Hi all, I was going to try for something witty and memorable but everything I could come up with was trite and stale. On the right are my sister and parents in order of increasing age from left to right. On the left side of the page is a picture of me in my very expensive suit standing in Febb Hall. (I used to watch a lot of Looney Toons as a kid)

With warmest gratitude to those for which this accomplishment could not be possible:
 Thank you to my Parents, Tuong and Nu, for your selfless love and unending support;
 Thank you to my Brother, David, for always being there for me in times of need;
 Thank you to my Sister, Christy and her family, for your most generous support and love;
 And mostly thank you to my Husband, Brian, for your enduring friendship, uplifting humor, supportive faith in me, and the most wonderful love to make my life its most happiest and rewarding.
 I love you all so much.

No. 2
The power of the sharpener
I witness every day,
As dull and useless I approach
And sharp am borne away.
Each time I enter some of me
I lose, but what of that?
I'd rather die with a good point
Than live forever flat.

Catherine Liu

June 28, 1978 — March 2, 2003

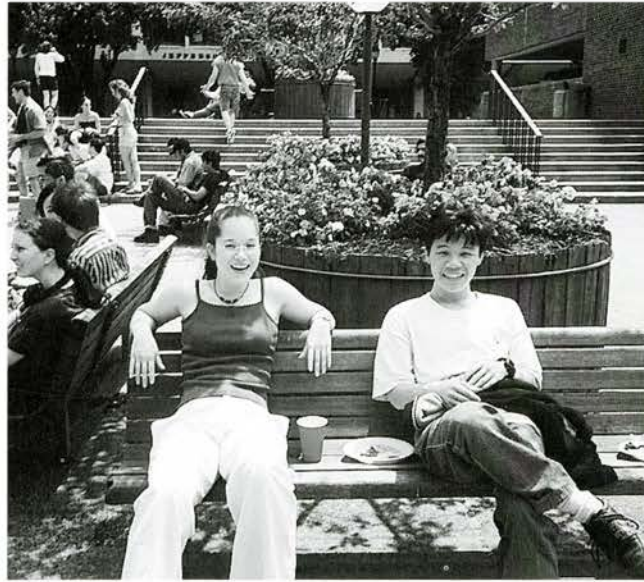

Those who knew Catherine well loved her for her quiet beauty, inner resolve, and her unconditional friendship. Catherine was always there for you — ready to loan you her stuffed animals to hug, her notes (in impeccable handwriting) to read, and, most especially, her time and an ear to listen. She was the one who always wanted you to do what was right, because she always believed you could. We all changed during our journey together, and it was inspiring to see Catherine's transformation. Her quiet beauty became a stunning elegance and she pursued all her loves — obstetrics and gynecology, classical and alternative music, running, and of course her friendships, with an all-out passion. Catherine lived and loved on the high road, forgoing the shortcuts, never taking the easy way out, and always putting her friends, her family, and her duty before herself. It is heartbreaking to consider that in some ways the amazing potential that Catherine exuded will never be reached — but in others, you cannot help but realize how many ways in which it already has. Catherine changed us all for the better and her legacy will live on in her family, her friends, her patients, and anyone else whose life Catherine touched in a way that only she could.

Issue 2, Winter 2002

Cover Art by Rupal Mehta; Photograph by Nethra Ankam

Dear Readers,

Welcome to Inside Out!

Jefferson's Art Organization was started Fall of 1999 with the goal of fostering dialogue between students, faculty, medical employees, patients, and the community at large. We intend to create a forum that brings people together and invites us to stop in our footsteps, reflect, and open our eyes to new ways of seeing and interacting with the world around us.

The first issue of Inside Out and the first two Jeff Cafés (Dec 2000, March 2001) stirred a kind of energy that has moved the community not only to voice itself, but also to listen. This energy has enabled the production of our second issue, and will hopefully continue to resonate and inspire us to continue these activities throughout the years. This is an invitation to think about what we are dealing with as patients, care takers, and most of all, as people.

