During the 1982/83 academic year, the proposed new College programs, occupational therapy and physical therapy, took a step closer to reality when their respective Program Planning Consultants, Ruth E. Levine, O.T.R., Ed.D., and Jeffrey Rothman, P.T., Ed.D., were appointed Department Chairmen.

The Chairman of the Department of Baccalaureate Nursing, Mary D. Naylor, R.N., Ph.D., was selected from more than 700 applicants nationwide to receive a three-year W.K. Kellogg Foundation Fellowship grant to pursue a self-designed plan of study focused on leadership skills. Another Jefferson nursing leader, Doris E. Bowman, R.N., M.S. Ed., who had served as Director of the School of Nursing from 1958 to 1982, was appointed College Archivist, the first person to hold that position.

The Alumni Special Achievement Award this year was presented to Jeraldine J. Kohut, R.N., M.A., who earned her diploma in 1964 from the School of Nursing (Fig. 64). Ms. Kohut was an assistant professor of nursing and director of continuing education at the School of Nursing at Tennessee Technological University. Known especially for her work with the elderly, Ms. Kohut was the organizer of the first elderly daycare program established in a private nursing home in Pennsylvania.

Several publications related to the College were completed and distributed during the year. They included the commemorative publication Thomas Jefferson University School of Nursing 1891-1982: A Commitment to Excellence, the seventh edition of the Health Careers Guidance Manual for the Greater Philadelphia Region (Fig. 65); and Something More Like a Cathedral, A Report and Analysis of a Non-traditional Interinstitutional Academic Program in Medical Technology, which was the culmination of a five-year federally funded project and which was distributed to all medical technology programs in the nation.

On June 4, 1983, the College of Allied Health Sciences’ new chapter of the Alpha Eta Society, the national honor society for allied health, had its first initiation ceremony. Chapter organizing members were: Lynn Durst, Nancy Council Maguire, Jasbir Sethi, and Joan Gluch-Scranton, the latter of whom was elected President. Four faculty members and eight baccalaureate members were initiated.

The Commencement Exercises for the Class of 1983, numbering 214 graduates, were held on June 10 and featured honorary degrees awarded to Ruth F. Hovde, former President of the American Society for Medical Technology and allied health leader, and to educator Vartan Gregorian, President and Chief Executive Officer of The New York Public Library (Fig. 66).

Graduate Peter J. Leporati (Fig. 67), a former Philadelphia police officer who decided to change careers to nursing, was the recipient of the Student Life Award. Mr. Leporati was President of the Nursing Student Government and Vice President of Jefferson's chapter of the Student Nurses' Association of Pennsylvania, among his many activities.

Four of the summa cum laude graduates earned perfect 4.0 grade point averages: Grace M. Glowka-Howell, medical technology, who was also inducted into Alpha Eta Honor Society; Rita E. McGinley, nursing; Linda Shegda, nursing; and Jeslyn Farrow, dental hygiene.

Jeslyn C. Farrow (Fig. 68), who also received her department's Achievement Award in Dental Management, became the Office Manager of ProDent, Inc., a management company for corporately owned dental group practices. After serving for a time as Assistant Director, she was promoted to Vice President of Operations and a member of the Board of Directors.

Lynn Finocchi, dental hygiene (Fig. 69), who received her Department’s Esteemed Colleague Award and Education Award, continued her dental hygiene education at Columbia University, where she earned her master’s degree and won the outstanding student award. Ms. Finocchi continued her relationship with Jefferson as an active member of the Alumni Advisory Committee.

Allison Frazier-Hancock, later Allison Cooper, dental hygiene, who was President of Jefferson’s Student Dental Hygiene Association, continued her professional leadership activities. While a practicing dental hygienist, Ms. Cooper served in the late ‘80s as both Vice President and President of the Southern New Jersey Dental Hygienists’ Association and as Vice President of the New Jersey Dental Hygienists’ Association.

Laura A. Beckman, later Laura A. Berkowitz, dental hygiene, earned a law degree from Georgetown University Law Center in 1987. She practiced law with a Philadelphia firm where she specialized in personal injury, litigation, product liability, general negligence and dental malpractice defense.

