A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Alumna,

Now, that my first year as president is completed, I can look back and realize how rewarding and challenging it has been. I would be less than truthful if I said it has all been a bed of roses; however, with your support and the help and advice of our Board of Directors, the problems have been successfully resolved.

We now look forward to another year with hope and anticipation of better things to come. The film, recently released and titled, "Of Light and Learning" — is all about Jefferson, and is excellent. It is, truly Jefferson, as it was, as it is, and hopefully with our cooperation and help, what it will be.

My personal thanks to each of you for your loyal support. Let us continue to work together for greater achievements in the years ahead.

Sincerely yours,

Margaret Summers, Class of 1941
ANNUAL REPORTS OF
JEFFERSON NURSING PROGRAMS
SCHOOL OF NURSING

Dynamic equilibrium — this is our challenge: to respond to the challenge of change without losing vital functions, traditions or identity.

Our vital function for many years has been to provide a nurse capable of performing as a generalist in beginning positions in hospitals, extended care facilities and health maintenance facilities.

Major curriculum changes have not been made in the past year. While some diploma schools are considering eliminating credit courses our unique position in a medical university allows us to continue to offer college credit to the freshman courses in psychology (3), sociology (3) and microbiology (5).

Students desiring to take additional credit courses may enroll in the College of Allied Health Sciences elective program at their own expense.

Academic excellence is a personal goal of many students; as alumni you help to motivate them toward that goal through the Alumni prize. The 1973 recipient was Virginia Corotto.

One of our most beautiful traditions, the rose arch, was meaningful this year to forty-eight young women who had been challenged by Jefferson alumni, Dr. Peter L. Eichman, to take their positions working for change in health care delivery systems — change that is necessary for the continued growth and up-grading of the profession.

As you know, one of the challenges Jefferson has responded to is that of making allowances for married students. Four of the graduates were married prior to the senior year; of these, one was the mother of a two-year-old son. Forty of the graduates plan to remain at Jefferson. As always, the others will scatter, one going as far as Central Alaska to a mission hospital.

Championship basketball teams are becoming an undergraduate tradition! For the second consecutive year the team won dual titles — the Southeastern Pennsylvania Student Nurses’ Basketball League and the 4th Annual Thomas Jefferson Intercollegiate Tournament. Not taking a back seat to the team, our cheerleaders won the Southeastern Pennsylvania Student Nurses’ Cheerleading Championship. Gold basketball charms and gold megaphone charms were given to the respective team members by the League. The trophy case is literally filled to overflowing, but there’s always room for one more!

Cheryl Steimer, '73 was recipient of the Thomas Jefferson Award for Outstanding Athletic Achievement presented at the annual basketball banquet at the Three Trees Restaurant, April 25, 1973. Both the banquet and the award are traditionally provided by the School of Nursing Department of the Women’s Board.

The School of Nursing Department of the Women’s Board plays a major role in supporting traditional activities of the School such as the tea for freshmen and seniors. Being Alumni, you are aware of their contributions and know that they are so numerous the entire report could be devoted to them. Suffice it to say, we are indebted to them.

Identity crisis and youth seem to be synonymous. There are those of you who might feel that the advent of a new nursing program at Jefferson, a baccalaureate program, has created an identity crisis for our school after eighty-two years. Be assured that no such crisis exists. Each school has its own faculty, philosophy, objectives and, of course, students. The faculties have, on occasion, held joint meetings and enjoy rapport that allows for exchange of ideas for mutual benefit.

In September 1973, the School of Nursing will co-ed with the admission of two male students! Although male applicants have been accepted since 1971, until now none has accepted the appointment.

As Jefferson Medical College was putting finishing touches on sesquicentennial plans the American Hospital Association was celebrating their centennial. As part of the centennial celebration a Centennial Club was formed. This group, composed of one student from each member diploma school selected because of clinical excellence, probably will never meet or organize formally but each will wear with pride a special pin symbolic of their unique honor. Jefferson’s recipient was Bonnie Zaiss, ‘73.

Sesquicentennial activities have involved the school in that students and graduates are seen in the film, “Of Light and Learning,” produced here on campus for the kick-off of the fund-raising campaign.

Looking back, the past year has been a good year, a year of challenge and change; a year of maintaining dynamic equilibrium.

Looking ahead, one sees the challenge of inevitable change coming with the admission of male students; the writing of a voluminous report is necessary for the anticipated NLN accreditation visit next year. Jefferson’s campus will be at the midnight hour during the Edison Building (former home of Philadelphia Electric) at 9th and Sansom becomes the home of the College of Allied Health Sciences; and the continuing preparation of capable nurses like yourselves.