Sincerely,
Anne Marie Chomat

The Kuwaiti Soldier

You look at me
Your eyes are so big so big

we bombed you and we bombed you we killed your women and slaughtered your children
we destroyed your mosque and ravaged your home you look at me — your blood is on my white gloves you are so thin but your eyes are so big you're not my enemy

we bombed you and bombed you
we killed your women and slaughtered your children
we destroyed your mosque and ravaged your home
you look at me now look at me
you're not my enemy

so go now
you no longer bleed
I'll see you again — the black gold we'll bomb you and bomb you we'll kill your women and slaughter your children we'll destroy your mosque and we'll ravage your home

I'll be in white — you'll be in green funny as it may seem you are not my enemy

Sensitivity

Step in the shower
How's the water?
It needs to be strong
Good. Good.
It's not too hot? It's not too cold?
Good. Good.
Is it coming off?
No, don't come out just yet.
A little longer. A little longer.
It seems to be scrubbing off now
Good. Good.
Yes, I know it's been long now
We have to make sure, you know
Okay, you can step out now.
Here's a towel to wipe off any residue.
There you go now. You're all done.
Congratulations, Doctor.

My Mother is Not a Fish

my mother is not a fish
she was bald, though not a touch of hair and I worked on — I didn't care and the toxins ran in and I ran out to things more important no doubt providence smiled and the cancer subsided

despite my foolish confidence despite my ignorance despite my absence
despite my head up my ass

providence smiled and the cancer subsided

hear me now and make this wish don't let your mother be a fish

Samuel D. Gross Professor of Surgery

Dr. Dafoe joined Jefferson in August 2000 from Stanford University Medical Center in California, where he was Associate Professor and Chief of the Division of Transplantation. An expert in kidney and pancreatic transplantation, Dr. Dafoe built Stanford's program in abdominal organ transplants from zero to more than 225 per year and has a similar growth in activity under way at Jefferson, with the help of key transplantation surgeons recruited here. Having published more than 170 scientific articles, Dr. Dafoe is recognized primarily for his research in the development of insulin-producing pancreatic islets for the treatment of diabetes through transplantation. He received the American Diabetes Association's Rosalyn S. Yalow Research and Development Award. Dr. Dafoe is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and the American Surgical Association and a member of numerous professional organizations.

Obstetrics and Gynecology

Vincenzo Berghella, MD (Acting Chair)

Class of 1990 and on staff at Jefferson since 1994, Dr. Berghella has received three consecutive Excellence in Teaching Awards from Jefferson Medical College, as well as a Berlex Scholar Award in Clinical Research and a Philadelphia Perinatal Society Research Award. Dr. Berghella has also been awarded grants for his clinical research through the auspices of the Center for Research on Women and Newborn Health and the National Institutes of Health's Multicenter Maternal-Fetal Medicine Units Network. He is a Fellow of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology and a member of numerous prominent international, national and regional professional organizations.

Roy Proujansky, MD
The Robert L. Brent Professor of Pediatrics

The acquisition of Dr. Proujansky, who is also Associate Dean of Jefferson Medical College as well as a Professor of Pediatrics, is a great benefit of Jefferson University Hospital's professional relationship with the Alfred I. duPont Hospital for Children in Wilmington. Based at duPont, Dr. Proujansky is Chief Executive of the Practice, Nemours Children's Clinic - Wilmington. He specializes in pediatric gastroenterology and nutrition, treating infants, children and adolescents for chronic liver, malabsorptive and feeding disorders, as well as for abdominal pain and inflammatory bowel disease such as Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis. Dr. Proujansky's primary area of research interest has been in childhood inflammatory bowel disease.

1st Year:

