. The laboratory does genetic diagnosis and long term genetic research.

The hospital also sponsored a midwife course which is three years in length. The midwives do the abortions on women who are not pregnant.

The next day we went to Suzhou, "the Venice of China", so called because of the many canals. The city is best known for its many gardens and its embroidery, weaving, and silk industries. We did tour the National Embroidery Research Institute which was founded in 1975. The work was beautiful. The young women who did the embroidery have a fifteen month minute break every two hours to do eye exercise to relieve the strain.

In the afternoon, we visited the Humble Administrator's Garden. This garden was built in 1513 and the main feature was water. There were ten houses and bridges over the ponds and waterways.

The next day was a visit to a commune and typical home to its members. The commune raised fish, pigs, shell, and flowers. Thus, a house was a two story, two bedroom home. We were taken to the bedroom and, then talked with the owner and his wife. They had two daughters. We also visited the kindergarten and the school of this commune.

The following day found us in Shanghai where we visited a clinic and an elementary school of an urban commune. The English was being taught to the fourth grade. Later in the day we visited a Psychiatric hospital which had nearly 1000 patients.

Jefferson Hospital on the Move

On June 20, 1978, the first patient moved into our beautiful new hospital. One hundred and four patients a day were moved in for four days. That move created four floors of a mini hospital on each floor. Doctors' offices and auxiliary services gradually moved into the remaining five floors.

Two years ago, plans were readied for renovations to start on the Thompson and Pavilion Buildings.

Last year, the floors in the older buildings were re-numbered starting with the sixth floor, for compatibility with the new hospital. As a result, there is no longer a sixth floor in the older buildings. After 5th, there is 7th, 8th, etc. Renovations were begun, and to date the following changes have been made.

The Delivery Room Suite has been beautifully reconstructed and is in full operation on the 7th floor of the Pavilion. Its expansion extends over the entire floor to provide single bed labor rooms, a "birthing room", and a recovery room. The Intensive Care Nursery and Transition Nursery have been re-located to the floor above, on 8th Pavilion. The Pediatric Unit on 10 Main has been relocated to 10 Pavilion and will enjoy "rooming in" space for parents and isolation capabilities not available in the past. The Obstetrical Inpatient Service will be expanded to include both 11 and 12 Pavilion, provide more single rooms, and provide enhanced visibility to the Term Nursery from the Nurses' Station.

Medical/Surgical patients will be located on 9, 10, and 14 Pavilion, and a holding area will be relocated to a Thompson Building floor.

In the near future, the Clinical Labs which are now located throughout five different buildings will be consolidated to the first four floors of the Pavilion.

Other changes in the entire Pavilion and which are most noticeable are: complete renovation of the elevators, which will now all open on the Sansom Street side on the ramp; modification of core services including heating, air conditioning, ventilation and plumbing system as well as emergency power capability and fire safety programs.

Patients in the Thompson and Pavilion Buildings are being served meals from newly constructed decentralized pantries located on 3, 9, 10, 11, 12 Thompson and 12 Pavilion. The supply system will be an exchange cart system for medical-surgical supplies as is used now throughout the new hospital.

The hospital information system will extend its computer systems to provide terminals on the patient units, in the not too distant future. Hopefully, when the next Alumni Bulletin is printed all the renovations will be complete and a final report can be sent to you about our "jet age" hospital in a "jet age" world.

Scholarships Granted from 1948 to 1983

The Alumni of the Thomas Jefferson School of Nursing has offered financial assistance to its graduates as they further their education for many years. In 1942 finances were offered as a Loan Fund in Memory of Clara Melville, to be repaid in four years at a 1% interest rate. The amount has increased with the needs of the times and has changed from a loan fund to a scholarship fund.

Working at Jefferson in the early fifties, I recall the increasing emphasis to obtain a Bachelor's Degree for advancement, having obtained my B.S. in Nursing Degree in 1957 and I am sorry that I did not continue toward my Master's Degree shortly thereafter.

TJU Announces Decade Fund

To meet the challenges of this decade in education, health care, and research, the Board of Trustees of Thomas Jefferson University has recently established the Jefferson Decade Fund.