Patricia Alexandrowicz, later Patricia Litostansky, cytotechnology, established the cytology laboratory in the Bucks County Women’s Diagnostic Center, the first center of its kind in Bucks County, Pennsylvania.

Lynn Bender, later Lynn Rogowicz, medical technology, who earned her Department’s Clinical Chemistry Award, began her career as a medical technologist in clinical microbiology at Jefferson Hospital. She later joined the pharmaceutical industry as a research associate in medical microbiology at Bristol-Myers Squibb.
Company in Princeton, New Jersey, where she performed preclinical antibiotic research.

Tessa Rappaport, later Tessa Freeman, medical technology, continued her education at Jefferson, graduating from the College of Graduate Studies in 1987 with a master’s degree in clinical microbiology and winning the award for best research project presentation. She later became microbiology laboratory supervisor at St. Agnes Medical Center in Philadelphia.

Jiunn-Jong Wu, medical technology (Fig. 70), entered the master of science degree program in clinical microbiology at Jefferson’s College of Graduate Studies and graduated in 1985. He earned his Ph.D. from Temple University in 1989 and then became a research fellow at the Research Institute of Scripps Clinic in La Jolla, California.

Irene Jubinsky, later Irene Cardell, nursing, continued her nursing career at Jefferson Hospital following her graduation. She subsequently wrote the script for a videotape designed for patients awaiting surgery for the hospital’s educational television channel.

I am in favor of war. I am very much in favor of the kind of war that we are conducting here at Warm Springs, the kind of war that, aided and abetted by what we have been doing at Warm Springs now for fourteen or fifteen years, is spreading all over the country—the war against the crippling of men and women and, especially, of children.

Franklin D. Roosevelt [1882–1945] Remarks at Warm Springs Georgia, November 23, 1939
When the 1983/84 academic year began, the College of Allied Health Sciences had approximately 1,000 students in 14 programs in the College’s eight departments, marking the enrollment peak in its history to that time.

Contributing to the enrollment were the College’s first entering classes in occupational therapy and physical therapy (Fig. 71). In addition, the Department of Nursing introduced two new options designed to allow registered nurses to pursue a baccalaureate degree part-time, one based at Jefferson and the other based in Harrisburg.

At the University’s Opening Exercises in September, University President Lewis W. Bluemle, Jr., M.D., presented Dean Lawrence Abrams with a “Citation for Distinguished Service” for his leadership of the College for the past five years (Fig. 72).

During the year, three departments were re-accredited, each for the longest allowable times. The Department of Nursing was re-accredited for eight years, the Department of Medical Technology and the Department of Radiologic Technology for five years.

In the fall, the College co-hosted the 18th Annual Meeting of the American Society of Allied Health Professions. Later in the year, the Department of Nursing initiated its Visiting Professor of Nursing Seminar Series.

Held at the traditional site, the Academy of Music, the 1984 Commencement Exercises on June 8 featured the awarding of two Honorary Doctor of Science degrees. The recipients were allied health educator Dr. Darrel J. Mase, who was a founder and the first President of the American Society of Allied Health Professions, and Philadelphian Lieutenant Colonel Guion S. Bluford, Jr., an astronaut who served as flight engineer on the eighth Challenger Space Shuttle mission.

Among the 268 graduates was Patricia Ann Paul, nursing, who won the College’s Student Life Award (Fig. 73). Her participation and leadership in numerous College activities, including the presidency of the Jefferson chapter of the Student Nurses Association of Pennsylvania, earned her the award. As Patricia Ann Paul-Berkes in 1990, she remained close to Jefferson, holding a Clinical Nurse II position at Jefferson Hospital, where she was chairperson of the nursing department’s Retention Advisory Committee (1988-90). In addition, she served as a member of the College’s Alumni Advisory Committee.

Four of the summa cum laude graduates earned perfect 4.0 grade point averages: Sandra K. Tran, medical technology; Carol Catalina, Mary Kirk and Denise DiDio-Donar, all nursing.