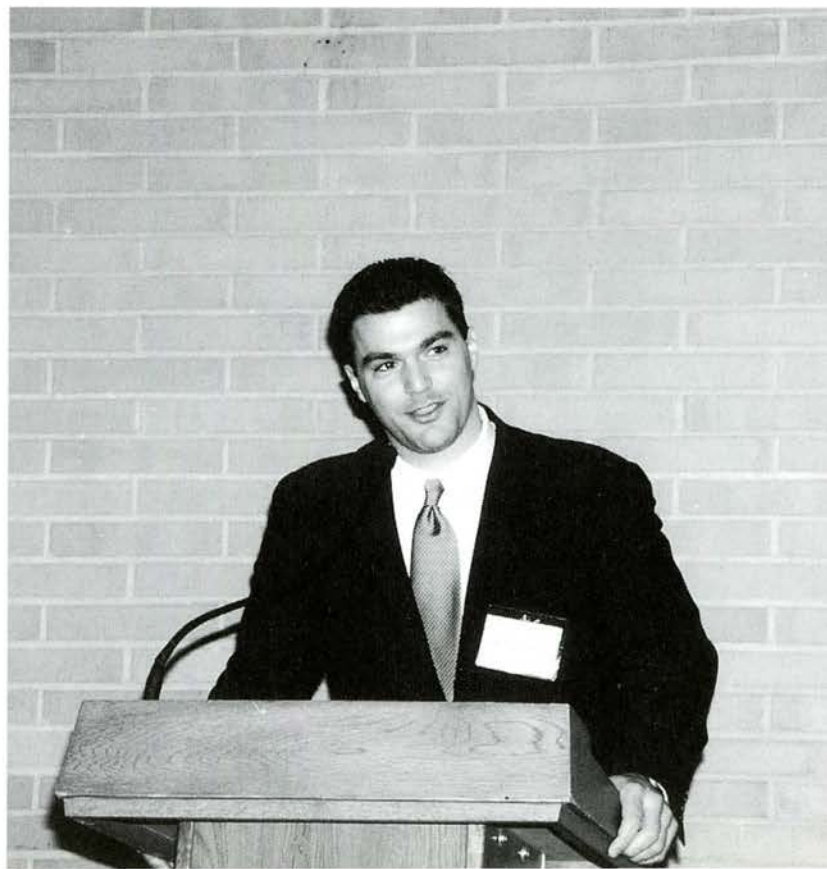

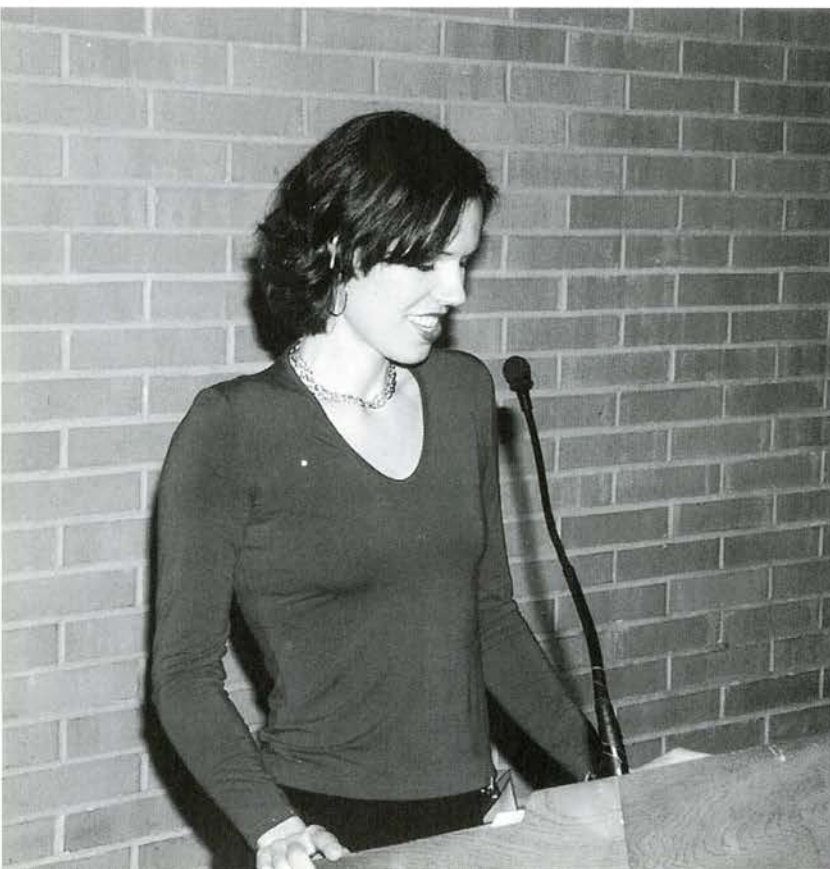

The White Coat Ceremony

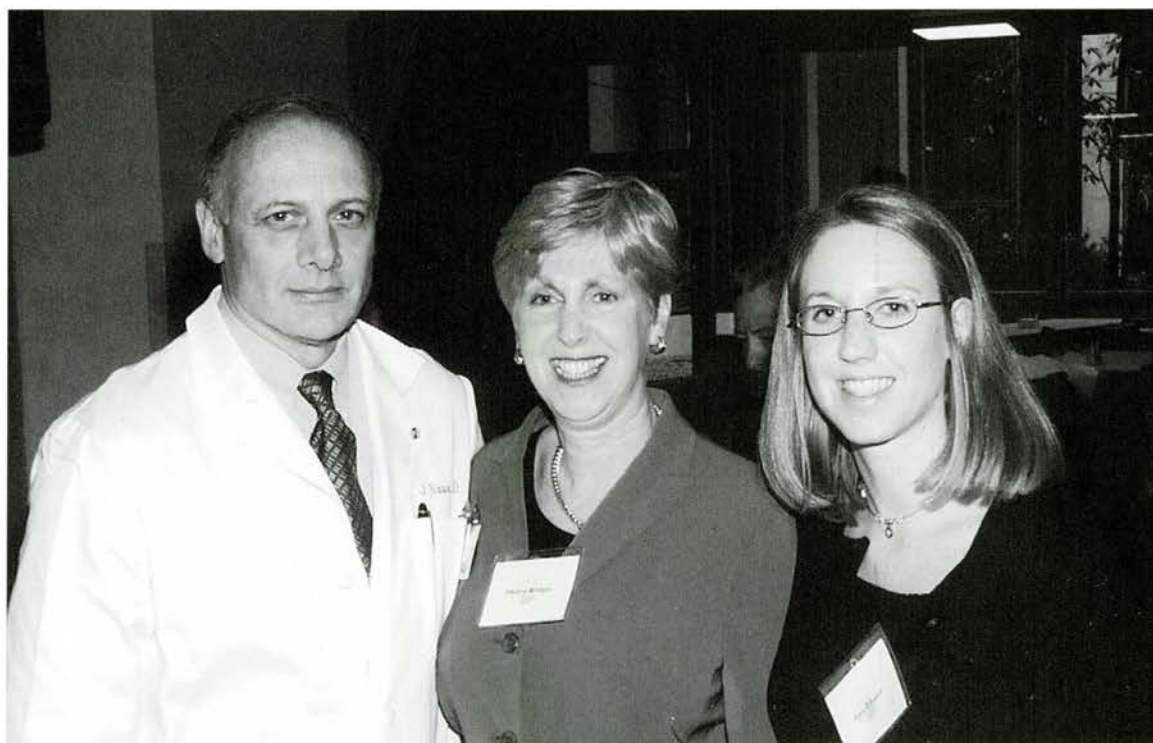

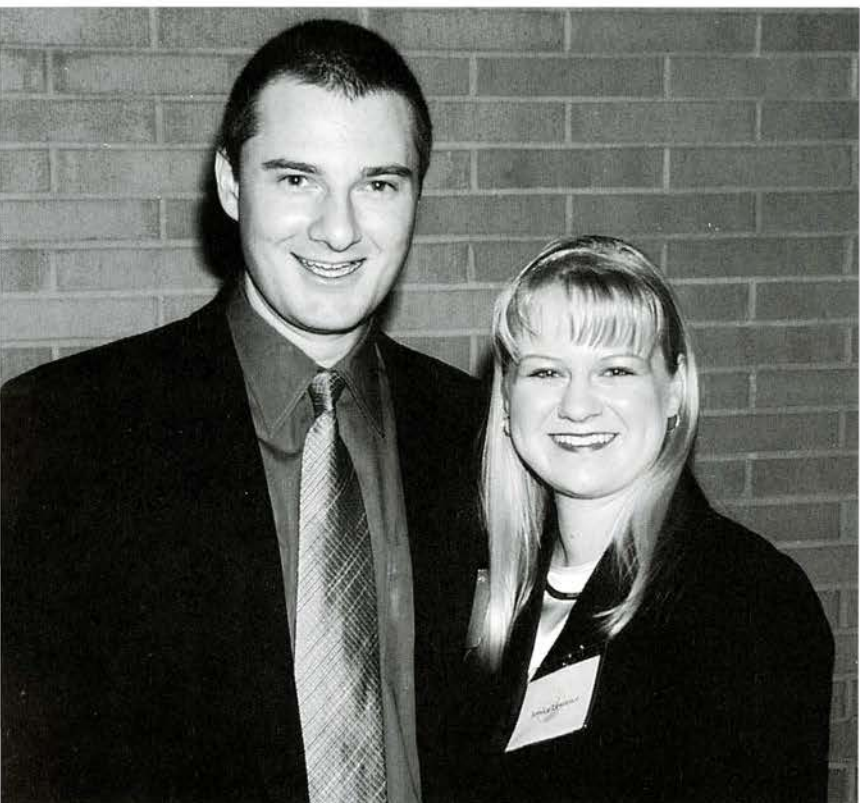

The Hippocratic Oath

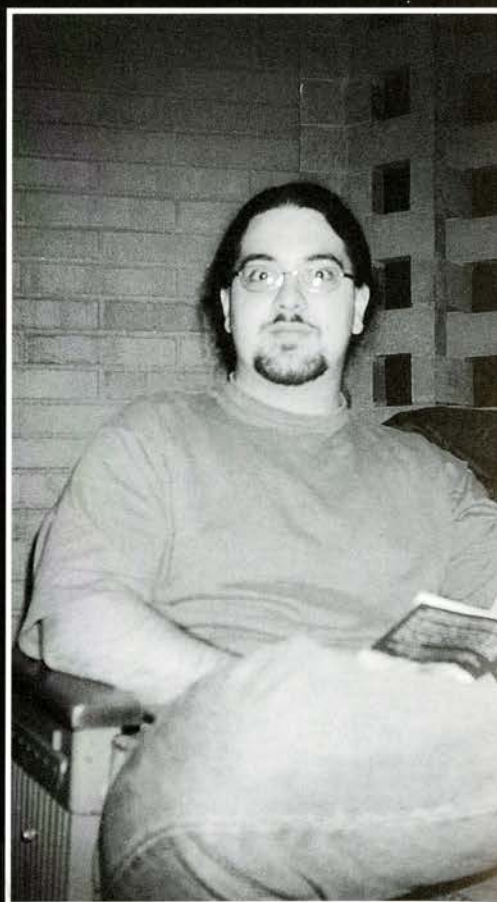

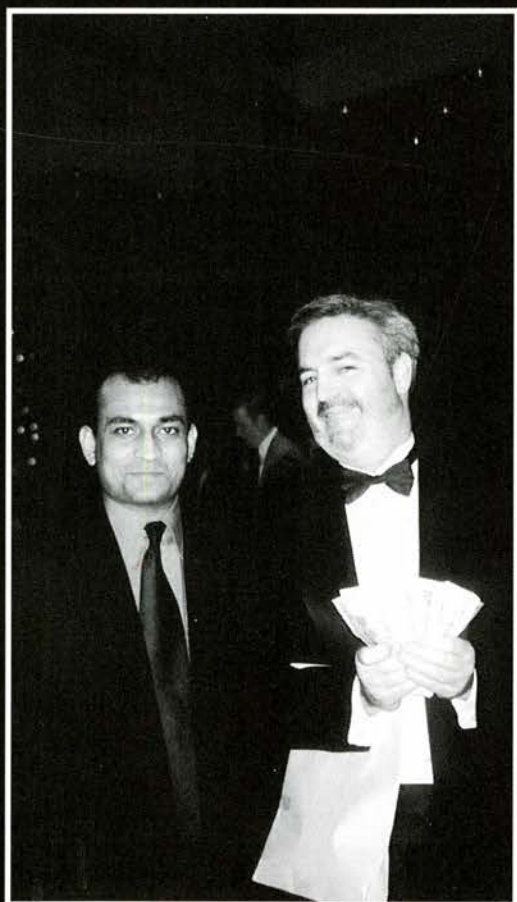

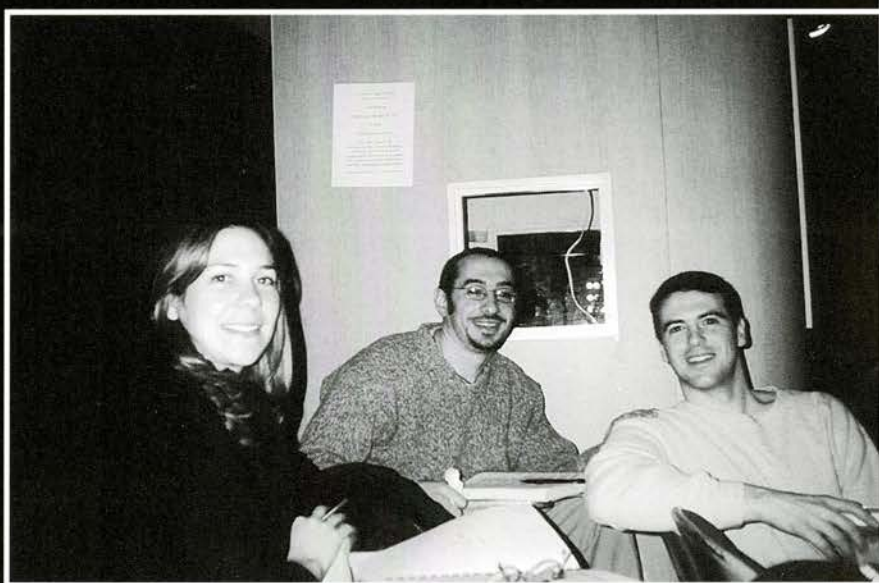

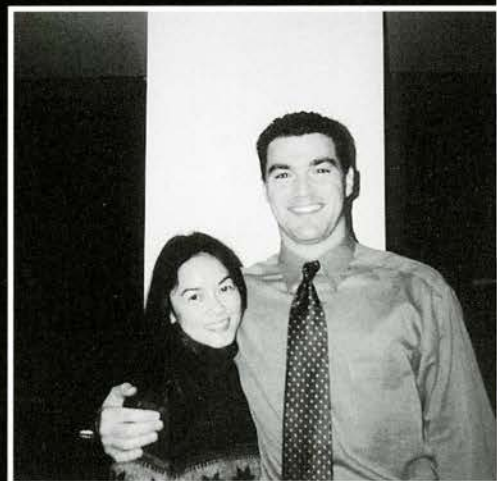

I do solemnly swear by that which I hold most sacred;
That I will be loyal to the profession of medicine, just to its members, and generous to its institutions;
That I will lead my life and practice my art in uprightness and honor;
That I will give respect and gratitude to those who have taught me this art;
That into whatsoever house I shall enter, it shall be for the good of the sick to the utmost of my power, I holding myself aloof from wrong, from corruption, from the tempting of others to vice;
