Journals

Over 3,500 current full-text electronic journal subscriptions, as well as thousands of older or freely-available titles, are accessible to Jefferson users on the Library's website. Your Campus Key provides you with remote access to these titles. The Library also maintains an extensive collection of research literature in bound journal volumes located on the third floor. Search the Journals database:

<http://library.jefferson.edu/find/journals.cfm>

Books

The Library's scholarly collection of more than 85,100 books is located on the 4th floor. There is also a leisure-reading collection of popular fiction and non-fiction located on the 1st floor. Both collections are accessible for use by Jeffersonians 24 hours a day. In addition, the Jefferson community has access to a growing collection of over 1,375 electronic books. Search for books in the Library Catalog on the Library's website:

University Archives and Special Collections

These non-circulating collections are located in Room 401. The University Archives acquires and preserves important TJU records and departmental publications, faculty and student personal papers, memorabilia, photographs, and historical artifacts. The Special Collections include approximately 3,700 books recording the history of health sciences from the 16th century to the present.

Anatomical Drawing, Artist unknown, 40" x 30"

Colored pencil, gouache on linen-backed paper, 1930s-1950s

The Daniel Baugh Institute of Anatomy (1911-1968) at Jefferson Medical College was located at 11th and Clinton Streets. The DBI housed an auditorium, dissection rooms, and a pathology museum. It commissioned hundreds of oversized pedagogical drawings, like these, for easy viewing in the large lecture hall. Artists who produced these works included talented post-graduates or non-Jefferson art students who copied from textbook images and cadavers.

Library Hours

Academic year 2015-2016

Floors 1-4 of Scott Memorial Library and the computer lab in JAH 311 are open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. A TJU I.D. is required for access. Computers with internet access and Microsoft Office applications are available on all four floors of the Library.

Technology Resources

Scott Memorial Library offers access to computers on all library floors and in five computer classrooms on campus. Classroom computers are available for general use any time they're not reserved. There are two classrooms on the 3rd floor of the Scott Building (50 iMacs in 306 and 30 Windows7 in 307), two classrooms on the mezzanine of Jefferson Alumni Hall (40 in M13A and 40 in M13B), and 25 (iMac) in 311 JAH. The 311 classroom is accessible 24/7 with your Jefferson ID.

Specialized software for creating online learning content, editing video, statistics, and mapping are available in some locations. JAH M12 provides access to a variety of instructional software and video editing tools. Anatomy visualization, SAS, SPSS, GIS and other tools are also available. Please check our website for specific locations: <http://library.jefferson.edu/tech/classrooms.cfm>

Wireless network access is provided in the library and in all TJU teaching spaces. Support for wireless mobile devices is available at the IS&T support desk on the second floor of the Scott Library.

Expanded Study Spaces in Scott Library

A number of renovation projects took place this summer with the aim of upgrading and increasing Scott Library's study spaces. The Scott Café on the first floor got some comfy new furniture, but the big changes were on the 2nd and 3rd floors:

Second Floor

- A variety of flexible new furniture options were added to support group study, including new tables, counters, chairs, and partially-enclosed study "booths."
- All of the chairs were replaced at the remaining tables and carrels.
- Additional wiring was added to support power and charging for your laptops and mobile devices. Many of the new tables have built-in power supplies.

Third Floor

- Most of the bound journal stacks were removed to create more study space with new furniture options for individual and quiet group study, including carrels and single and group pods.
- All of the chairs were replaced at the remaining carrels.
- Additional wiring was added to support power and charging for your laptops and mobile devices. The new tables, carrels, and pods have built-in power supplies.

We apologize to those of you who endured the construction noise and disruption these past few months. If you're just returning to campus we welcome you back to a lighter, more attractive space with expanded options for group or individual study.
