President's Message

Greetings Fellow Alumni,

My goal for the next two years of my presidency is to encourage the younger Alumni to become actively involved in learning the operation and implementation of Association responsibilities. Operating Codes are in place, to insure a smooth transition and continuation of Committee responsibilities. I heartily recommend and encourage involvement from the younger members of the Association. After the Annual Meeting in May, Maria Gratzik Marinelli, Class of 1971 and Tammy Tichian Magenta, Class of 1981, volunteered to work with the Chairs, of the Relief Trust Fund and Social Committees. The information that is available through our current Officers, Board of Directors and Committee Chairs should be imparted to our younger graduates for our presence to continue to be a viable part of TJU, that has been in place since 1895. Hopefully we will continue to be a viable presence for our graduates and a strong voice for nursing.

As of May, 2002, we have a new office in the Edison Building, Suite 724. The office is smaller and required putting some of our artifacts in the Archives Department, at TJU. The Archives Web site is printed, in the Bulletin, under Alumni Office news along with its Mission Statement.

I greatly appreciate all the advice, suggestions and encouragement I receive from everyone.

Sincerely,

Sarah (Sally) Hindson Wagner
President

A kind and compassionate act is often its own reward.

William John Bennett

Archives

The University Archives and Special Collections Department serves a vital function as Thomas Jefferson University's "institutional memory." It acquires and preserves important records, books, photographs, personal papers, memorabilia, and other historical materials that document the development of Jefferson and its constituent institutions, affiliates and alumni. By providing resources to aid administrative and historical research, the Archives points to where the University is going by showing where it has been. Arts and photographs section is comprised of some 5000 images of Jefferson faculty, alumni, facilities and events, as well as a small number of works of art on paper. Many of these images are available on line in PHDIL. The PHDL database contains selected images from the University Archives at Scott Memorial Library, Thomas Jefferson University and The Historical Society of Pennsylvania. These images document healthcare, architecture, medical education and life in Philadelphia during the 19th and early 20th century. Included within the database are pre-1945 portraits of Jefferson alumni, faculty and trustees; watercolor drawings by Benjamin Ridgeway Evans; photographs of military hospitals; medical society and class portraits; as well as views of anatomy labs, operating rooms and clinics. Users can search for images by name, place, date, subject, event, photographer or donor. On moving to suite 724, we had to place a lot of our memorable in the archives. F. ## Nurses Relief Fund Trust

As you know, we, the Jefferson Nurses' Diploma Alumni Association have a Nurses' "Relief Fund Trust". This money is to assist the graduates of the Diploma School of Nursing and the White Haven School of Nursing, any nurse who is ill, disabled, or in need of additional support. Don't feel badly about asking for assistance, think of it as "Jeff nurses helping Jeff nurses." If you need assistance, or if you know of another nurse needing assistance, write us a letter or fill out the #1 application in the back of the Bulletin and send it to us. All the information in a letter or the application is confidential. This past year we have been able to assist four of our graduates with a monthly stipend. This year we have had one request for assistance and we granted a monthly stipend. The Relief Fund also sends monetary gifts at Christmas time to those graduates known to be home bound or in a nursing home. Birthday flowers and/or cards are sent to our graduates who we know will be celebrating their 80th or over birthday. Please let us know if you're 80 or if you know of a graduate who is over 80.

Social

The Annual Spring Luncheon was very special, as always. We had about 210 attendees and a good time was had by all! We brought back an old custom this year, that is, we had 2 choices for the luncheon. We think that everyone appreciated the choice. We will have 2 choices again next year. Please return your invitation replies by the cut off date as designated, as this will insure your being seated at your class table/s. We would take reservations until the day before the luncheon, but the Dietary Department cannot accommodate us if we do that.

On giving

You give but little when you give of your possessions.
It is when you give of yourself that you truly give,
There are those who give little of the much that they have
And they give it for recognition and their hidden desire makes their gifts unwholesome.
And there are those who have little and give it all.
These are the believers in life and the bounty of life and their coffer is never empty.
There are those who give with joy and that joy is their reward.

Excerpts from "The Prophet" by Kahlil Gibran

A Foodless Food Sale

A bit of news we have today
a foodless food sale is on the way
In these busy days, now who would bake
Pies or cookies, or even a cake?

You'd be surprised if you counted the cost
Of material, heat and time you'd lost.
Cooking for sale is extra work
Yet nobody really wishes to shirk.