Embracing five vital areas, the Decade Fund seeks support for faculty, students, basic and clinical research, health care delivery, and facilities improvements.

Thomas Jefferson University calls on its family and friends to help fund important new programs and people. “Gifts from alumni, trustees, corporations, foundations, parents, staff and other friends will strengthen Jefferson’s faculty, renew its physical resources, and undergird its financial base,” said Lewis S. Bluemle, Jr., M.D., TJU president. “In giving more each year, supporters will enable Jefferson to pursue new opportunities in the context of long cherished values and traditions.”

This ten-year program seeks a year-by-year, steady increase in gifts to the University. The Fund will include all gifts to Jefferson in the decade 1980-1990. The goal is $5 million by the end of the decade.

You will be invited to support the Decade Fund through the 1994 annual giving campaign of the Nurses’ Alumni Association.

Scholarship Report 1982-83

Ten applications for scholarship assistance were sent, seven were returned and reviewed by the committee.

Judith Kunke (1976), Judith Jones (1971) and Linda Benjamin (1976) were granted scholarships for the Fall Semester of 1982 and Christine Kopstanisz (1981) and Donna Callahan Stables (1979), for the Spring Semester of 1982. Committee members wish to take this opportunity to encourage graduates enrolled full time in a program leading to a degree in nursing to apply for scholarship assistance.

Doris E. Bowman Chairman, Scholarship Committee

Report of Sick and Welfare Committee

During the past twelve months, “get well” cards were sent, and visits were made to members of our Alumni Association who were hospitalized at Jefferson. Get well cards were also sent to other Alumni members who were ill, if this was made known to us.

“Satellite” Committee Report

A growing concern regarding sparsely attended meetings and its inherent ramifications upon our Alumni Society was expressed by many of our actively participating members during the last year. A “Satellite” committee was formed to research the causative factors, develop a plan of action, and provide a forum only for an exchange of Business/Social information, but for professional enrichment as well. Our basic goal was to develop a plan for taking the “mealtimes” to all of you; having first tested your initial response on a local, then regional, and finally national level. While we envision sending alumni to the various areas encompassed by our widely diversified membership, the realistic expectation was to start slowly, evaluate presentations for content and reception, and subsequently tap your own interests rather than offering a “canned” presentation.

To undertake such a task require extensive coordination and a concerted effort by all of you to provide us with the means to reflect your needs. We need to have current mailing lists. If you are aware of the locations of Alumni who may not have contacted us for any variety of reasons, let us know where we might send them new information. We have been reviewing current mailings to see what regional Alumni distribution patterns might already exist and noting these for early consideration as meeting sites. Our committee looks to all of you for your successful effectiveness.

In accordance with our initial goals, as stated above, we wish to announce that Fall program directed to the membership of the GREATER DELAWARE VALLEY but not to the exclusion of any member who might wish to attend. Our location will hopefully offer an incentive to those of you from Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, etc. Registration will, however, be limited to two hundred twenty-five participants (225).

Respectfully submitted,
Valerie M. O’Donnell, R.N.
Assistant Director/SPD
AGREEMENT COMMITTEE

The Agreement Committee has been meeting with the Nursing Alumni Council for nearly three years to determine the best way monies in the Relief Fund and in the Scholarship Fund may be used for the benefit and welfare of the graduates of the Dipoma program in nursing. Both of these funds have been invested in the Jefferson Medical Fund which is handled by the University financial advisors. Accrued interest income is used to provide relief and scholarships.

On May 14, 1983 at the annual business meeting held before the annual luncheon of the Association, our legal counsel outlined the proposed provisions of both funds. She explained that it was necessary to consider Internal Revenue Service requirements in all the planning and in the decisions made.

The Relief Fund established in 1937 provides for medical expenses, support or maintenance for those graduates in need, and who apply for assistance. Under the original plan, the treasurer of the Alumni Association was empowered to supply funds to applicants as directed by the Board of Directors, using the interest income from the fund.