Ms. DiDio-Donar, who also earned several awards and honors upon graduation, earned a second baccalaureate degree in 1986, in school nursing from Glassboro State College (Fig. 74). She subsequently became a Clinical Nurse Specialist/Nursery Nurse Educator at All Children’s Hospital in St. Petersburg, Florida. In 1990, she received her master’s degree in public health, with a concentration in maternal and child health, from San Diego State University, graduating summa cum laude.

Edward Joseph Harvilla, nursing, who was President of the Nursing Student Government in his senior year, attended Rutgers University School of Law, graduating with a tax honors certificate in 1987. Entering private practice, he began to explore the uses of computer technology related to law. In 1988, Mr. Harvilla founded Clinical Financial Legal (CFL) Knowledge Systems, Inc., which established trademarks for specific software inventions of his. He also trademarked a telephone computer service that disseminates up-to-the-minute information on changes in federal tax and Medicare regulations.

Jeffrey R. Gusst, nursing, began his nursing career as a trauma staff nurse at Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia and at Brandywine Hospital as a flight nurse crew chief in a medical evacuation helicopter (Fig. 75). In 1987, he joined Jeanes Hospital in Philadelphia as nurse manager of the Emergency Department. The following year, Mr. Gusst returned to Jefferson as the program coordinator of JeffSTAT, Jefferson Hospital’s air and ground emergency transport team. Besides being a licensed R.N. in both Pennsylvania and New Jersey and holding 12 additional certifications, Mr. Gusst held a position as First Lieutenant Flight Nurse Medical Crew Director with the United States Air Force Reserves.

Linda Khalife Baka, dental hygiene, graduated from Case Western Reserve University’s School of Dentistry in 1989 and by 1990 was practicing at Jefferson Dental Associates and the Temple University School of Dentistry in Philadelphia.

Ann Eshenaur Spolarich, dental hygiene, a summa cum laude graduate who, as a student, wrote the oral health care protocol for head and neck cancer patients at Jefferson Hospital, took a teaching and research position at the Dental School of the University of Maryland (Fig. 76). She earned a Master of Science degree from the University of Maryland in 1988. Later that year she returned to Jefferson as a faculty member and senior clinic coordinator in the Department of Dental Hygiene. She was also a teaching associate at the University of Pennsylvania School of Dental Medicine. The recipient of several research grants, Ms. Spolarich presented over 30 papers nationally and internationally by 1990.

Sharon M. Foulds-Coleman, dental hygiene, joined the Delta Dental Plan in Medford, Massachusetts, in 1985 as lead customer service representative, then became assistant supervisor of customer service in 1986, and underwriter in 1987. She earned her M.B.A. from New Hampshire College in 1990.

The College's "Career Options Program," where alumni return to speak to current students, was in its fifth year in 1984. Speaking on a nursing panel were B.S.N. graduates: (back row) Jane Marko Carabasi '75, Nancy Redfern Freedman '75, Terry Raphael '82, and Linda Gallagher '82; (front row) Linda Bucher '74, Melanie Pirolo '75, Josephine Borsellino '75 and Lynn Jeffries.
The 1984/85 academic year was a landmark year in the evolution of College programs. The College’s newest ones, occupational therapy and physical therapy, received accreditations from their respective professional associations and produced their first graduates. In addition, a program in diagnostic medical sonography (ultrasound) was begun.

During the year, Dean Lawrence Abrams was honored for his contributions to allied health on a national level by being named a Fellow of the American Society of Allied Health Professions. More locally, Dr. Abrams’ responsibilities at Jefferson expanded this year as he was appointed Student Affairs Officer for the University.

The June 7 Commencement Exercises were notable by the addition of the first graduates of the occupational therapy and physical therapy programs. In occupational therapy, 15 students received the bachelor of science degree and another 12 received the post-baccalaureate certificate. In physical therapy, 48 students were awarded the bachelor of science degree. In all, the College graduated 318 students.

At the 1985 Commencement ceremony, four honorary degrees were conferred: nurse educator and researcher Virginia Henderson, Doctor of Letters; physical therapy educator and researcher Eugene Michels, Doctor of Letters; occupational therapy researcher and author Wilma L. West (Fig. 77), Doctor of Science; and Superintendent of Philadelphia public schools, Dr. Constance Clayton, Doctor of Science. Dr. Clayton, who also gave the Commencement Address to the graduates, later became a member of the University’s Board of Trustees (Fig. 78).