So we've hit on a plan that is really grand
And feel quite sure you'll understand
In this little envelope, please put the price
Of a pie, or cake, or something nice.

Without fuss or bother you've done your part
We're sure you'll give with a willing heart.

This is the end of our little tale
Wishing much success for our "Foodless Food Sale."

News About Our Graduates

LTC Madeline M. Ullom, USA NC Ret. LTC Ullom, who served from 1938-1964, was working as an Army nurse in Luzon when the Japanese attack began. The nurses were taken to Corregidor, where they worked in a makeshift hospital in a railroad tunnel. Corregidor fell in early May. I will always remember her for her quote of their commanding officer: "This is an unusual situation and we don't know what will happen. I want each of you to remember that you are an American, you are an officer in the US Army and you know what your duty and responsibility is. There may come a time when there is no one to tell you what to do and no one to guide you, but you will know what your conscience says and you will know the oath you have taken to protect your country and always remember that." July 2, 1942, LTC Ullom was among 54 Army nurses taken to an internment camp in Manila known as Santo Tomas where they continued to treat and work with the sick and wounded. By their liberation in February 1945, 66 Army nurses were interned at Santo Tomas. She weighed 80 pounds when liberated. Her 33 POW months were in her thoughts daily. She said, "You can never forget." She was confident of eventual release. "We always knew the Americans could and would liberate us." She knew her duty and did it.

Audrey Latshaw Sutton, Class of 1950. Audrey graduated from high school 1947 in NJ. Entered Jefferson Hospital, in Philadelphia, PA. To study to be a nurse. Graduated there in 1950. Wrote 2 Nursing Books. One for Practical Nursing, other for regular nursing called, Technique for Bedside Nursing. It was printed in 3 languages. Her Dad and mother saw it in Nassau, British West Indies, Princess Margaret Hospital. Probably was used in England and throughout B. W. Indies. Later years she entered the Engineering Field. Studied in the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA. After completion she worked for Ford Motor Company as a Fluid Mechanic and Air Timanic Engineer in Michigan. Later she was employed by Bechtel Construction, California, for 12 years. She was in different areas while working with this construction company. By this time she was ready for retirement, she thought. A short time later on she started and ran her own High Class Book Store in Alameda, California where she lived. After 12 years she sold out. Now she was ready to get settled. She chose Bisbee, Arizona for various reasons. The climate and the historical community. Audrey purchased a house and two lots. She fixed up the house, painted etc. to abide by the historical part of the community, about 6000 population. Now she is working again, just like her ambition. After being appointed Planning & Zoning Commissioner in Bisbee she was asked to create a map to help city employees locate a specific property. She created a map including parcels, zones, street addresses, walls and steps, many houses in Bisbee are accessible only via steps. So she has a big assignment and is doing fine in it. By this time she had a husband who passed away at 52 with cancer. Four children, two sons and two daughters. Larry at six drowned at Wildwood NJ. Douglas, 19, fell from a bridge construction in Virginia and was killed in 1973. Has two daughters and four grandchildren, 94+ year old mother and she, a grandmother.

Celebrating 110 Years of Nursing Education

On October 15, 2001 CHP Department of Nursing and the Jefferson Nurses' Alumni Association celebrated this occasion by co-sponsoring a dinner held in the Ben Franklin Ballroom. Many happy memories were remembered by those of us who attended the annual luncheons at the Ben. Senator Arlen Specter was unable to receive the award for his dedication to nursing education. The floral center pieces and notebooks were made by Dottie Grieb, Director of CHP Alumni Affairs. A crystal paperweight was presented to Pam Watson, RN, ScD, Chair CHP Department of Nursing, for dedication and commitment to Nursing Education at TJU for 14 years. Pam is going to the University of Texas and will be Dean for the Department of Nursing. Everyone was encouraged to relate some of their experiences as students at TJU.