The Official

The School of Practical Nursing continues to recruit a very varied group of students for its twelve month program and to attempt to meet the many challenges graduates will face in the future. In an effort to obtain more experience in direct patient care the school has established its first affiliation with a smaller community based hospital (Jeanes) in Northeast Philadelphia. The Faculty hopes to cultivate this affiliation further in the future and perhaps create others to enhance the program.

In the past year the Nursing Service Department of Thomas Jefferson University Hospital has augmented a new in-service education program designed to upgrade licensed practical nurses employed a minimum of one year to an advanced status with greater remuneration. These licensed practical nurses will be permitted to administer medications on a limited basis and generally take more responsibility for patient care on the evening and night tours of duty when registered nurses are often in short supply. It is hoped that this program will be successful in retaining more licensed practical nurses who enjoy giving responsible bedside nursing care rather than being formally prepared through educational programs to become registered nurses.

Commencement Exercises are held each year during the second week of September in McClellan Hall and a new class registers the following day to begin the program during the third week. With the graduation scheduled for September 12, 1973 the number of graduates of this school will number 277.

DEPARTMENT OF BACCALAUREATE NURSING

Forty-six students were admitted as transfers from other colleges and universities into our upper division baccalaureate nursing program in September, 1972. This is the first class to enter this new nursing program at Jefferson. The students will complete requirements for the Bachelor’s Degree in June, 1974.

In September, 1973 we plan to admit 60 students into the junior class.

The faculty is engaged in planning curriculum and arranging for student clinical experiences in hospitals and community health agencies.

NAMED TO ACADEMY OF NURSING

We are happy to announce that two Jefferson graduates have been elected to the newly established Academy of Nursing.

The Board of Directors of the American Nurses’ Association at its January 1973 meeting elected 36 nationally prominent nurses to be charter fellows of the academy. "The establishment of the Academy of Nursing is an historic step for the nursing profession."

The 36 charter fellows were chosen from more than 100 nominees and symbolize the high degree of commitment of today’s nurses to provide a high quality of care.

Barbara G. Schutt, R.N., M.S., Norwich, Conn., class of 1939; is a contributing editor of the American Journal of Nursing. Before being named contributing editor Barbara was executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania Nurses’ Association and editor of the Pennsylvania Nurse. She also served in Okinawa as 1st Lt. U.S. Army Nurse Corps.

Harriet H. Werley, R.N., Ph.D., class of 1941; is academy recording secretary and director of the Center for Health Research, Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich. Dr. Werley conceived, established and developed the Department of Nursing at the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research. Harriet has provided the leadership for the promotion of research in nursing that was patient-care oriented. Within four years, she, along with staff, developed and initiated a postmaster’s educational program to prepare Army Nurse Corps officers for research positions within the military.

Congratulations to you, Barbara and Harriet on your achievements!

A Sesquicentennial — A CELEBRATION AND A CHALLENGE

A Sesquicentennial in 1974

Aniversarys are a time for reflection. They are a time for looking back to review our progress, and even more a time to look forward and assess the way ahead. As Thomas Jefferson University celebrates in 1974 the 150th anniversary of its founding, Nursing Education at Jefferson celebrates its 83rd annivsery. Nursing education has been a vital part of Jefferson for more than half of its existence.

Jefferson graduates can and should take pride in the fact that their university stands in a unique position among American medical centers. It is unique as a university that is wholly medically oriented, and health-related. It is unique in the University in which the programs range across a broad spectrum of nursing, medical, and allied health professions. It is unique in combining its classroom and laboratory instruction with clinical experience in professional settings and relationships.

An obligation of leadership — preparing for change

No matter how long it has been since you graduated from Jefferson, everyone has seen changes affect the nursing profession. Furthermore, you could forecast other changes that seem necessary and desirable.

Forecasting change accurately and, preparing to meet it, are obligations of leadership. It is in fulfillment of these obligations that Thomas Jefferson University has embarked upon its Sesquicentennial Campaign; a commitment to Century 21.

No matter what affection one feels for Old Main or Thompson — no matter how warmly one recalls the hours spent on duty within their halls and laboratories — neither building can compete with the facilities we expect in a modern medical center. What is more important is that the educational programs in nursing and other disciplines must change as curricula are updated to incorporate new knowledge and understanding into health care.

Almost four years ago, Jefferson addressed itself to the changes we must undertake if we are to meet successfully the medical challenges of the 21st century. A Master Planning Committee, comprising representatives from each school and college within the University, has met regularly since January, 1970. It has examined specific questions intensively, through task forces and sub-committees, and has agreed upon a Master Plan that Jefferson seeks to implement with support provided in its Sesquicentennial Campaign.
Jefferson's Master Plan

Jefferson's Master Plan represents $84,000,000 program. Of that amount, $65,000,000 will be constructed as a Clinical Teaching Facility to be located north of the present campus, between San­non, 11th, Central, and 10th streets. The Clinical Teaching Facility will be financed entirely through bonds.