Also at the ceremony, Kurt L. Douglass (Fig. 79), cytotechnology, was recognized as the winner of the 1985 Student Life Award. Following graduation, Mr. Douglass began his career as a staff cytotechnologist at Brigham and Women’s Hospital in Boston. By 1990 he had become a scientific programs specialist for the Cytyc Corporation in Marlborough, Massachusetts. He was also a member of the College’s Alumni Advisory Committee.

Seven of the 1985 summa cum laude graduates earned perfect 4.0 grade point averages: Francis Marcinowski, III, radiologic technology; George Alber, medical technology; Patricia Brophy, Linda B. Harper, Lori Rosen, Evelyn Sudick and Ellen Vanauken, nursing.

Barbara Warren, dental hygiene, established her own business management and computer management consulting firm, Delaware County Consulting.

Cheryl L. Smugar (Fig. 80), radiologic technology, continued her education at the University of Pennsylvania where she earned a Master of Science degree. She returned to the College and became Coordinator of the Radiography Program in 1987. Ms. Smugar Weiss became active in her profession, taking leadership positions in the Philadelphia Society of Radiologic Technologists. In 1990, she was president-elect of the organization. In addition to making presentations at local and state professional meetings, she presented a paper at the First World Congress on Allied Health in Denmark. She was among those named as Outstanding Young Women of America in 1987. Ms. Weiss was an active member of the College’s Alumni Advisory Committee.

Lynne M. Brophy, medical technology, began her career at Jefferson Hospital, moved to the Rheumatology Department of the Veteran’s Administration Medical Center in Philadelphia, then to the Molecular Pharmacology Department, Smith Kline & French in King of Prussia, Pennsylvania. By 1990, she was a research scientist at Sterling Drug, Inc. in Great Valley, Pennsylvania, where she was working on arthritis research.

Margaret Seiler, physical therapy, became Director of Physical Therapy at Crozer Chester Medical Center where she developed innovative physical therapy practices in burn cases and presented papers at professional meetings on the subject.

Margaret Dorando, occupational therapy, became a therapist and a consultant at a variety of institutions, mostly in New Jersey, including the St. John of God Early Intervention Program in Westville Grove. In addition, she began her own private practice, Therapedics, where she provided consultation and in-service training to special educators. She was an active member of the occupational therapy community in South Jersey. Ms. Dorando-Unkle maintained close ties to Jefferson, returning to earn her master’s degree in occupational therapy in 1990, the first graduating class for that program, as well as serving on the College’s Alumni Advisory Committee.

David Potena, physical therapy, began his career as a staff physical therapist at St. Mary’s Hospital in Langhorne, Pennsylvania. In 1987, he took a position at Good Samaritan Hospital in Lebanon, Pennsylvania, as Supervisor of Rehabilitation Physical Therapy and in 1990 became its Director of Physical Therapy Services. He presented the results of his clinical research at several national conferences. Mr. Potena was an active member of the Alumni Advisory Committee.

Jeanne Fisher Hannum, nursing, started her own marketing business, The Quality Circle, based in Philadelphia.

Donna A. Petti Enrico, nursing, became Manager of the Pediatric Intensive Care Unit at Humana Children’s Hospital in Las Vegas, Nevada, where she initiated a critical incident stress management program with emergency team members, police and fire personnel in that city.

At the annual "Career Day," employers recruit College of Allied Health Sciences' students prior to graduation.

Among the participants at the College's annual Leadership Development Retreat in February were (left to right): Ann Synnestvedt, Ed McCash and John Tegzes, all nursing seniors.
Graduate education in the College of Allied Health Sciences became a reality in the 1985/86 academic year when a master of science in rehabilitation nursing program, to be offered under the auspices of the College of Graduate Studies, was approved by the University Board of Trustees (Fig. 81). Its first students were admitted in September.