Memoirs

My children always wanted to know why I went into nursing and why I selected Thomas Jefferson when I lived so far away in upstate New York. Nursing has been in my blood for a long time and I graduated from Thomas Jefferson way back in 1929. I've always been very proud of my degree and even today my class picture and diploma hang on the wall in my apartment. Right next is a framed copy of the Florence Nightingale pledge. I particularly like the commitment in the "Pledge to always elevate our profession". That's how new nurses are made, after all. It was a wonderful, married lady who lived next door to my grandparents who motivated me to be a nurse. Margaret Cuthbert was her name-I'll never forget her-and she told me over and over when I was a little girl that nursing was a noble and rewarding profession. I was fascinated with her stories of nursing and decided at an early age that I wanted to become a nurse. Then it was a decision on where to go. The opportunities for a nursing education was far more limited in those days of the roaring 20's. So even though Philadelphia was a long way from my hometown of Elmira, NY, it's where I went with my father to visit after I graduated from high school in 1926. I liked what I saw and was accepted in the 3-year program. The nursing day was a 12-hour day, with work intermingled with classes, starting at 7AM. It was hard work and often manual labor. There were about 25 other students in my class and I lived in a dormitory on Spruce Street. My friends, like Dorothy Confer and Minnie Souders, were all nurses and many remained life long friends. Although the pay was poor in those days, the work was rewarding in every other way. I did private duty nursing after graduation and moved in with a friend on 11th Street. Living near the hospital in case of emergencies was a necessity in those days. I quit active-nursing when I married in 1932. At that time, married women were not expected to work outside the home. But of course I shared my nursing knowledge with my family and friends for decades after. And I still do so today! I always loved the Jefferson Uniform. When my grand-daughters were young, I found a local seamstress who recreated our 1929 dress: a pink uniform, white apron and bib with an organdy cap. She made them to fit a small Barbie-like doll and they were a big hit with the girls. When I started working as a nurse, I added my own colorful handkerchiefs to the pocket. I had florals of every color. Years later, I came across a drawerful of them. Some of the white ones I had made into angels that my grandchildren hang on the Christmas tree each year. Others hang on my wall in a collage. I do enjoy being surrounded by reminders of my time at Jefferson! And I thank Margaret Cuthbert for putting me on the right track so long ago. Now it's our turn to do the same for future generations of nurses.

A Nurse 2002

Thank you to Dr. Watson for asking me to speak.

Welcome to Jefferson, to a new beginning and to the profession of nursing.

I'm a very proud graduate of the Diploma School of Nursing and the Baccalaureate Program at Jefferson. I've worked at Jefferson, as an oncology nurse, for 20 years. Today I've met colleges, mentors and friends.

Jefferson instilled in me a sense of professionalism, a conviction that I could accomplish my goals in life, but most important a love of nursing.

I am a nurse. Yes, I won awards, traveled across the country lecturing about oncology. I've written chapters for books and articles for journals. I teach, I'm involved in all phases of clinical research, but most important of all is "I AM A NURSE".

Which leads me to my hidden agenda item, a passion of mine. The love of nursing. I would like to start with a poem written by a senior nursing student, a few years ago.

I touched some one today,
For one single moment, the grasp of her hand squeezed mine
It gave me a strength, I never knew I had
For one precious moment, she wasn't a dying person,
But rather a magician with supernatural power,
Power to me overcome EMOTIONS
the human obstacle which prevented me from reaching out and offering her more than a hand offering her myself
I touched someone today
or rather today, I allowed someone to touch me in a unique way.

This poem summed up for me the essence of nursing. Yes the very unique ability to touch someone, but have them touch you back. This is the presence of nursing. The honor of touching and having that been touched in such a way that it changes your whole life. What other profession allows you the honor of watching someone take their first breath or their last.

A young nurse who recently came for an interview asked me a rather simple question, that I had a simple reply to. She wanted to know what has changed so drastically in nursing? My response was simply. Nothing really, but sometimes those that come into the profession. These are individuals who come in expecting that the profession owes them. I suspect that at the end of my career, I'll owe the profession for what it has done for me.

I can truly say that after 20 years I never regretted becoming a nurse. The profession is a gift, that if you accept, the rewards will be both bountiful and life altering. I received that gift. I do see the world through much different eyes every day that I am a nurse. This gift if you choose to accept will bring you a joy you never would understand.

Is it hard, yes.

Is it challenging, yes.

Is it scary, yes.

Will some days you wonder why you ever did it, yes.

But if you open yourself up and allow yourself to be touched, the answer will come very easy. The rewards far outweigh what you give.

After 20 years, I can still say that I love being a nurse. Have I accomplished a lot, I guess so, but my very best days sometimes come not when I'm lecturing across the country, but when I have the honor of bathing someone, holding their hand, being told that someone who was a complete stranger, from a completely different world thanks me for caring and tells me she loves me and dies a week later. I made a difference that all the money in the world couldn't buy.