Looking ahead to the time when Alumni members may not be available to handle such requests, the Agreement Committee proposes to transfer the Relief funds from Thomas Jefferson University to the First Pennsylvania Bank to be known as the Jefferson Diploma Nurses’ Relief Fund Trust. The beneficiaries will be graduates of the School of Nursing Diploma Program, College of Allied Health Sciences of Thomas Jefferson University (the former Jefferson Medical College Hospital School of Nursing), and the White Haven School of Nursing. As much of the interest and the principal may be paid to the above-named graduates as the Relief Fund Committee may determine require financial assistance. For the foreseeable future, the Relief Fund Committee should be chaired by the Treasurer of the Alumni Association. She will furnish the Trustees of the Relief Fund all necessary information about applicants for assistance as approved by the Alumni Board of Directors. The Trustees will then issue the relief checks as requested.

Mabel C. Prevost, Chairman
Agreement Committee

News from the Alumni Office

On June 10, 1983 the Alumni Office moved from Jefferson Alumni Hall to the Allied Health Sciences Center (Edison Building). The office is situated on the first floor in a large, bright room. All of the furniture, file cabinets and pictures fit very well, and there is plenty of work space for the mailings that go out at various times of the year.

We appreciate the promptness of our alumni in sending address and name changes which helps to keep our files up-to-date. Because we have a cross file, as well as computerized lists, we can provide you with the latest data on approximately 3100 alumni. If you are seeking classmates for professional or personal reasons, or class reunions, we have lists available at a minimal charge of $2.50 per list.

In 1982-83 we have seven graduates in their nineties who celebrated their birthdays. Flowers and cards were sent to each of them from the Alumni Association. If you know of any graduate who will have or recently had a ninetieth birthday, please contact the Alumni Office with that information.

In the past year, we have received requests for information about the Nurses’ Relief Fund. We will be happy to help you to pay for hospital or medical bills, or for special treatments. Our Association wants to assist alumni in regaining their health. If you need financial assistance, or know of anyone who does, please write to the Nurses’ Alumni Association. The names of graduates requesting or receiving assistance will be held in strict confidence.

Photos sent by some of you in conjunction with the writing of the history of the School of Nursing are in portfolios in the Alumni Office. Thank you for requesting that they be given to the Alumni Office for safe keeping.

All graduates are invited to visit our new office to see our interesting collection of memorabilia consisting of scrapbooks and photographs. We are located in Room 105, 130 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, PA 19107 (on Ninth at Sansom, between Chestnut and Walnut). Our phone number is 299-6871. We are open on the office in Tuesday and Wednesday, 10:00 A.M. to 3:30 P.M. When I am away from the office, calls will be answered by the CAHPS Alumni Office, Room 504, Jefferson Alumni Hall, 1020 Locust Street.

The History of the Jefferson Cap

Jefferson graduated its first class of nurses in 1893. At that time the cap that was worn had a high crown and a wide brim with ruffle around the brim. It was made of a delicate material called “lawn,” similar to material used to make handkerchiefs. The cap resembled the Philadelphia General Cap, which at that time was made of a similar material. In 1894, Susan Hearle, a graduate of Philadelphia General, became Director of Nurses at Jefferson. When she noticed the similarity between caps, Miss Hearle decided that Jefferson Nurses should have their own distinctive cap.

The crown was lowered, the ruffle was removed and the brim was narrowed, flattened and spread like wing tips, across the front of the cap. The material was changed to organdy which gave the cap more body.

In 1932, the cap was worn with the brim starched and the cap more body. Initially, it was traditional to earn the cap by passing the six month probationary period. Now the cap is given to the student to wear as soon as she enters the school.

This was a great responsibility for the student, knowing that the Nurse's Cap originated historically from the veil worn by women who traditionally covered their heads in public, and the cap is a symbol of humility and service to mankind. A responsibility because the Jefferson Cap is recognized and respected the world over, being worn by more than 4500 graduates of the school; many of whom earned their cap and consider it an honor to wear it. (With the closing of the School of Nursing in June of 1982— the total number of graduates will be 5,078). The student is entrusted with the cap and must wear it with dignity and respect for the tradition that is to be upheld.

The above article was presented at Capping Exercises for the Class of 1992, by Patricia Zarella ’51, R.N., B.S.N., Instructor School of Nursing, September 16th to July 1992.