The name of the Department of Radiologic Technology was changed to the Department of Diagnostic Imaging to better reflect the direction of the department as the variety of imaging modalities increased. The newly named department also began an advanced placement program for registered radiographers seeking the baccalaureate degree.

The Department of Cytotechnology received funding from the March of Dimes Foundation to plan a cytogenetics technology program. This was subsequently developed and became a regular part of the curriculum.

In the fall of 1985, a dedication ceremony was held in the Edison Building to acknowledge the gift from the Connelly Foundation that provided the resources for the renovations in the Departments of Occupational Therapy, Physical Therapy and Nursing. Many members of the Connelly family attended the ceremony (Fig. 82).

The 1986 Alumni Special Achievement Award was presented to Barbara Davis Schraeder, Ph.D., R.N., a 1965 nursing graduate (Fig. 83). Dr. Schraeder, an associate professor in the Department of Nursing at the College, was recognized for her contributions to nursing education, research and professional excellence. Her special area of research was very low birth weight infants and children.

At Commencement on June 6, honorary degrees were conferred upon Ernest Boyer, Ph.D., (Fig. 84) and Robert Kinsinger, Ed.D., both nationally known educators. The first group of students from the College’s nursing program in Harrisburg were among the 355 graduates.

At the ceremony, Teresa Halley, dental hygiene, was presented with the 1986 Student Life Award (Fig. 85). She had already earned an Achievement Award in Education from her department and had been inducted into the Sigma...
Phi Alpha Honor Society. A member of the College's Alumni Advisory Committee, Theresa Halley O'Connor returned to Jefferson as a speaker at alumni and Career Services Center programs.

Twelve graduates among those receiving summa cum laude recognition earned perfect 4.0 grade point averages: from cytotechnology, Sharyn Healy, who was also inducted into Alpha Eta Honor Society; from dental hygiene, Helen Horan-Bourret, also Alpha Eta and Sigma Phi Alpha and an Achievement Award in Hospital Dental Hygiene; and Michelle Peifley, also Alpha Eta and an Achievement Award in Education; from diagnostic imaging, Sandra Smith; from medical technology, Helene M. Cohen, also Alpha Eta, and Jaqueline Little, also Alpha Eta; from nursing, Gail Erhart, Felicia Gonzalez, Lisa Plowfield, Melissa Turner, Jill Zalman-Wilkens, and Bethany Hall-Long.

Following her graduation, Bethany Hall-Long (Fig. 86) continued her nursing education at the Medical University of South Carolina, where she earned her M.S.N., summa cum laude, and received the Outstanding Graduate Student Award, both in 1988. She was selected as a professional staff member for one year for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Secretary's Commission on Nursing. She subsequently entered a doctoral program in nursing administration at George Mason University.

Catherine Anne Losse, nursing, inducted into the Sigma Theta Tau Honor Society while at Jefferson, earned her M.S.N. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1989. She has been named to Who's Who in American Nursing, Who's Who among Human Service Professionals, Who's Who of Women Executives and the National Distinguished Service Registry of Nursing. In 1990 she was a clinical nurse III in pediatric cardiology at Deborah Heart and Lung Center in Browns Mills, New Jersey.

Sherri Frace-Meyers, dental hygiene, a summa cum laude graduate who was inducted into the Alpha Eta Honor Society and was the recipient of an Achievement Award in Education, became an instructor in dental hygiene at Northampton Community College. She also began a master’s degree program in dental hygiene at the University of Maryland at Baltimore.

Craig L. Evans, medical technology, became the chief technologist at Evangelical Community Hospital in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, in 1989. Jacqueline Little, medical technology, spent more than three years as a research specialist in pulmonary immunology at the University of Pennsylvania and then became a pharmacologist at ICI Americas in Wilmington, Delaware, testing drugs for asthma research.

Alison Platt Klein, physical therapy, began her career as a staff physical therapist at the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania and at Osteopathic Medical Center of Philadelphia, then became Director of Physical Therapy at Berlin (New Jersey) Physical Therapy and Rehabilitation Center. An active alumnus, she was elected to the Board of Directors for the College of Allied Health Sciences Alumni Association in 1990.