That I will exercise my art for the best care of my patients,
And I will give no drug, perform no operation for a criminal purpose, even if solicited, far less suggest it;
That whatsoever I shall see or hear of the lives of my patients, which is not fitting to be spoken, I will keep inviolably secret.
These things I do promise upon my honor.

Dear Reena,

Only a few years ago, you were finishing up High School and now here you are, a doctor ready to serve the medical field. We are so proud of you and the determination you have displayed throughout this very important part of your life. You have matured into a beautiful and independent woman, daughter and sister. We wish you the very best in your residency and in your career. We see only the best and brightest things in your future.

Love Grandma, Mom, Dad, Zeena, and Suraj

You already knew you wanted to become a doctor!

Congratulations Emmanuelle!

To Our Dearest Susan:
After years of blood, sweat and tears, you've bloomed into an intelligent, beautiful woman who can now call herself Doctor. We are incredibly proud of all your accomplishments and await your future achievements for we know you will do great things in life. We love you so much. Congratulations Dr. Lin!
You made it!

Love,
Dad, Mom and Sara

Dear Ashish,

We are extremely proud of you and your accomplishments. You have undertaken the most rigorous education, pushed yourself to the limit and now you will go into the world ready to use your talents and education on behalf of the rest of us.
You deserve and have our heartfelt gratitude. You are among the most talented and caring new physicians in the country and we are confident that you are well prepared to continue training and provide compassionate patient care of the highest quality. Congratulations, with all the love and pride in the world.

Nethra,

Medical education is not completed at the medical school:
it is only begun.

William Welch

A physician is obligated to consider more than a diseased organ, more even than the whole man- he must view the man in his own world.

Harvey Cushing

There are no such things as incurable, there are only things for which man has not found a cure.

Bernard Baruch

No matter where you go,
No matter what you do,
Know that now, at this moment,
We are SO proud of you!