Between Walnut and Locust streets, east of 10th, new student housing units will be constructed at a cost of $6,000,000. Money for this construction has been authorized and provided through the Pennsylvania Higher Education Facilities Authority.

The remaining $25,000,000 is money required for an Educational Improvement Fund. That fund will assist in reorganizing ambulatory services, establishing community health centers, making improvements in teaching, and supporting fellowships and scholarships. These improvements and innovations represent the most important part of the Master Plan—they are the substance that turns bricks and mortar into a medical university. The Educational Improvement Fund is that part of the Master Plan that requires private support from alumni, alumni, faculty, friends, corporations, and foundations.

The Sesquicentennial Campaign

Trustees of Thomas Jefferson University have volunteered to direct the campaigns of the Sesquicentennial Campaign that are seeking support from outside the Jefferson family. Dr. Peter A. Herbst, as President, is serving as the chairman of the Sesquicentennial Campaign among present members of the Jefferson family, including alumni, faculty, friends, corporations, and foundations. At the time this is written, more than $1,345,000 has been pledged or paid by the Jefferson families who are supporting the Sesquicentennial Campaign, and $2,000,000 has already been pledged or paid to the Campaign from foundations and corporations close to Jefferson.

In the final tally, however, Jefferson's alumnae and alumni will determine how rapidly Thomas Jefferson University reaches its Sesquicentennial Campaign goals. Jefferson graduates are those who chose it for their education, and who know how much that education has contributed to their own health care careers. They are the ones who can provide in this campaign for those to whom an R.N. is only a cherished goal today.

Mrs. O'Connor has impressed it well. We ask that you along with every other graduate of Jefferson, in joining to help to shape the outline of Thomas Jefferson University in the years ahead, do your share. In doing so, you will have a direct impact upon the Nursing Education that Jefferson can offer to those who will follow in your footsteps.

For the comfort of the patient there has been a Host-Hostess Program started during the past year. Young men and women were hired to meet and take new admissions to their assigned rooms. They introduce the patient to the Head Nurse and make it known that the Patient Services Department is located if he has any questions. This group also takes as many patients as possible to the first floor lobby for discharge. Their friendly, courteous response to these persons gives them assurance and comfort. The information for Student and Patient Escorts continues to add warmth and cheerfulness to the patient whose day is spent in a strange place.

As reported last year, the Society of Patient Representatives was launched and advanced rapidly since early January 1973. There are now more than two hundred members from over the entire United States. Canada and Canada are represented.

Area representatives by state have been appointed by the American Hospital Association upon recommendation of the representatives of the Society. They communicate with all those in their area who show interest in an ombudsman program.

The Director of Patient Services was elected to the Board of Directors, to remain until January 1, 1975. The Director is also a member of the Education Committee and assisted in the preparation, organization and presentation of two major workshops one in Chicago, October 1972, and one in Miami Beach, May 1973. "Communication is Representation" was the subject for the Miami Beach two-day affair.

On October 11th and 12th, the third workshop entitled "Enabling the Patient Representative to Develop a Voice in the Committee Held in Denver, Colorado. A Board meeting will take place on October 10th to make plans for an active 1974.

The Patient Representative will meet the challenges within the institution. "Patient Representative Please Step Forward" in Chicago at the Health Congress, August 1973. A Board member will be a participant.

At Jefferson the Patient Representative program has continued to grow, its challenges have become enormous. Initially, the Patient Representative, an independent agency, is any representative of the patient-hospital relationship. "Consumerism" remains a key word in the thinking of the public whose interest is being so well oriented. While it is perhaps more difficult today to create an understanding with the educated thinking public, none the less, the position of Patient Representative carries a heartwarming one with the goal of putting patient care first and keeping the patient aware that "there is truly someone who cares."

The PATIENT SERVICES DEPARTMENT

Patient Services continues to seek to communicate and demonstrate to the patient, and his family, what Jefferson is trying to do. This involves the concern and responsiveness of the institution in meeting the health needs of an individual patient.

The Department does this by seeking out those individuals who have problems or questions about the services provided. Talking to the patient to identify the source of his difficulty in obtaining service and to then determine an appropriate course of action to provide optimum care in all situations. All the actions of the Patient Representative are based on the patient's concerns and his wishes. We are not, in any way, an additional service. We wish to assure that satisfactory service has been rendered. A big job! Yes, but most challenging and rewarding.