Well if you haven't guessed yet, I was the author of that poem twenty years ago as a senior nursing student. Twenty years later, I continue to be touched. I have an even greater passion for nursing now than I did then. I work full time, I'm a mom to three wonderful children and I've overcome some big obstacles along the way. But twenty years later, I know I'm a better person for having been a nurse. I really hope that twenty years from now you will say the same.

Thank you.

A Parish Nurse..What's That?

Two years ago I came out of "retirement" and became a Parish Nurse. My congregation prefers the title Pastoral Care Coordinator, but my nursing background was part of the qualifications and is what provides me with the skills necessary to do the job.

I hadn't thought much about the field of Parish Nursing, if indeed I had ever heard of it. Most of my professional career was spent in Community Health. I had worked in a small municipality in New Jersey as an independent contractor for the Board of Health. That town is one square mile in area and has a population of about 5000. Health promotion and education, assessments and referrals made up the majority of my practice. I saw newborns and those at the end of their lives and everyone in between on my home visits. It was an amazing experience!

My husband was able to retire at fifty-five and so we moved to the Metro Atlanta area to be closer to our children and grandchildren. It is a wonderful place and we are really blessed to live here. One Sunday there was a paragraph in our church bulletin about the position I now have. While reading it, Bob nudged me and said, "This sounds like your old job." It certainly did. This "community" calls itself a congregation. It has the same needs as that town in New Jersey. Our Pastors were wise enough to recognize that a nurse could help insure the well-being of the members.

Parish Nursing was born in 1984 when a hospital Chaplain in a Chicago suburb created a partnership with six churches in the area. The ANA recognized it as a speciality area in 1997 and published Standards and Scopes of Parish Nursing in 1998.

My role as Pastoral Care Coordinator includes health education, referrals and, health advocacy (sound familiar?), in a faith based setting. I work with a large group of volunteers from within the congregation who help in many areas. I am a member of the ministry team along with my Pastors and others who are dedicated to meet the spiritual, emotional and physical needs of the congregation and the community around us.

More and more, physicians are admitting that the connection between healing and faith is real. There have been several studies that demonstrate better outcomes when patients believe in God and pray. Some doctors now pray with their patients.

The challenge offered to the nursing profession by Parish nurses is to reclaim, boldly, the spiritual aspect of nursing care. I recently heard parish Nursing called the quiet revolution. I hope that it does not remain quiet much longer. I invite you to approach the leaders of your congregations and suggest that they begin a program led by a nurse. No two positions will be exactly alike as no two faith communities are exactly alike. That is one more thing that makes this non-traditional nursing practice so unique. I am truly blessed to have this opportunity to serve in this exciting new field.

Information and resources about Parish nursing are available from the International Parish Nurse resource Center at 475 E. Lockwood in ST. Louis, MO 63119.

From morn till night!

Into the moonlight
Whiter than snow,
Waving so flower like
When the winds blow!

Into the starlight,
Rushing in spray,
Happy at midnight,
Happy by day!

Ever in motion,
Blithesome and cheery,
Still climbing heavenward,
Never weary;

Glad of all weathers,
Still seeming best
Upward or downward
Motion thy rest;

Full of a nature
Nothing can tame,
Changed every moment,
Ever the same;

Ceaseless aspiring,
Ceaseless content,
Darkness or sunshine
Thy element;

Glorious fountain!
Let my heart be
Fresh, changeful, constant,
Upward like thee!