We knew you could do it! Congratulations!!!

Dear Elliot,

The rewards of being a doctor far exceed the trials of becoming one. The medical studies you have struggled with have provided you with a knowledge base upon which you are obligated to build your citadel. It is an endeavor that will last a lifetime--- a life dedicated to the ever changing realm of medical science, while at the same time a life dedicated to the traditional ethical principles of life that form the basis of humaneness in medicine. This is your special moment in time—a time for reflection to be shared and cherished with your family.

Dear Sweet Chalanda,
We are so very proud of you. You are the sunshine of our lives. All of your life you have given us nothing but love, joy, and happiness. We thank GOD for giving you to us as our blessing. Now you are ready to share your love and talent with all the children that you treat. There is no doubt that you will be an excellent doctor. The world is truly a better place because you are here. You deserve the very best in life and we pray that you will always have it. Words cannot express the love and pride we have for you. Always stay your sweet loving self. I know Grandpa is smiling down on you.
Love from Mom, Macey, and Rhonda

Dearest Matthew,

Words cannot express our pride in you today. You have mastered a challenge that few are presented with. We love you very much. You exemplify intelligence, sincerity, and compassion.

Dear Jaime,

Jaime, in French it denotes love. To us it means both love and pride. Pride in all you have achieved and all you will achieve. Be proud of yourself for you have accomplished so much in your short twenty-three years. Congratulations and best wishes for much happiness and success as you begin a new and exciting chapter in your life as Jaime Baratta, MD. You are so special to us.

We also extend our congratulations to the Class of 2003, especially Parisa, Susan, and Amy and all the PSU "Progs."

Much love, Mom and Dad

Matt,

Congratulations on another challenge that you have met with outstanding perseverance and success!

We know that you will be a compassionate physician with empathy for every patient and person that will have the good fortune to know you.

We thank God for you and your talents.

June, 2003

Dear Members of the Class of 2003 of Jefferson Medical College,

It is hard to believe that the time is approaching when you will cross the stage, receive your Doctor of Medicine degree from our beloved College, and embark on the next step of your journey towards preventing and healing disease and relieving suffering. I remember my first discussions with you as an Associate Dean during orientation, my presentation during the Doctor in Health and Illness course, our Spring of Challenges in the Introduction to Clinical Medicine, and our Acid Base small group sessions during your third year rotation in Medicine here at Jefferson. Having watched you develop as medical students, I now welcome you as colleagues entering our wonderful profession of service.

You have all changed, certainly grown and matured in your confidence as clinicians, but other dimensions of who you are have not changed. The motivation that brought you to Jefferson was service to others, using your special talents and gifts to make better the lives of others. We have merely taught you how to live that commitment in medicine.

If you are like me, you will read through this yearbook with increasing nostalgia as the years go by. You will review the yearbook before and after each reunion, watching your classmates move through life, always remembering the special memories you will share forever. And, you will smile as you look back at those times as some of the most difficult, the most enjoyable, and the most rewarding of your life.

Treasure this book. But more importantly treasure what it represents. The coming together of gifted, caring young people pursuing an ideal; the sharing of a rich educational experience; and the start of lives apart that remain inextricably linked not only to each other, but to Jefferson, forever.

My wish for you is that each time you think of Jefferson, those fond memories return, and that you retain, as I do, the special feelings for the living institution that provided you the opportunity to develop your skills in service of others. I hope that the core value of altruism remains at the heart of your personal and professional careers. Most importantly, I pray that your dreams come true.

And remember, you are now a part of Jefferson, forever.

Warmly,

Thomas J. Nasca, M.D., FACP

To The Class of 2003:

It's hard to know what to write that won't sound ridiculous now, let alone years in the future. That having been said, it's been incredible putting together the record of our time at Jefferson. We've been here during a time of major change and all the upheaval that accompanies such a shift. If I had to pick one word to describe our collective experience, it would simply be — INSANE. Through the good and the bad, there has been something special about the Class of 2003. Always good for a laugh or a late night beer or help with studying or people to talk to; spending these four years with you enriched my time beyond description. I hope this book captures some of the craziness that we created and brings back whatever memories you hold onto from these years of your life. I will always remember medical school for putting me in contact with such an amazing group of people. Thank You and Good Luck!