Out of the constant strides in growth, one can say that Jefferson has provided a centralized and consistent patient grievance mechanism. It is anticipated that future guidelines to be built into contracts between Blue Cross and Hospitals will include an ombudsman to handle consumer complaints. Jefferson again uses Cures. Ours has been in formal existence since 1968.
NEW DIALYSIS FACILITY AND TRANSPLANTATION PROGRAM

Thomas Jefferson University Hospital has made a major dedication to patients with renal disease by constructing a new dialysis facility and initiating a new transplantation program. The new dialysis unit is primarily intended for home dialysis training and to support the transplantation program. Nurses and technicians will be trained in the unit as well. The head nurse is, Margaret Mary Bryan, R.N. and associate head nurse is, Anita Batorsky, R.N.

It is a 5 bed unit which in combination with the old unit gives us a total of 8 dialysis beds. This is the largest hospital dialysis facility in Philadelphia. It has a Pediatric wing and a room constructed for home peritoneal dialysis training. The new unit was made possible by the generosity of the Women’s Board of the hospital, and is dedicated to the memory of Dr. Theodore Tsaltas. Dr. Tsaltas was a Professor of Pathology at Jefferson and was one of the first chronic dialysis patients in the United States. He excelled in teaching and research and frequently utilized himself as a subject for experimentation with new dialytic techniques. He was an engaging human being, who despite his own medical problems was able to give love and comfort to his friends, patients, and family.

The construction of the new unit coincides with the reactivation of the renal transplantation program at Jefferson. The transplantation team is headed by Dr. James Colberg and includes: Drs. Herbert Cohn, James Bogaev, Stephan Bulova, Ruth Gottlieb, Michael Simenoff, James Burke and Norman Lasker. Eight renal transplants have been performed within the last 8 months, 6 of which have been successful. The 2 patients who rejected their kidneys are back on chronic hemodialysis and are awaiting a repeat transplant.

The transplantation program at Jefferson is fortunate in having the support of an excellent Immunology Laboratory, which is run by the hospital blood bank and the Cardesa Foundation. This has contributed to the excellent results of the transplantation program to date and to our plans for expansion in the future. One of the chief roles of the dialysis unit will be to provide a large number of potential transplant recipients and furnish better matchings for cadaver kidneys. The remarkable rehabilitation of the successful transplant patient has generated much enthusiasm at Jefferson for this procedure.

CHANGES IN THE DEPARTMENT OF RADIATION THERAPY

The facilities of the Department of Radiation Therapy and Nuclear Medicine have been undergoing a dramatic face-lifting, and we are now almost ready to show our “new look” to the world. The waiting rooms and examination rooms on the first floor of the Main Building have already assumed a bright modern air, and our two staff nurses find that they offer our patients greater comfort and privacy.

But it is the new Radiation Treatment Center in the basement of the same building that will make the major new contribution to our patients’ welfare. Installed there will be new, modern and powerful radiation treatment equipment, the most impressive, both in size and in usefulness, being the 45-million-volt, 14-ton betatron, one of only five in the United States. This versatile machine, with its high-energy capabilities, can be used to treat the most deeply seated tumors, yet it can also be used for low-energy radiation in the treatment of problems such as skin cancer.

The new equipment, though much more sophisticated than the old, will require little new training for the technologists operating it. The therapy equipment will be monitored by a central computer which will measure and record the exact radiation dosage required for each patient.

We are proud that our department will now be able to provide the most up-to-date radiation treatment facilities for our patients’ care, in addition to the devoted service of our staff which has always been a key factor in the care we provide.

RESUME OF MINUTES OF ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION MEETINGS
September 12, 1972
21 members were present.

Since we have received several school pins Miss Summers has offered to get the Association a small shadow box so that we can display these pins with the owner’s name and year of graduation.

Representatives to the P.N.A. Convention to be held in Philadelphia in October were nominated.
Presently hospitalized are Violet Orland, Doris Giordano, and Anne Roane.

Thank you notes were received from the

It was moved and seconded that we send the TB and Respiratory Disease Association the same fructu.

Miss Summers and Miss Pierrel met with Dr.
Herbert, Mr. Graham and Mr. McChesney who sug
Alumnae, and the University. Because of the de chusetts that perhaps sending this year’s Bulletin to all graduates would stimulate greater interest in the Association and the University. The decision to do this was decided to refund the reminders, and to refund $3.00 to each of the 118 graduates

The following list of recipients of the Reader’s
Digest for Christmas was compiled:

- Shallow Fund for Operating Room Proficiency Award — To be added to the General Fund with the annual award to be given as long as feasible.
- Building Fund — To be added to the General Fund.
- Canceled checks will be considered the receipt for dues payment except when receipts are specifically requested. This will considerably reduce the Treasurer's paperwork and mailing expenses.