Class of '52 Trolley Tour

Fifty years! Who could know in 1952 when we graduated just where our lives would take us or whether our paths would ever cross again? Of the seventy-five graduates in our year book, counting both the February and September groups, we knew for sure of the deaths of fifteen of us. There were fifteen more who had unknown addresses. Internet searches were nonproductive, so we can only wonder where they are. Last summer I began to think about what a milestone this year would be for all of us, so I started writing to some of my classmates that I had stayed in touch over the years. Later a letter went out to all the addresses we had. I felt quite sure we would not be happy to attend the luncheon and then just leave Philadelphia. We needed more time together. Mitzie McFadden Haerberlein who still lives in Philadelphia suggested a trolley ride that would show us all around the city so that we could see some of the changes that had taken place in 50 years. An enthusiastic response came back quickly from enough people to allow me to sign a contract with the trolley company for a two hour tour the same afternoon as the luncheon. Twenty-four classmates came to the luncheon and all but a couple came on the trolley ride. Some brought along husbands and friends. The luncheon was lovely and we were honored guests of the Alumni Association. At first, as we gathered for a social hour, we spent a lot of time checking out name tags. In most cases, as soon as one of us smiled or spoke, the face came familiar in an instant. We gathered at our designated tables and had the traditional picture taken. Skip Anderson Winters thoughtfully made a beautiful bookmark in black and blue Jeff colors for each place setting. She also brought with her and put in the center of a table a beautiful doll she had dressed (in 1952) in a Jeff uniform, cape and cap. Many people came to admire the doll and wanted to know where they could get one. She could have had an auction right then and made a bundle! Several of our classmates who could not attend sent letters to bring us up to date about themselves and I shared those letters with all. Others brought old pictures of our training days or previous reunions. At three PM the trolley was in front of Alumni Hall to pick us up. Of special interest to us was the new mural that was painted at Broad and Vine Streets. Philadelphia has come up with a wonderful solution to the urban blight of graffiti. They have recruited all the talented graffiti artists to paint murals instead and it has worked. The mural at Broad and Vine is four stories high and is called "Nursing, Past, Present and Future." Some scaffolding was still in place because it is still not quite finished, but we could see most of it. The trolley stopped and we had a chance to get out for a look. Mark, our driver, was thoughtfully attentive and helped each of us off the trolley as if we were fragile. I don't know why anyone would think that. For that afternoon we were twenty again and were transported to a time in our lives that was special. We loved it! He also took group pictures with one camera after the other so we all be included. While we were there, we gathered and had a solemn moment to remember all our classmates who have died. As each name was read, images came to our mind's eye of the unique qualities of each one and special memories of our experience with them in our three years at Jeff. Those names are: Irene Wilson Flanagan, Dorothy Thumm Earle, Lois Powell Glasgow, Eloise Hippensteel, Dorothy Creek Howley, Dee Evey Justice, Jane Beard Maxwell, Genevieve Domchick McTiernan, Joan Hardish Reid, Grace Richard, Phyliss Hatlem Rigano, Anita Goff Partington, Annette Otrrosina Boyer, Claudette Zechman Strohm and Nancy Greising Wilhelm. The we read the "Mary Stewart Prayer" which was in our yearbook. It was not a prayer that was written specifically for nurses, but it definitely spoke to the best qualities of what our years at Jeff instilled in us. In part, it says, "Teach us to put into action our better impulses straight forward and unafraid. Grant that we may realize it is the little things that create differences; that in the big things in life we are as one and may we strive to touch and to know the common heart of us all..." Back on the trolley, Henry, our guide, continued his running commentary of the many changes in the city. He was very articulate and well informed. Some of the places we saw were the Benjamin Franklin Parkway, the steps near the Museum of Art that were made famous by Sylvester Stallone in the movie "Rocky," many of the old churches that are part of Philadelphia's colonial history, Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell, (both protected by high security measures since 9/11, Society Hill with all its refurbished, expensive real estate, Penn's Landing, which is a beautiful park near what used to be the dangerous waterfront that we were cautioned to avoid in 1950. We drove past 1012 Spruce St. and what was our front door to the nurses home. Jean Flanagan had pictures of what it looks like inside now that it has been made into condominiums. There is a beautiful courtyard behind the old buildings about where our snack bar used to be on the way to the "new building". We all wondered if we could sneak in and out the back door to go up the street in your pajamas to get a "Philly" steak sandwich at 1:30 in the morning. Our reunion was rich with fond memories and a perfect way to observe this milestone in our lives.

Dear Sally, President, Jefferson Nurses' Alumni Association,

Words can not describe our wonderful opportunity to renew our experiences and fun we had as nursing students at, Jefferson. Each classmate was a treasure and will remain that way even though our individual lives have been spread throughout the country. We, and the school can be proud that the nurses from our class have contributed our skilled services to the public and nursing communities. As a member of the class of 1952, I wish to thank you for the lovely luncheon and the opportunity to again renew my friendships with so many wonderful classmates. Thank you so much for your time, efforts, delicious luncheon and sharing the alumni day. The day will continue to give me many pleasurable memories.
